Editor's Column

STUART R. PADDOCK

This week's column is being written while we are on our way home. Our last stop was Washington, D. C., where Senator Paul Douglas took time out from his busy schedule to be our host.

As we walked through the Capitol building, he was continually being greeted by friends from back home, some of them from the northwest area. At times, visitors of the younger generation pushed us out of their way so they could have the opportunity to shake hands with the Senator.

Our purpose in contacting the Senator was a desire to be one of the small group being given a semi-private tour of the White House at the early hour of 8:30 a.m. Senators are given a quota of such visitors. Fortunately, a cancellation allowed us to be included for April 5.

The newspapers from back home are two weeks old, but they are interesting reading to us as we scan news events of special importance in our area.

We note that Inverness is holding an incorporation election April 28, and that South Barrington and Hoffman Estates are arguing over adjoining area.

We hope Inverness will make the most of the opportunity to safeguard the residential character of that area. The invasion of the farm land to the south by tract developers would be regrettable.

After we read the Primary Election stories, we are hastening our return home so that we can participate in the contest. Frankly, in order to vote intelligently, we are depending upon the newspaper to learn the qualifications of the candidates. Sorry, Democrats, but we will be limited to the Republican ballot this time. It could be different next November.

We sympathize with the efforts of the downtown merchants in Arlington Heights and Palatine to get rid of the parking meters. The shopping centers are increasingly competitive for retail dollars.

It is nothing new for Palatine schools to need additional funds. Apparently, from a story in the March 29 issue, a small group of voters invaded the Palatine Township budget hearing and took the initial step to appropriate a slice of that surplus tax commission jackpot for school purposes.

We differ with the published statement that such action on their part will increase our tax bill. It will, in our estimation, be just transferring the money from one pocket to another.

No longer will women folk have difficulty in finding their particular section of Paddock Publications with its shopping news. It can be easily identified hereafter by the household gadgets that appear on the first page of the Suburban Living section.

We are happy that while the boss was away that problem has been solved. We have worried for some time over the size of the editions and the time that was necessary for the busy housewife to find what is of shopping interest to her. It will now take only seconds for her to find the women's section.

We note that the various school districts are including increases in teacher's salaries for the coming year. The districts are spending a lot of additional money on building facilities and it is to be expected the additional responsibility of school heads and teachers should be recognized by salary increases.

The "twist" has really taken the country by storm. The latest to come to our attention was in the Senators' dining room Tuesday when the waiter mentioned "twist ice cream" as one of the dessert items.

Our congratulations go to Gail Katagiri, Wolf Road, Wheeling, who received the $1,000 award as the 1962 winner of Illinois District 21 Congress of Parents and Teachers "Golden Jubilee" scholarship. She was

School Board Election This Saturday

HAROLD SORTOR

Polls will open at noon Saturday, April 14, so voters can elect two men — out of a field of three — to positions on the board of education of Arlington Heights Elementary School District 25.

Candidates are Victor Myer, 47, incumbent, of 819 S. Bristol Lane; Harold E. Sortor, 37, of 1405 N. Harvard Road; and Norman B. Scheffel, 33, of 717 S. Vail.

Polls will be open from noon until 7 p.m., and residents must vote in the precinct in which they reside.

A PRECINCT map and list of the polling places, as well as brief biographical sketches of the three candidates, will be found on an inside page of this issue of the Herald.

The two vacant seats will be created by expiration of the terms of school board president Roger Burke, who does not seek re-election, and Myer, who does. Myer is completing a two-year term to which he was elected following the resignation of a previous board member before his term was over.

Each of the two men elected Saturday will serve full, three-year terms.

The pre-election "campaign "has raised nothing which could be classified as an issue, with one minor exception.

Both Myer and Sortor were nominated as candidates by the caucus nominating committee. Although this group, composed of representatives of various village organizations, is in no way connected with the village Caucus Party, a political group, there has been an effort to identify Scheffel as an "independent" candidate—in that he was not selected by the caucus nominating committee.

ALL THREE candidates live in Arlington Heights, and all are fathers. Each believes the school board, which last year administered a budget of more than $2.3 million, is one of the most important legal bodies in the village.

The school board by law is charged with complete responsibility for the budget, for curriculum in the system, and for the quality of instruction provided.

The importance of the District 25 board of education, governing Arlington through the junior high school level, is seldom reflected at the polls.

None of the candidates has engaged in anything which could be construed as a full-fledged campaign, with the result that there appears little interest in the election.

Whether this actually is the case will be revealed Saturday.

Spring Cleaning?

Designate 4 Days For Trash Pickup

Four days later this month have been designated as spring rubbish cleanup days in Arlington Heights, and all trash placed at the curbside on the specified days will be hauled away free.

For the spring cleanup, the village has been divided into fourths. The four sections are formed by using the Chicago and North Western Railway and State Road as the dividing lines.

The first pickup day will be Monday, April 16, when rubbish will be picked up in the northwest section. Thursday, April 19, the northeast section will be cleaned up; Monday, April 23, the southwest section; Thursday, April 26, the southeast section.

VILLAGE Manager L. A. Hanson said all rubbish placed at the curb will be picked up free of charge by Laseke Disposal Company.

The pickup crews will take away almost anything, from hot water tanks to refrigerators to davenports. Smaller items should be placed in liftable containers. Brush should be tied in bundles.

The only restrictions are that no dirt, concrete, or building materials will be picked up.

HANSON SAID items for disposal must be placed at curbside as directed on the day designated for the householder's particular area of town.

He added that residents should not become alarmed if the pickup crews do not take the rubbish away the same day it is put out. The crews are scheduled to be in each section of the village two days.

Stavros Gets 2,651 Votes

Thomas Houser of Arlington Heights defeated William Moore for the post of Wheeling Township Republican Committeeman in Tuesday's Primary Election by about a 3-2 margin.

According to unofficial returns, Houser had 4,212 votes to Moore's 2,847.

James Stavros, unopposed for re-election as the township's Democratic Committeeman, collected 2,651 votes.

A total of about 10,500 votes were reported to have been cast in the township, 7,709 Republican and 2,800 Democratic. There were only contests for nomination for candidacies in the November General Election in the Republican camp.

THERE ARE 27,368 registered voters in the township.

In the only other offices decided in the election, it was reported that the seven Republican candidates for the Cook County Superior Court bench were victorious in the township although losers in the total county count.

In other Republican contests, Donald Rumsfeld won in the township as in other areas by a comfortable margin over Marion Burks for 13th District Congressional representative (5,223—1,648), as did Elmer Conti (4,585) over Edmund J. Kucharski (2,158) for Cook County Treasurer.

FOR REPUBLICAN U. S. Senate nominee, incumbent Everett Dirksen collected 3,188 votes to 508 for Harley Jones, and Alex MacArthur was leading David E. Brown and Ralph E. Church Jr. for GOP State Central Committee as of Wednesday morning counts.

"I am overcome with gratitude," Houser stated, "for the wonderful 'Citizens for Houser' who have worked so hard for my election. This is truly a victory for the people who have taken an active interest in the Republican Party.

"Mr. Moore, my opponent, has offered his congratulations and has stated his desire to work for a united Republican Party and victory in the fall against the Democrats.

"PEOPLE GET out of government what they put into it, and the 'Citizens for Houser' have made a great contribution to the revitalization of the Republican Party in Wheeling Township."

Stavros said, "I regard the Democratic vote in Tuesday's primary election as a victory for the candidates and for the party. I am grateful to the voters, citizens, volunteers and precinct captains who supported my candidacy and that of other Democrats. My vote will be double my total in 1958.

"It is remarkable the number of Democrats who came out in this uncontested election.

"The high ratio of Republicans to Democrats in Tuesday's election (despite the absence of a Dem contest) is indicative of the health and vigor of the growing Democratic Party in Wheeling Township; I am optimistic for the fall."

Correction On Salaries Explained

The Herald regrets an error in reporting salaries attributed to relatives of Wheeling Township Tax Collector Marjorie Annen Carter in last week's coverage of the annual town meeting.

Correct salaries include $1,250 to a sister (instead of $4,000), and $600 for a nephew (instead of $400).

THE QUESTION of salary preceded a resolution to give the Board of Auditors power to regulate hours, salaries, and duties of all clerical help employed by elected Township officials.

A letter from former Tax Collector William A. Annen is included on this week's Fence Post page.

'Nuisance' Located at 214 Dwyer

The house at 208 N. Dwyer is not a "nuisance" as described in an ordinance passed at a recent village board meeting and reported in last week's paper.

The house is, in fact, evaluated at a figure well above average.

VILLAGE administrators said the legal description of the "nuisance" property was correct in the ordinance, but the commonly known address was wrong.

The correct address of the building declared a nuisance is 214 N. Dwyer.

JAMES STAVROS, re-elected Tuesday as Democratic committeeman of Wheeling Township, is pictured receiving telephone report from a precinct worker. Unopposed in the Primary Election, Stavros was credited with turning out a formidable Democratic vote.

The action of Marguerite Stitt Church in mailing her annual questionnaire to 80,000 constituents this year, as usual, is to be commended. The fact that she retires this year from Congress made no difference to her in the responsibility she felt she owed to the people of her district. We hope her successor will be as faithful a public servant.

The Illinois High School Association state music contest will bring some 3,600 high school musicians to Arlington Heights this weekend.

Competition begins Friday night in the orchestra division. Saturday's schedule includes band contests, solo and group vocal competition, and instrumental contests.

All auditions are open to the public, free of charge, according to Arlington High Music Department Chairman Frederick Schmoyer.

Final Tryouts Are Saturday

Final tryouts for major leagues of the Arlington Heights Little League will be Saturday, April 14, for all registered boys who have not previously played with a major league team and who will be 10, 11 or 12 years old by July 31.

Further details will be found in the sports section of this week's Herald.

Junior College Is Feasible in Area

The north-northwest suburban junior college survey committee has closed its books, completed its investigations and passed the ball back to high school boards and voters of the nine districts included in the study.

The final report of the group stresses that a junior college district is feasible for the nine-school area or for any combination of two or more districts.

The report recommended a "core" area for immediate development of a junior college district—the "core" to consist of the Arlington-Prospect, Maine, Niles, Glenbrook and Palatine-Schaumburg High School Districts.

POSSIBLE additions to this central area might come with further study by the school districts of Evanston, Highland Park, New Trier and Ridgewood.

The final report of the 90-member lay committee will be distributed to high school boards in each district.

The boards have the responsibility to get the survey findings to the public and coordinate efforts to initiate a referendum to form a district if public opinion supports this move.

THE SURVEY notes that even immediate action probably would not open a public community junior college before 1966.

"FROGS AND POLLIWOGS" is the book 8-year-old Richard Kindler of Arlington Heights was looking through at the village library the other day. Like many other youngsters and adults across the land this week, Richard was finding new worlds of knowledge and enjoyment through books during National Library Week, April 8-14. The Arlington Heights library has shelves of all types of periodicals and books, and trained librarians to help you find exactly what you want. It's open weekdays from 10 to 12 a. m. and 1 to 9 p .m.; on Saturdays from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.; and closed Sundays.

Teen Train Trek Is Prom Night Feature

A 10-car trainload of spirited Arlington High School couples will take a middle-of-the night trip to Nippersink Lodge on Lakes Tombeau and Benedict in Wisconsin late next month when parents again stage an "After the Prom Celebration" for juniors and seniors.

The parents already have completed many of the details of the trip, which will begin about 1:30 a.m. Wednesday, May 30, after students return from the junior-senior prom at Medody Mill in Roverside.

THE TRAIN will consist of coaches, two cars for dancing, snack cars and a parlor car. There will be dancing to combos, entertainment and, according to the planners, much fun and frivolity.

The decorated train — the "Arlington Special" — will be waiting for the students at Arlington Park race track. For students who live too far from Arlington to go home and change out of their prom clothes, the First Presbyterian Church will again be available.

Only couples, no singles, will be allowed to make the trip, and the price will be $25 a couple.

AT GENOA City, Wis., busses will be waiting to take the students to the lodge, about 2½ miles away. First item on the agenda will be breakfast, then a multitude of activities will be available, including swimming, boating, shuffleboard, tennis, pingpong, movies, bicycling, and dancing.

A buffet - style fried chicken dinner will be served about 11:30 a.m., and the students will board the busses on the start of the return trip about 1:30 p.m. The train is expected to arrive back at Arlington Park race track between 3:30 and 4 p.m.

COMMITTEE chairman and officers of the planning group are:

Harold Smalley and F. K. Hauff, co-chairmen; A. Wilcox, entertainment; N. P. Crocket, secretary; Mrs. Walter Brown, assistant secretary; Harold Carlson, transportation.

Fred Kunz, parking; Mrs. Robert Tindall and George Lurtz, publicity; George Hoban, legal; John O'Berry, refreshments; William Ball, treasurer; Harry Incelberger, decorations; Bill Carlson, chaperones; William Cook, unloading.

Deadline for buying tickets is Saturday, May 12. Ticket forms and fees should be deposited at the Bank of Arlington Heights in Arlington Market.

Ambulance Service

The type lice ran rampant last week, leaving a trickle of typographical errors in their wake.

The editors regret an error in an article on funerals and funeral costs in last week's editions. It was incorrectly stated that Lauterburg & Oehler Funeral Home has discontinued its ambulance service; this is not the case. Their ambulances are equipped and devoted to serving the community.

A letter correcting this error is published in this week's Fence Post column. (AF

Pan American Day Is Proclaimed Saturday

This Saturday, April 14, is Pan American Day in Arlington Heights by official proclamation of Village President John G. Woods.

Saturday will be the 72nd anniversary of the establishment of the inter-American system now known as the Organization of American States, Woods noted.

ADDED significance is attached to the proclamation in view of the Arlington Heights Inter - American Friendship Program, which has resulted in the village forming an alliance of friendship and aid with the Lima, Peru, a suburb of Comas.

Woods said the people and the government of the United States are allied with their good neighbors, the other free republics of this hemisphere, in their resolution to remain free and their obligation to defend the foundations of freedom.

He added that throughout these 72 years, the United States has supported staunchly those ideals of cooperation for the common good and solidarity, and for the common safeguard, both basic to our inter-American system.

"THEREFORE," he said, "I do not hereby proclaim Saturday, April 14, 1962, as Pan American Day."

"I also urge all citizens and interested organizations to participate in commemorating Pan American Day . . .in view of the importance of inter-American friendship and in testimony to the circumstances of culture, geography, and history which have allied our destinies as defenders of liberty within law."

Shumans to 'Adopt' Girl, 6, from Italy

A 6-year-old Italian girl, Maria Gabriella Petriccione, has been financially "adopted" by Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas R. Shuman, 1001 W. Clarendon Road, Arlington Heights, through the Foster Parents' Plan, Inc.

The Shumans have promised to contribute $15 a month towards the child's support for at lest one year.

The plan is an independent, non - profit, government-approved relief organization which provides children who are orphaned, distressed, or otherwise made destitute, with care, education and moral support.

"ADOPTION" THROUGH the plan is financial, not legal.

Of the $15 a month a foster parent gives, the child receives $8 as an outright cash grant. The remainder is used for periodic food and new clothing packages, translations of letters, medical services and education.

In a biography of Maria sent

to the Shumans, the little girl was descrjbed as living in the heart of Naples with her mother, 4-year-old brother, and 2-year-old sister. Her father died at the age of 36 two years ago following an ear operation.

MISS GLORIA C. Matthews, executive director of Foster Parents' Plan, said she was grateful to the Shumans for giving Maria the wonderful gift of hope and help.

"We prayerfully hope that many others who read this will also extend a helping hand to a distressed child," she said.

Further information can be obtained by writing the plan at 352 Park Avenue South, New York 10, New York. (A

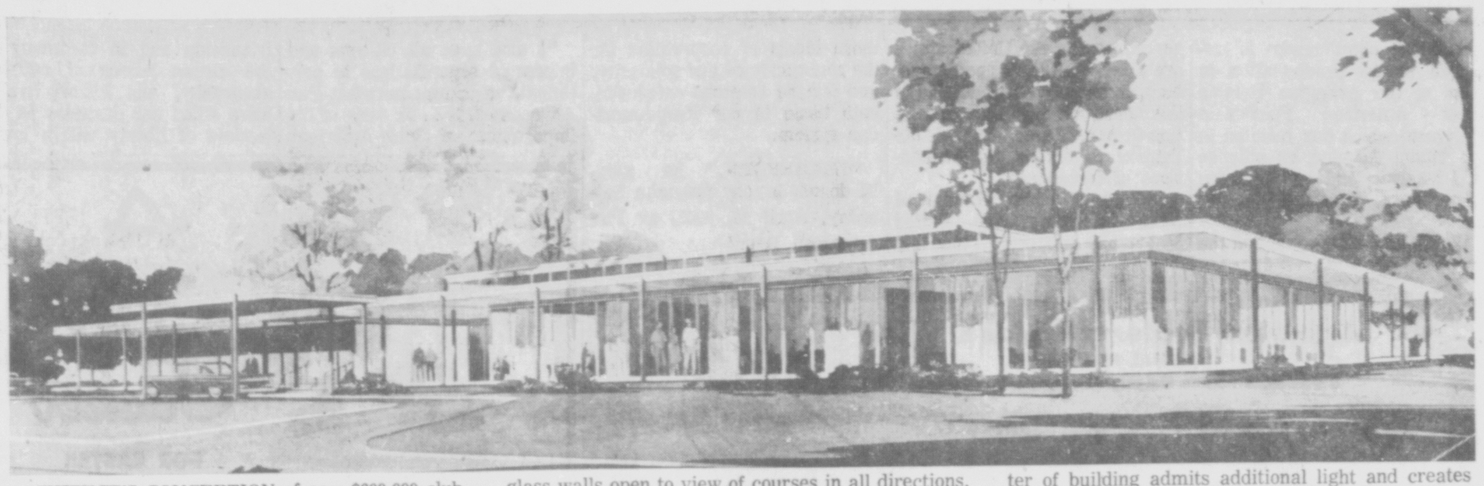
Start Construction of New Clubhouse



ARCHITECT'S CONCEPTION of new $600,000 clubhouse being built for Old Orchard Country Club in Prospect Heights on Rand Rd. New structure, designed by Architects Alper & Alper, will have huge glass walls open to view of courses in all directions. Exterior walls set back 10 feet from edge of roof to form arcade around entire building, shielding interior from hot mid-day sun. Clerestory in center of building admits additional light and creates higher ceiling area within structure. The building is to replace the clubhouse destroyed by fire last year.

Construction is under way on a new $600,000 air-conditioned clubhouse for Old Orchard Country Club in Prospect Heights to replace the 40-year landmark destroyed by fire early last year, it was announced today by Lou Sabo, golf pro and manager.

The new 80 by 300 foot structure, designed in contemporary style by Alper & Alper, Chicago architects, will give the club one of the most modern clubhouses in the mid-west, it is stated.

Opening of the new steel-frame fireproof building, probably next month, will coincide with the 35th anniversary of Old Orchard at Rand and Euclid Roads.

OTHER PHASES of the construction program include a 300-car parking area, luxurious Herman Miller contemporary furnishings, and extensive landscaping around the new clubhouse in addition to the 6,000 trees now on the 200-acre property.

Features of the new clubhouse include a banquet area capable of serving 400 persons (may be subdivided into three sections), a formal restaurant, coffee shop, cocktail lounge, meeting rooms, three lounges, large pro shop with facilities for cleaning and storing golf clubs, and an indoor golf range for winter located on a lower level served by a drive-in ramp. A continuous conveyor belt will carry food from a lower-level preparation room to the big centrally-located kitchen on the main level.

LOCKER ROOMS will provide: for men — 162 double lockers, 8 showers, a card room and shoe shine shop; for women — 150 single lockers, 4 showers, a powder room and a card room.

Adding to the distinctiveness of interior decor will be a log-burning fireplace in the entryway.

The new clubhouse is adjacent to the first tee, 9th and 18th greens of the main course and directly across a private road from the first tee and 9th green of the 9-hole course.

In Con Game

Sales Clerk Outshuffled

A tall Negro with a line of fast patter and quick hands outshuffled an Arlington Heights sales clerk this week and got away with $10 through one of the oldest confidence games known to man.

The man walked into the Toy and Hobby Shop, 27 W. Campbell and bought a 49-cent coloring book from the female sales clerk, paying for it with a $20 bill.

WITH THE change in his hand, he "decided" to make another purchase, police said, then "discovered" another $1 bill in his pocket.

To save the clerk from losing all that change from the $20, he said he'd give the change back and pay for the items from the $1.

When this transaction was completed, the man left but the sales clerk had a feeling something was wrong and checked the cash register. It was $10 short.

Police explained that usually in a confidence game of this sort, the quick change artist "palms" the $10 which was given in change for the $20. Thus when he gives the bills back to the clerk in exchange for his original $20, there is a $10 shortage.

WHILE THIS may sound like an easy dodge to spot, police said, it is usually accompanied by comments and directions, all very confusing, and done in a hurry.

The fast shuffle took place late last Thursday afternoon. A similar operation took place earlier in the afternoon in Palatine, and police say the same person probably was involved in both. In Palatine, the clerk reported the man drove away in a red truck with the name Anderson on the side. (A

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — Voters in school district 25, which governs Arlington Heights elementary and junior high schools, will go to the polls Saturday to select two candidates from a field of three for seats on the school board. Candidates are Victor Myer, an incumbent; Harold Sortor; and Norman Scheffel. The expiring terms are those of Myer, and Roger Burke, present school board president, who is not seeking re-election.

ROLLING MEADOWS — Last minute efforts were being made Wednesday to find alternate dumping sites for independent scavengers, in anticipation of a court ruling closing the Lutter Pit near Glenview. Victor Trucking Company, scavenger contractor serving both Rolling Meadows and Hoffman Estates, finds scavenger association dump sites closed to him, an independent.

MOUNT PROSPECT — Residents will go to the polls for the second time in one week Saturday — this time to elect members to serve on school boards for Mount Prospect Elementary District 57, Arlington-Prospect High School District 214 and Feehanville School District 26.

Ground breaking ceremonies for the new park and swimming pool to be built on the northwest side of Mount Prospect will be held Saturday at 10 a.m.

PALATINE — Township residents here and in Rolling Meadows turned out Tuesday in record numbers to support regular party candidates. Democrat vote increased almost 100 per cent and Republican strength more than doubled in the two contested races. Much of the turnout, which was more than 50 per cent of the registered voters, was a result of two hotly contested campaigns for GOP and Democratic committeeman. Oliver Dilks was re-elected Democratic Committeeman and Alex MacArthur, Republican.

SCHAUMBURG TOWNSHIP — Incumbent Democratic committeeman Thomas J. Beaulieu trounced his major opponent, John P. Kelley, in the Democratic primaries by a 2-to-1 vote margin. The vote was 572 to 290. Observers had expected the race to be closer. Kelley was a write-in candidate after his petition of candidacy was voided when a Beaulieu supporter successfully challenged it. (B3

In School Vote

Here's Explanation Of 'Restrictions'

With a mass of seven candidates facing them for election to only three school board seats, and a "mess" of confusing restrictions which promise to spoil a large per cent of the ballots cast, voters of Arlington-Prospect High School District 214 will go to the polls Saturday, April 14, for the annual school board election.

Polls will be open in 25 polling places, which coincide with those of the elementary schools. Time for the polls to be opened is set by state law from noon to 7 p.m.

In an area where for many years voters had very little, if any, choice in the actual selection of school board members, recent years have seen a growing interest in schools — and a growing number of candidates seeking election to the board.

SATURDAY, voters will select three board members — two for full three-year terms and one to serve for two years. The shorter term is listed on the ballot to select a member to complete the unexpired term of Daryl B. Oldaker, former school board president, who resigned early in March.

They will have ample opportunity for selection.

Four persons are seeking the two regular three-year terms. They are (as shown on the ballot) Lois B. Rezner, Eugene W. Sackett, E. Charles Lockwood Jr. and John A. Haas.

The single two-year term is being sought by George H. Paris, Edward L. (Bud) Mills and Walter P. Strobel.

State laws devised to protect voters may also cause confusion and school officials reluctantly agree there will be many spoiled ballots.

Laws very carefully set up stringent requirements for listing candidates on the ballot in an effort to give no candidate any special advantage, other than the almost unavoidable advantage of being the first candidate listed.

Another state law, equally just, requires that high school districts have at least one board member living in the unincorporated area if more than 15 per cent of the taxable property in the school district is located outside the official boundaries of cities or villages.

IF MORE than 30 per cent of the taxable property lies outside the municipalities, then there must be two board members from the unincorporated area.

In the Arlington-Prospect High School District this means there must be at least one board member from outside the cities or villages.

The problem, and confusion, arises when this cannot be clearly marked on the ballot because to be listed separately might give an advantage to a candidate from such an area.

This is the case with the high school election Saturday.

ONE OF THE three members to be elected must come from the unincorporated areas. Of the seven candidates, only one — John A. Haas of Prospect Heights, present school board president — fits this category. Legally it cannot be assumed, however, that Haas will be elected, since another candidate from the unincorporated area might gain more votes than Haas if a concerted "write-in" campaign were conducted.

Haas, therefore, must be listed with the other three candidates seeking the two three-year posts. Addresses are listed for the candidates, and a notation indicating whether they live inside the villages or in the unincorporated area is shown.

Instructions at the top of the ballot note that not more than two of the three members may be elected from the incorporated areas (cities or villages).

BUT — THE tendency of voters when shown sample ballots has been to vote for two candidates from the incorporated area for the three-year term, vote again for Haas and vote for either one (or none) of the two-year candidates.

This would be a total of three votes for candidates for the three-year term — and would result in a spoiled ballot since election officials could not tell which two of the three candidates the voter intended to select.

Since Haas comes from the Prospect Heights area — the largest unincorporated community in the district — it is probable no other "write in" campaign would be successful in dislodging him from his present board post.

But because of the confusion in matching election and school laws many voters will lose their ballots.

Polling places for the high school election are (by elementary school districts):

Wheeling-Buffalo Grove — Walt Whitman School, Mark Twain School and Louisa May Alcott School;

Prospect Heights — North School;

Mount Prospect — Central School and Lincoln School;

Arlington Heights — Ridge School, Wilson School, North School, Windsor School, Kensington School, Dryden School, Park School and Westgate School;

Rolling Meadows — Kimball Hill School and Jonas Salk School;

Elk Grove — Higgins School, Rupley School, High Ridge Knolls School, Ridge School, Herzog School, Model Home at 50 W. Roxbury Lane, Des Plaines, and Forest View School;

Feehanville — 224 E. Highland St. in Mount Prospect and Feehanville School.

Measle-rashes and Suntans Color Social Picture

Party-postponing rashes and Florida-acquired suntans are currently coloring lots of local complexions; colloring the local social picture are palefaces with birthdays and other occasions needing the party treatment.

Linda Hall was 10 years old Saturday and 12 young guests wished her a happy birthday at a festive luncheon party in the Hall home, 226 N. Derbyshire. After the game-and-fun session ended a few hours later, there was a short lull before an evening party began. Dinner guests in the Hall home were two small neighborhood friends, Scott and Susan Forster with their parents, who added their congratulations to Linda's considerable collection.

J. J. Connery was 7 years old Thursday, his sister, Kathy, was 8 Friday, and they were both going to celebrate Saturday at a double-header party in their home, 303 S. Gibbons. Within hours of party time J. J. got the measles, followed immediately by a dirty look from his sister and mom got the job of uninviting J. J.'s seven buddies and Kathy's eight girl friends. Another party is tentatively rescheduled for a post - incubation period date, when five other Connery children will be under close scrutiny.

WILLIAM Kehe celebrated his 92nd birthday last Thursday with family members and many friends, young and old, who dropped in at his home, 300 W. Fremont. The mail brought additional scores of greetings to Mr. Kehe who has lived all his life in the Arlington Heights area.

The Easter rabbit theme of Sally Grabow's birthday party dictated games, decorations and refreshments Saturday afternoon in the Grabow home, 1201 N. Mitchell. An easter egg hunt revealing lots of plastic eggs with pennies in them and tape the cotton tail on the bunny kept Sally's eight guests busy for a long time. As games ended with still a little party time left, Sally's big sister played a twist record and the temporary lull ended. Five-year-olds are the best twisters there are.

In the evening a family dinner party with uncles, aunts and cousins climaxed the 2-part celebration of Sally's April 10 birthday.

The course is one of the finest in the country and the weather, judged by the local vacationers in its relation to the sport, was ideal for golfing. Their sun-tanned faces and still warm golf clubs are proof that they took every advantage of both course and weather.

ARE MEDICINES EXPENSIVE?

There has been so much talk by publicity seekers and people who wish to exploit the sick. Here are the statistical facts.

THE AVERAGE COST PER PERSON PER YEAR FOR DRUGS AND MEDICINES IS ABOUT $18.75

When you consider that the average person spends each year $36.00 for tobacco, $53.00 for alcoholic beverages, and $24.00 for personal care in beauty or barber shops, surely good health is worth its medication cost.

AVERAGE PRESCRIPTION ABOUT $3.25

Only about 15% of all prescriptions cost $5 or more, while more than half sell for about $2.00.

SO — WHY ALL THE EXCITEMENT?

How much could a discounter save you without cutting down the supervisory service that insures accuracy and potency. And, — if he sold you your first few prescriptions at cost or less, you know he would charge more on later ones for everyone must make a profit.

YOUR HEALTH IS MOST IMPORTANT.

We pharmacists will continue to dispense the best of potent, pure drugs and to devote all the necessary time needed to insure accurate compounding. Each prescription will be fairly priced.

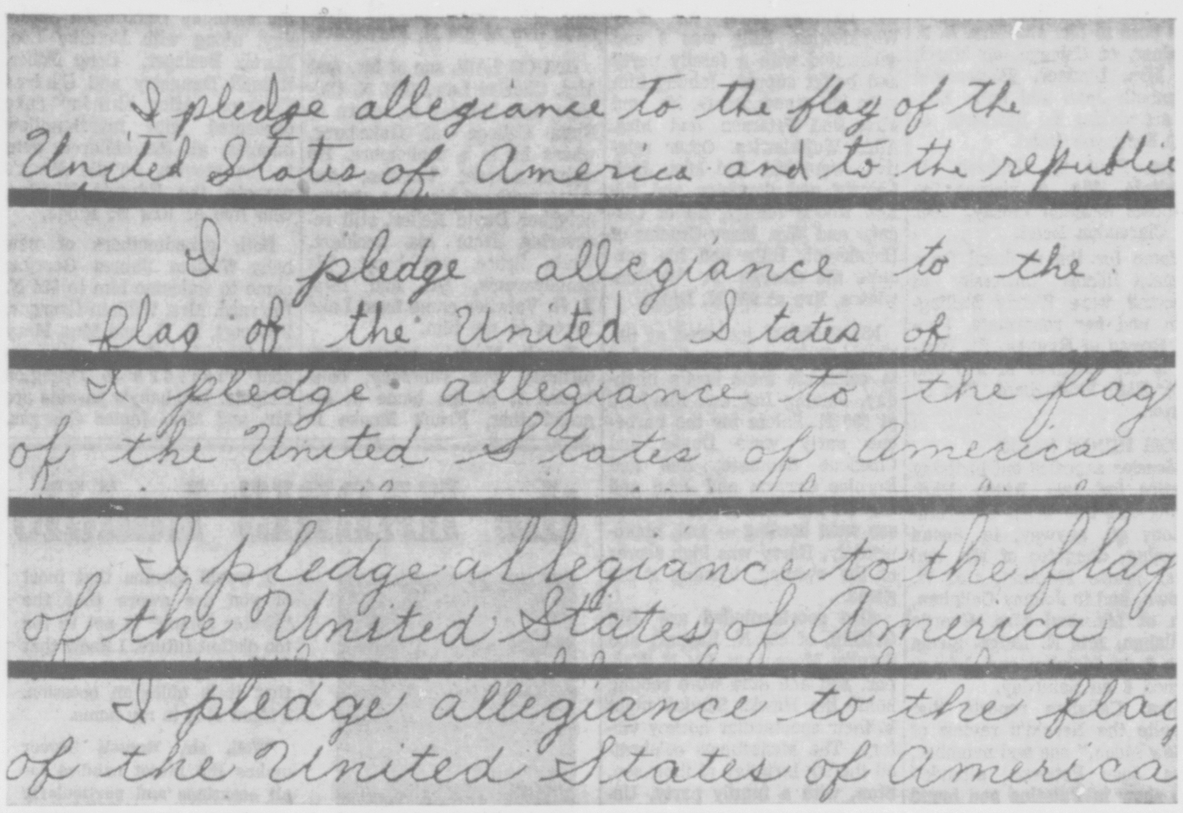
Learning the Three R's

Explain Process of Teaching Writing



A SIXTH GRADE evaluation scale is provided by Frank N. Freeman, and the Zaner-Bloser staff for the system currently used in the Palatine-Rolling Meadows District 15 grade school system. Shown here are samples that are graded as follows: from top, poor, 65 or lower; fair, 70; medium, 75; good, 80; high, 85.

District 15's New Approach

by JOHN REDDY

The students, excited with their return to school, settled in the seats of their first grade classroom. Around the room, taped to the walls, was a paper train. Each coach had the name of a student printed on it.

"And this is how we write our names," explained the teacher.

"But that's not my name. That's not the way mother does it," replied one youngster, whose mother used all capital letters instead of the capitals with lower case letters.

So began one facet of teaching the three "Rs" in Palatine-Rolling Meadows District 15.

The incident was illustrated recently by Mrs. Marcene Larkin, a first grade teacher at the Oak Street School, who with other members of the faculty explained the district's handwriting program to board of education members, representatives of the PTA and interested citizens.

While the school district has always stressed its writing program, explained Supt. E. S. Castor, "we did not have a completely structured program until this year."

WHAT CASTOR was describing is a writing program that has been incorporated into the curriculum this year—Zaner-Bloser system, which emphasizes the correlation of meaningful educational material with necessary writing drills.

Previous emphasis used to be primarily on drill. With the Zaner-Bloser system, which the faculty participated in selecting and which still is being evaluated, drill is still used but is tied into related areas of the teacher program.

The program relates activities to those in which a child is interested and is more concerned with generating self-evaluation of the student's own skill, explained Marion Omiatek, curriculum director.

EMPHASIS is placed on legibility, he stated, explaining that the purpose of writing is to communicate thoughts. The program provides for consideration of individual differences, adapting to ability and rate of learning.

Mrs. Harriet Foster, principal of the Jonas Salk School, noted that writing is the foundation of elementary school education. She pointed out that coordination and awareness of the child for the importance of handwriting are essential factors influencing the learning process.

Preparing students for writing begins in kindergarten, where painting, the use of scissors, clay and the throwing of a ball all help condition muscle control and coordinate body movements that are essential in writing.

EXPERIMENTS are made in pencils and chalk, with stories and oral communication setting the ground work to assist a student in following instructions.

In grades one and two, Manuscript writing is taught. This is a form of printing that utilizes straight lines and circles, but which does not require sustained, coordinated movement.

Manuscript looks more like the print in books and assists in familiarizing the child with letters and words to be used in reading exercises. It also leads easily into cursive writing.

Left - handedness requires special attention in the early grades, with the position of paper and the degree of hardness of pencil often playing a subtle but important part in encouraging the student to overcome special hardships.

Consideration is given immediately to letter formation and spacing, which incorporates elements of punctuation.

In second grade, writing is used primarily as a tool for learning, with attention given to refining what the student has learned in first grade. Emphasis also is applied to speed.

MRS. MARY Bremer noted third grade students were quick to try and master the cursive writing technique that is introduced at this level. Students consider the ability to write as a sign of maturity and recognize it as an advantage.

Too often, observed Mrs. Genevieve Hoglund, department chairman, adults place too much emphasis on cursive writing. They should recognize the value of manuscript writing.

Cursive writing is introduced through spelling lists—by writing the word in cursive letters next to the word in manuscript. The use of lines is introduced and it becomes evident at this level that "writing is as much a part of the individual as his face."

SAID MRS. Bremer, "If they want to write like mother and dad, then that's fine but they must first learn this way."

In fourth grade, teachers watch for readiness of the student to work with the pen, explained Mrs. Hoglund, who observed that boys often are more interested in taking pens apart than learning to use them.

From this level on, emphasis is placed on shape, size, slant and speed, with the secret to good handwriting training being "the devotion of some time each day to the program."

WITH THE Zaner - Bloser system, students are provided with work books and special pens, which they purchase themselves. The work books, explained Omiatek, provide continuity to the program. Consensus of the faculty is that the program "is having terrific results."

Observers at the meeting were given an opportunity to compare their handwriting with that of some of the students. Commented one participant, "my handwriting has never been the same since taking notes in college." (B8

Little League Pancake Day Is April 28

While devouring pancakes and sausages, persons attending Little League Pancake Day in Arlington Heights on Saturday, April 28, will have an opportunity to meet the celebrated Aunt Jemima in person.

Aunt Jemima will be in attendance throughout the day at the cafeteria of Arlington High School, where the pancake day will be held. Hours: 7:30 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Tickets for the all-day event are being sold by Little Leaguers to help finance this year's Little League program, for which some 1,400 boys have enrolled. Spokesmen describe the 1962 program as one of the most ambitious yet attempted.

Besides Aunt Jemima, the Arlington area Talented Teen club will present a variety of acts.

QUAKER OATS Company is providing all of the Aunt Jemima pancake mix free. During the past five years, Aunt Jemima has spent most of her time working with service clubs and civic organizations on community pancake day festivals to raise money for local charities.

Company officials say that during this time, she has helped various organizations raise well over $2 million, with most of the money earmarked for aid to children.

This will be the fourth annual pancake day to be held in Arlington Heights. General chairman for the event is Richard Glantz. (A

Q. Is it proper to decorate a dinner table with candles, even if they are not to be lighted?

A. Yes; candles are always correct on the dinner table.

Q. Upon being introduced to Miss Sanders for the second time, is it all right to say, "I already know Miss Sanders"?

A. This sounds just a little abrupt, as though it were too much trouble to make a second acknowledgment. I should think it would sound better to say, "I have already had the pleasure of meeting Miss Sanders."

Supports Board

Myer Ending 'Short Term'

One of the three candidates for election to the District 25 school board Saturday believes the present board has conducted itself in an exemplary manner — as well he should since he is a member.

Victor Myer, a youthful 47-year-old lawyer who lives at 819 S. Bristol Lane with his wife, three children, and a 10-week-old puppy with big feet, is completing a "short term" on the board as a result of his election following the resignation of a previous member before his term had expired.

Myer, one of three candidates in the election Saturday to fill positions on the board, looks upon the board as essentially an administrative body, but an office of great public trust.

MYER

THERE'S no salary, no no glory, no political capital to be gained from election to the school board," he said. "Yet a board member has a great responsibility to the community he serves."

Myer thinks the present board is reasonably progressive, and he is not greatly concerned about the quality of education it has been providing Arlington Heights elementary and junior high school children.

"Basically, I think our system is perfectly all right, and not open to the criticism to which the system of the country as a whole has been subjected —whether justly or unjustly," he said. "Perhaps our students might be pushed a little harder, but other than that I think we're in good shape."

HE WAS quick to add that the board should continually strive to improve teacher caliber and the curriculum, but just as quick to add that the board is doing this.

As an example, Myer pointed to the introduction of foreign language instruction at the junior high level, with the intention of lowering the first year of such instruction a grade at a time until finally it would be taught to elementary students.

"This is a step in the right direction," he said, "and there have been others."

MYER, who is a partner in the law firm of Olson, Mecklenburger, van Holst, Pendleton & Newman, believes the school board should allow the superintendent wide leeway in running the system.

"Otherwise the board becomes a 'super- superintendent' and this is not good," he said. "The board should make the policy decisions, and leave it up to the superintendent to carry them out."

Myer explained that any major innovation in the curriculum, such as introduction of foreign language instruction, is always brought before the board before it is initiated, even though the superintendent may have taken preliminary steps.

"MOST things of this nature originate with superintendent (Ralph) Clabaugh," Myer said, "although they could originate with us. If parents call a board member and compalin about something, then it would be brought before the board at its next meeting.

"And believe me, if something is wrong at school the parents will bring it to the attention of a board member before it has gone very far."

Myer was nominated for re-election to the school board by the caucus nominating committee. He scoffs at any suggestion that the committee exerts, or tries to exert, control over its candidates.

"THE committee just doesn't function that way," he said, pointing out that there is no connection at all between the nominating committee and the village Caucus Party, a political group with which Myer has been associated.

Myer's other activities here have included work on fund drives for the Northwest Community Hospital and the YMCA and on various civic committees. He is a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

Before going into law, Myer was an engineer for General Electric. He holds a B. S. from the University of California, and a doctorate in law from George Washington University.

Caucus Nominee

Harold Sortor Not 'Running'

Harold Sortor is taller than many men, wears dark-rimmed glasses, and might be taken for a lawyer or perhaps an athletic CPA.

He is, in fact, both of these things, and he believes this business background will serve him well if he is elected to the School District 25 Board of Education Saturday.

The 37-year-old Sortor was nominated as a candidate by the caucus nominating committee, of which he was chairman two years ago. He makes a point of noting that he's not "running" for the post.

"I BELIEVE there is nothing more important in a town than a good school system," Sortor said. "It's important to the children and it's important from a tax standpoint since most of our tax money goes for our schools. But I'm not 'running' for the post."

SORTOR

Sortor explained he had been asked if he would serve by one of the members of the caucus nominating committee, and said he would. So although he would serve willingly if elected, he subscribes to the theory behind the caucus — that the office should seek the man, instead of the man seeking the office.

Sortor, his wife and 2-year-old daughter, Georgia Lynn, live at 1405 N. Harvard Road, in a house with a big yard. "We live in the suburbs because of our daughter," Sortor said. "We want our child to get a good education. If we didn't, we'd live in Chicago."

SORTOR believes his child will get a good education in Arlington Heights, and has no criticism of past performances of the school boards. "Whatever problems we have are involved with the growth of the area," he said.

He views the school board as comparable to a board of directors of a corporation. "And what do you look for when you look for a director? Someone with good judgment and with business experience."

Sortor's own experience includes five years as an accountant with Ernst & Ernst, and four years with a law firm during which time he was a lecturer on the Federal tax structure at Northwestern University. He presently is tax and financial analysis manager for Amphenal-Borg Electronics Corp.

THIS background, he believes, will enable him to help administer the school system on a sound basis, getting the most out of each tax dollar spent on education.

"It's tough to decide how to use that money to get the most out of it," he said. "But that's where the school board comes in, and that's why the people on it should include experienced businessmen who will exercise good business judgment."

Sortor looks upon the board as the policy-making body, with day-to-day decisions and administration of the policies left to the superintendent. He believes the board should hire a capable school administrator, and give him a great deal of freedom. This is the theory he will operate under if elected.

"ALTHOUGH I'M not 'running' for the post, I've been put up for the job, and I'd like to serve," he said.

Sortor was educated at the University of Illinois, where he earned his B.S. and law degrees. He is a member of the Methodist Church, a director of Arlington Heights Progress, Inc., and a past president of the Sherwood Homeowners' Association. (A

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM SHERWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. William Reicherts are accepting congratulations on the birth of a granddaughter. Louise Marie Lindner, named for Mrs. Reicherts, was born to Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Lindner, of Chicago, on March 30. Mrs. Lindner, 2½-year-old Elizabeth Jean and baby Louise are visiting the Reicherts at 1019 Burgoyne Road.

Mrs. Paul G. Johnson, of Frederic, Wis., is visiting the Nicholas Shuman family, 1001 W. Clarendon Road.

Home for the weekend from Western Illinois University at Macomb were Wendy Fellingham and her roommate, Bonnie Brown of Havana, Ill. Wendy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fellingham, 1145 N. Patton.

FROM RIDGE PARK

Measles canceled out birthday parties for two Ridge Park youngsters this week. Congratulations go, anyway, to Susan Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Fleming, 1703 W. Brown, and to Johnny Callahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Callahan, 1014 N. Ridge. Susan was 5 on Monday and Johnny turned 6 on Saturday.

Mrs. Callahan reports that despite the Herald's review of "New Moon," she and neighbor, Mrs. Joan Peterson, attended the show in Palatine and found it "most enjoyable."

Five friends helped Gary Holub celebrate his fifth birthday Tuesday. Invited guests, Joe Hedger, Donny Barnak, Kerry Mohr, Glen Seaman and Peter Grote, joined Gary for the traditional birthday party at 920 N. Fernandez. Gary's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holub.

Many Ridge Parkers will remember former neighbors, the Casey Gordons. They and their daughter, Cathy, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Newman Cryer at 1007 N. Kennicott. Last Tuesday they joined Doris Nastal and Claire Bakowski at the Milk Pail. Later the Nastals entertained the Gordons at dinner. Wednesday they were honored by a coffee at Helen Bulinski's and dinner at the Bakowskis'.

Bunnies, jelly-beans and Easter eggs were featured at the birthday party for Billy Wojtkiewicz. Billy was 2 and celebrated with a family party and buffet supper. Joining him were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Petersen and Mrs. Alice Wojtkiewicz. Other relatives were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Leipzig and daughter and the Ken Rhode family, all of Chicago and Mrs. Mary Crusius of Hazelcrest. Billy and his parents, the George P. Wojtkiewiczes, live at 920 N. Ridge.

NEIGHBORS gathered at the Harry Phillipp house Saturday to celebrate their host's birthday. Joining Pat and Marjorie at 630 N. Salem for the barbecue party were Deane and Charlene Shumate, Rus and Bernice Carlson and John and Liz Oertel. After supper everyone went bowling — and, appropriately, Harry was high scorer of the evening, bowling a 218 game.

Also sports-minded are Bill Griffith, of 625 N. Kaspar, and Stanley Mensching, 804 N. Kaspar. Bill and Stan were rooting home the Hawks Sunday night in their spectacular hockey victory. The Menschings celebrated the 9th birthday of their son, Stan, with a family party. Uncles, aunts and cousins attended, including one family from Janesville, Wis. Stan shares his birthday with his grandmother, Mrs. Matilda Mensching, and she was also honored at the party.

Twenty-one kindergarten friends and neighborhood playmates helped Mary Scalzitti turn 6 on Saturday. Mary especially enjoyed her new real watch and the decorated cupcakes her mother had made. Little girls' heads covered with babushkas topped the cupcakes, and the guests took them home, along with tiny pearl bracelets for favors. Mary's treats for kindergarten were chocolate marshmallow eggs. Relatives joined the family on Saturday and Sunday nights. This left Mrs. Scalzitti, a room mother at Ridge School, just one day to rest up before Parents' Night and the bake sale. The Scalzittis live at 836 N. Fernandez.

BRUCE LAW, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Law, 1021 N. Chicago, left Monday to return to Knox College at Galesburg, where he is a sophomore. He reports a quiet vacation, and spent much of his time visiting neighbor David Keller, still recovering from his accident. While Bruce was home, his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Volwiler came from Lake Forest to see him.

Frank Nastal, whose 12th birthday was Thursday, celebrated it at the home of his grandfather, Frank Macko in Fox River Grove. Aunts, uncles and cousins, as well as his brother, Joey, joined him for birthday dinner, cake and ice cream. Frank's parents are the Cass Nastals, 701 N. Kennicott.

Mark Elenz, 1008 N. Ridge. was 9 last Tuesday, and his aunt, Mrs. Gwen Kauphusman of Chicago, joined him for the family party. Dan, Russie and Sandy Elenz were on hand for the birthday celebration Saturday, along with Dorothy Lee, Marcia Besinger, Doug Fuller, Russell Daughtry and Cheri Clarkson. After birthday cake decorated with marshmallow bunnies, all the children went to the movies. So did Mark's parents, the Edward Elenzes, who live at 1008 N. Ridge.

Both grandmothers of new baby William James Georgas came to welcome him to 924 N. Harvard. Mrs. William Georgas, Freeport, N. Y., and Mrs. Mary Kucera, of Ardmore, were recent visitors to Arlington Heights. The baby's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Georgas.

Three Children

Scheffel Is 'Independent'

Ten-year-old Tommy and 8-year old Debbie Scheffel attend school in Arlington Heights. Two-year-old Mark has a few years to go and then he, too, will be attending school here.

This is a major reason, but only one of the reasons their father, Norman Scheffel, is seeking a seat on the District 25 Board of Education.

Aside from his personal interest in the quality of education available in Arlington Heights elementary and junior high schools, Scheffel believes there should be at least one "independent" candidate in the election contest Saturday.

SCHEFFEL

HIS USE OF the term "independent" stems from the fact that his two opponents (two of the three candidates will be elected) were picked by the caucus nominating committee.

This system, whereby the candidates to be endorsed are selected from those proposed by committee members through a process of elimination, leaves much to be desired, Scheffel believes.

And he thinks others share his views.

"I WAS approached about running as long as two years ago," Scheffel said. "Others seemed to share my belief that the voters should have some choice besides caucus candidates."

Scheffel said the caucus method overlooks many qualified men and women. He said the electorate has become little more than a "rubber-stamp" for caucus candidates, since normally caucus candidates are the only ones running.

But Scheffel's concern is as much with the school system as with the method of selecting candidates. While he does not cite any particular area as grossly under par, he does believe improvement is possible in two instances.

ONE IS in the content of kindergarten classes. The 33-year-old Scheffel, who lives with his wife, Marlyn, and their three children at 717 S. Vail, says the kindergarten program should be examined closely, and revised to better prepare youngsters for upper grades.

The other change he believes should be made is to institute the system of "graded" classes, with students split into high, low and remedial levels.

Scheffel said this will offer students in each group more incentive, since students with learning problems will not have to compete with those to whom learning comes easy.

AS MIGHT be anticipated because of his background in chemistry, Scheffel said that in this age of technical advancements, "we should continually evaluate our science programs to make certain our system is keeping pace with advanced approaches to teaching science."

In short, Scheffel's primary aim is, in his words, "to make sure that our school system is right at the top of the list." He believes his business background and awareness of the problems equip him to help achieve this aim as a member of the school board.

Scheffel is a 1950 graduate of Northwestern University, where he received a B.S. in psychology and chemistry. He is presently associated with Berkshire Chemicals, Inc., as chemical consultant and district territory manager.

He is a member of Park School PTA, several professional groups, and active in the Arlington Heights Evangelical Free Church, where he is Sunday school department superintendent, a church youth leader, and past financial chairman of the church board. (A

Fire Damage Is $2,500

A fire at the T. M. Paul residence, 815 W. Oakton St., Arlington Heights, did an estimated $2,500 damage Tuesday afternoon.

Fire Chief Harvey Carothers said the fire started in the basement of the one-story ranch house. As some wood was being burned in a gas incinerator in the basement, the joists and beams of the first floor above caught fire.

The fire burnt through the floor and spread up a wall in the bedroom, where it was confined by village firefighters. Carothers said there was considerable smoke damage. (A

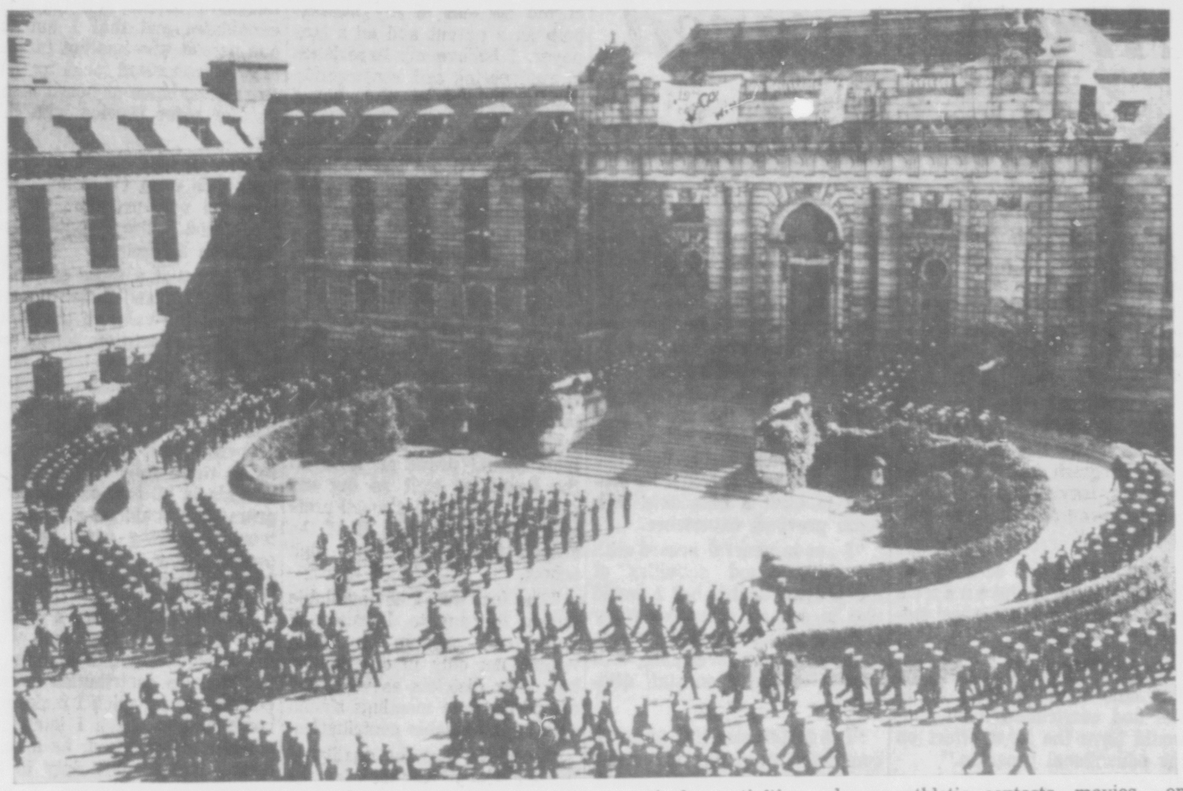
At U.S. Naval Academy

Four Local Youths Training For Military Leadership



NOON MEAL FORMATION of the Brigade of Midshipmen in front of Bancroft Hall at the U. S. Naval Academy is an especially pleasant event on Saturdays, when it marks the end of the work week. The rest of the weekend is spent in extra-curricular activities — dances, athletic contests, movies — or visiting the coty of Annapolis. Some 3,900 men, including four from the Paddock area, attend the Academy. (B-8

On the banks of the Severn River at Annapolis, Maryland, four young men from the Paddock area are preparing themselves for future responsibilities which might include command of a ship at sea, a jet fighter squadron, or a Naval station.

The four are midshipmen at the tradition-steeped U.S. Naval Academy, where nearly 3,900 midshipmen from 50 states and some foreign countries are preparing for a military career.

The area men attending are:

Frederick H. Kaiser, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Kaiser, of 302 W. Old Plum Grove Road, Palatine, a graduate of Palatine Township High School.

Thomas Eugene Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Meyer, of 329 N. Bothwell, Pal-High School.

Donald James Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Reynolds, of 114 Tanglewood Drive, Elk Grove Village, a graduate of Beloit Catholic High School.

RICHARD WESLEY Dawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Dawson, of 114 N. Forrest, Arlington Heights, a graduate of Ypsilanti High School.

Reynolds attended Marquette University for a year, then served two and one-half years in the Marine Corps before receiving an appointment to the Academy from the Secretary of the Navy. The other three were appointed by legislators.

All four first entered the Academy during "plebe summer," while upper classmen were on a summer cruise. During this training period, they learned the rudiments of Navy life and, particularly, the meaning of the mission of the Naval Academy.

The Academy's mission:

"TO DEVELOP midshipmen morally, mentally, and physically, and to imbue them with the highest ideals of duty, honor and loyalty in order to provide graduates who are dedicated to a career of naval service and have potential for future development in mind and character to assume the highest responsibilities of command, citizenship and government."

When "plebe summer" was over, the midshipmen joined the Brigade of Midshipmen and fell into a daily routine. Up at 6:15 a.m. and ready for breakfast formation 30 minutes later. The entire brigade is served at one sitting in the world's largest dining room, and the average meal takes only 25 minutes.

After breakfast, they begin a day of study, recitations, drills, and laboratory work. When the academic day is completed, usually at 3 or 4 p.m., they participate in sports or extracurricular activities until evening meal formation at 6:30 p.m.

KAISER HAS been active in varsity wrestling and dinghy sailing, along with company softball. Meyer has been on the "dean's list" at the Academy, and plays basketball, softball and volleyball, and last year was on the battalion water polo team.

Reynolds has been on the crew teams of his battalion, plays volleyball and is a cross-country man. Dawson leans toward music and last year was a member of the concert band.

The work week ends for midshipmen after Saturday noon meal formation. Saturday afternoon they can visit the city of Annapolis, or attend intercollegiate athletic contests.

SATURDAY NIGHT is "hop" night for the three upper classes, and the base dances are well attended. Sunday afternoon, movies are shown and the three upper classes can escort guests to them.

Sunday morning the Academy chapel is attended by more than 2,000 midshipmen. Services are non-denominational. Midshipmen may attend these services, or go to the church of their choice in the city of Annapolis.

Graduates of the basic four-year curriculum receive a B.S. degree on a par with the top universities and colleges in the United States. An elective program at the Academy offers midshipmen whose marks in the basic curriculum are sufficiently high, an opportunity to carry additional subjects.

THE SUMMER cruises — when midshipmen report for duty aboard fleet ships and shores stations — are designed to give them on-the-job training in their future roles as naval officers. Midshipmen make three summer cruises.

Its a busy life and no midshipman has time to become bored Midshipmen Kaiser, Meyer and Reynolds are scheduled to graduate in June, 1963, and Dawson in 1964.

Upon graduation, they will be commissioned ensign in the Navy, or possibly second lieutenant in the Marine Corps. A very small percentage are commissoned in the Army and Air Force. (B-8

MUCH OF THE TIME of Midshipman Donald Reynolds of Elk Grove Village is spent studying, although there are some free moments for relaxation and sports. Reynolds is scheduled to graduate from the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis in June, 1964.

Commuter Cruiser Service Is Told

New Commuter Cruiser service on the Chicago river between North Western railway's downtown station and Michigan Avenue started Monday to bring non-stop, 7-minute rides to C&NW commuters who work in the North Michigan Avenue area.

Service will be operated by the Wendella Sightseeing Co. in 65-ft. diesel-powered cruisers with a capacity of more than 100 riders. A new dock has been built at Madison Street on the west shore of the river for direct transfer of C&NW riders arriving at the road's downtown station.

Fares will be 20 cents in books of 10 tickets, or 25 cents for single trips.

WENDELLA will have departures every 15 minutes during the morning and evening rush hours and during mid-day hours the boats will connect with C&NW's hourly off peak trains on all three suburban divisions.

The boat operator and C&NW railway have combined to offer a bargain fare for group student trips during off peak hours for sightseeing on Lake Michigan or the transfer to Michigan Avenue. Plants of the four Chicago newspapers are at the Michigan Avenue dock and thousands of Chicago area students tour these plants each year.

C&NW's new group rates for students from suburban areas offer reduced round-trip rides on the road's Commuter Streamliners during off peak hours at a cost slightly more than the regular one-way fare, with a minimum of 30 students or chaperones.

WITHOUT being exposed to the hazards of Chicago street traffic, students could transfer direct from trains to boats for lake sightseeing or the Michigan Avenue dock at the foot of the Wrigley Building.

Teachers, scout leaders or others interested in the novel train-boat trips should contact C&NW suburban agents or the Passenger Department, C&NW Railway, 400 W. Madison St., Chicago 6.

'Y' Dance Classes Start New Series

The popular ballroom dance courses at Northwest Suburban YMCA will begin a new 7-week session on Monday, April 23. There will be classes for junior high, high school students and adults. The courses are open to all, whether 'Y' members or not.

Junior high and high school dance students have separate dance and splash parties the fourth Saturday of each month. Adult "Learn to Dance" clubs have scheduled a "Roaring 20s" orchestra dance and splash party on Saturday, May 19.

THERE are also Friday ballroom classes, with a new series beginning May 18 in the 'Y's air-conditioned all purpose room. room.

High School Board Election This Saturday

Brief Biographies In This Newspaper

Saturday, April 14, from noon to 7 p.m., voters will cast ballots for three members of Arlington-Prospect High School District 214 Board of Education.

Seeking the three posts ar seven candidates — four for the two regular three-year terms and three for a special two-year post. The two-year term will complete the unexpired term of Daryl B. Oldaker, former school board president, who resigned early in March after completing only one year of his regular three-year term.

To give voters a summary of who the candidates are and what is their basic thinking about some major educational problems, Paddock Publications this week is running a brief biographical sketch of each candidate and the results of a question survey developed and completed by the newspaper.

Who are the candidates?

For three-year terms — four candidates and two to be elected:

JOHN A. HAAS

John Haas, 500 Hillcrest, Prospect Heights, appears to be a "shoo-in" for the school board. Haas, now serving as president of the board, is the only candidate on the ballot from an unincorporated area.

BARRING an intensive "write-in" campaign for another candidate living outside the established villages or cities, Haas must be re-elected since by state law at least one member of the board must reside in an unincorporated area. With no present board member or candidate fitting this category, Haas would seem to have an unbeatable advantage.

On the ballot, however, he must compete for his three-year term with the other three candidates for the two available posts.

Haas is the former president of Prospect Heights District 23 School Board, has been a member of the Arlington-Prospect High School Board for more than a year and is currently serving as board president.

AN ATTORNEY, he is the senior member of the Mount Prospect law firm of Haas and Weber. Haas presently has two daughters enrolled in Prospect High, another daughter who graduated from Prospect last year, and a son in the Prospect Heights elementary school.

E. CHARLES LOCKWOOD

Charles Lockwood, 201 W. Orchard St., Arlington Heights, is a former member of the Arlington-Prospect High School Board. He resigned early in 1961 when he moved to Arlington Heights from Prospect Heights since he held the school board post reserved for "unincorporated" representation.

Haas was appointed to the board to fill out Lockwood's term, and ran for election to the remaining one-year of the term last year.

LOCKWOOD IS now seeking to regain his board position through election as a resident of one of the district municipalities.

He was a member of the Prospect Heights elementary school board for three years where he served on the finance committee. During his three years of membership on the high school board (one year by appointment and two years by election) Lockwood was a member of the building committee which planned Forest View High School (set to open this fall). He is the former president of the Prospect Lions Club.

Lockwood is an officer of E. C. Lockwood & Co., a wholesale business firm. He holds a B. S. degree in electrical engineering from Northwestern.

A RESIDENT of the high school district for 10 years, Lockwood and his wife, Merry, have seven children, with two currently enrolled in Arlington High and four in the Arlington Heights elementary school system.

LOIS B. REZNER

Mrs. Lois B. Rezner, 603 S. School St., Mount Prospect, is an active PTA leader, having served as president of Randhurst Council of PTA's, president and board member of Mount Prospect PTA, and committee chairman of the Northwest Suburban Council of PTA's.

Active in other school-related projects, Mrs. Rezner has worked in the establishment of local caucus groups, on citizens lay committees working for Prospect High and the new high school, and with the PTA and League of Women Voters in school finance and revenue programs. She conducts courses in parliamentary procedure for PTA and other club groups.

A graduate of Arlington High, Mrs. Rezner attended Northwestern University. Her son, Tom, 19, is also an Arlington High graduate.

Contrary to information published in last week's edition of Paddock Publications, Mrs. Rezner does have a child in the District 214 high schools. She is her daughter Joan, 15, a student at Prospect High. A third child—Barbara, 6—attends Lions Park elementary school in Mount Prospect.

EUGENE W. SACKETT

Eugene W. Sackett, 140 Sunrise Drive, Wheeling, has been a teacher for 15 years. A native of South Dakota, Sackett is now a faculty member of the Glenbrook High School where he is completing his second year on the staff. A physical education instructor, Sackett also holds a masters degree in educational administration.

Although a resident of Wheeling for only 1½ years, Sackett is an active member of the Wheeling Community Council. Making use of his athletic experience for the community, Sackett is superintendent of the year-old Wheeling Park District on a part-time basis.

SACKETT IS a member of the American Legion, Marine Corps Reserve, PTA, adult Boy Scout member and the Wheeling Swimming Pool Committee. He is also a member of the citizens lay committee working on the fourth high school in District 214.

For the two-year term — three candidates with one to be elected.

EDWARD L. (BUD) MILLS

Edward L. (Bud) Mills, 402 W. Campbell St., Arlington Heights, is making his third bid for a seat on the District 214 board of education.

A graduate of Arlington High, Mills attended Michigan State University. He is manager of Webber Paint Company in Arlington Heights.

A MEMBER of the Air Force Reserve, Mills holds a commission of Major. He is a veteran of the European, Middle East and African campaigns during World War II.

A resident of the Arlington area for 28 years, Mills is a member of VFW Post 981, the Arlington Heights Elks Club, and the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce.

He and his wife, Muriel, have six children — with the unique interest in the high school fostered by having a child in attendance from 1956 and will continue to have a student in the schools until 1976.

GEORGE H. PARIS

George H. Paris, 407 S. Main St., Mount Prospect, is currently serving as vice-president for membership of the Prospect High Boosters Club. With his wife, Martha, Paris was host for the Prospect Teacher-Parent Council last year.

A GRADUATE of the University of Illinois, Paris holds a B. S. degree in civil engineering. He has been employed by the Portland Cement Association for 16 years and is presently director of promotion planning and engineering services dealing primarily with development and preparation of engineering and educational materials.

Paris is chairman of the Board of Christian Education for South Church, Mount Prospect. He and his wife are superintendents of the high school department of the church. He has served as troop committee member for Boy Scout Troop 53, and as an assistant coach in Little League. He also served as vice president for publicity for the Little League.

PARIS AND his wife, a teacher in the Mount Prospect elementary schools, have three children — an older daughter who is a student at University of Michigan and a graduate of Prospect High, a son who is a sophomore at Prospect High, and a younger daughter who is in sixth grade at Lions Park School, Mount Prospect.

WALTER P. STROBEL

Walter P. Strobel, 1319 E. Mayfair Road, Arlington Heights, was active in the formation of the Prospect High Boosters Club and this year is serving as president of the group.

For five years, Strobel served as a member and chairman of the board of education for a parochial school.

A GRADUATE of Northwestern University Law School, Strobel is now a partner of Strobel & Ingalls, insurance adjustment and investigation firm.

A resident of the area for six years, Strobel and his wife have five children, with two presently enrolled at Prospect High.

Five Questions Are Answered By School Board Candidates

In an effort to give readers an opportunity for a fair and impartial evaluation of the seven candidates seeking election to the three available posts on the Arlington-Prospect High School Board of Education, Paddock Publications prepared and submitted to each candidate a list of five questions.

The five specific questions developed were chosen to get frank replies and opinions from the individual candidates. Candidates were limited strictly in the length of answers, and if more space had been available might have expressed further ideas.

The survey results are listed below in alphabetical order:

1. What experience have you had in school-board programs or school-related work? If none, what other special experience have you had which you feel fits you for school-board membership?

JOHN A. HAAS: "I have served as a member and president of the Board of Education of Prospect Heights Grade School District 23. I have been a member of the High School District 214 school board for 14 months, and am presently serving as president."

E. CHARLES LOCKWOOD: "I served for three years on the Prospect Heights Grade School Board, working on the finance committee. I was a member of District 214 High School Board for three years, serving on the building committee when Forest View School was planned and started."

EDWARD L. (BUD) MILLS: "In running for this office twice before I have attended many board meetings and am aware of many of the problems which confront board members. I have also done some personal research on matters pertaining to school operation. I am also a member of the lay committee for the new building."

GEORGE H. PARIS: "I have experience in preparing educational materials and working with various schools. I have engineering and construction background that should be helpful in planning and constructing school facilities."

LOIS B. REZNER: "I have been active for 15 years in legislation, finance, revenue and tax needs for schools through PTA, League of Women Voters and regularly attended high school board meetings this past year."

EUGENE W. SACKETT: "I have been in the educational field for 15 years as a teacher. I hold a Masters degree in educational administration which would give me a better insight of the problems confronting the administration of District 214."

WALTER P. STROBEL: "I served for five years as member and chairman on the board of education of a parochial school. I have been an officer for three years in Prospect High Boosters Club and in 1961-62 served as president."

2. If money was not a factor, what improvement or addition would you add to the present school curriculum or building facilities, or what changes would you feel were desirable?

HAAS: (a) "Further reduce the size of classes in some areas. (b) Add many books and much reference material to libraries."

LOCKWOOD: "Expand the curriculum to areas where there are now too few students interested to justify a class, reduce the average size of the classes, and add more counselors."

MILLS: "Increase intensity and scope of the science fields. Increase the physical education field coverage and work for remedial help."

PARIS: "I would propose expanding the curriculum to include a broader range of academic and vocational courses and recreational facilities with the necessary staff and buildings."

MRS. REZNER: "Until a complete study and evaluation of present curriculum and facilities could be made, I would offer no change. Financial condition of the district is always a factor."

SACKETT: "I would strive for a more fully implemented curriculum of American History and a minimum of five days per week of physical education, for both boys and girls."

STROBEL: "I would reduce the size of classes, provide as much individual training as possible and work to make the faculty second to none."

3. If funds were tightly stretched and some economies were absolutely necessary, where would you make the first cuts?

HAAS: (a) "Make greater use of lay persons in areas where practical. (b) Use team teaching programs to greater extent, thus increasing number of students which might be instructed by each teacher."

LOCKWOOD: "The first cuts should be in extra-curricular activities, the bus service, the lunch program and the athletic program, leaving the basic educational program intact as long as possible."

MILLS: "Close scrutiny of operation and maintenance costs exclusive of teachers' salaries."

PARIS: "I would make the first cuts in the building facilities and curriculum items that would have the least effect on the educational program."

MRS. REZNER: "Complete study and evaluation would again be necessary. Efficient administration, wise building planning and maintenance are areas which always need consideration."

SACKETT: "I feel that extra-curricular activities are the first things to be cut if absolutely necessary due to budget limitations. Academics must be kept at the front regardless of financial position."

STROBEL: "I would make any cuts necessary except that I would strive to keep any cut from affecting the academic standing of our schools. I would also try to retain the 'physical fitness' aspects of the curriculum."

4. Is the prime responsibility of the school board member to the children of the school system or to the taxpayers of the school district? Which of the two responsibilities would be more important to you?

HAAS: "The prime responsibility is to supply the best educational program within the tax dollars available, thus students are of primary importance but taxpayers are certainly a very close second."

LOCKWOOD: "The prime responsibility is to the children. It is the duty of the school board to provide the best education possible within the financial limitations of the district."

MILLS: "These two are of equal importance and cannot be separated."

PARIS: "The primary responsibility of a school board member is to provide the best educational program for the children at the least cost to the taxpayer."

MRS. REZNER: "School board members are Trustees of State, charged with the responsibility of providing a good common school education for the children within financial limits of the district."

SACKETT: "Education, as charged by intelligent application, must always keep the child foremost. Intelligent application of funds will allow quality education plus operating within the budget."

STROBEL: "Our primary responsibility is to produce well educated, complete graduates. Immediately below that we have a responsibility to the taxpayer to spend only what it takes to do this."

5. Why are you running for election to the school board? What specific contribution do you feel you may be able to give to the board? Do you have any special program, project or revision which you would like to see initiated in the present system?

HAAS: "Every citizen should make some contribution to the community. My interest and background lead me to believe I can make the greatest contribution in this area at the present time. My special program is 'to promote continued improvement in the educational program and to supply the facilities necessary to do the job.

"In order that the most judicious use be made of the taxpayers funds and the time of board members, we must have the utmost cooperation between the administration and the board and among all board members. There are indications we are taking strides in the direction of attaining this goal, and I hope that continued improvement along these lines will be evident."

LOCKWOOD: "It was my experience on the two boards of education on which I served that it requires at least a full year of board membership before an individual can assimilate the knowledge of the curriculum, teaching staff and methods, administrative setup, enrollment, tax requirements, building programs, etc., necessary to be a contributing member of the board.

"In view of the many new members who have joined District 214 board in the past two years, I believe it would be prudent to elect a candidate with some previous experience.

"I am in general accord with the methods and activities of the present board, but I would like to see an extensive study made of multiple school systems such as we are developing, with special emphasis on staff utilization.

"I WOULD also like to see a complete formulation or revision of written policies of the board, especially in regard to the relationship between the board and the administration to avoid any possible future misunderstanding."

MILLS: "I am a candidate to fulfill a civic duty and responsibility. I have practical experience and judgment. I believe in close coordination and cooperation between school administration, parents and taxpayers of the district."

PARIS: "I was asked to run for the school board and accepted because of my interest both as a parent and as a taxpayer. I believe my experience in engineering and construction can be helpful to the board with its large building program.

"I also believe my experience in the educational field gives me some insight into the needs and problems of the educators. I am only interested in seeing that the educational program and facilities are the best the taxpayers can afford."

MRS. REZNER: "I am running for election because I have a continuing interest in the welfare of children. My experience in matters of school finance, legislation and revenue in Illinois should prove an asset to the board as well as my experience as a PTA Council president in working with all of the schools feeding into the high school.

"The fact that I am available during the day to do research and study, observe in classrooms, not only in our district but other districts as well, and attend daytime meetings should also be a valuable contribution.

"I believe that the quality of the classroom teacher is the most important factor in providing a good education and that an adequate salary schedule needs to be maintained to attract and hold quality teachers. Economies made in a district should be in efficient administration, wise building planning and maintenance — not in salaries at the risk of losing experienced, qualified personnel."

SACKETT: "I feel that all areas must have equal representation and that the larger areas feel the same way. I feel that I have been closer to the internal problems than the other candidates and that I am the one person who has not formed any pre-conceived ideas by constant attendance at board meetings or prior service with this board.

"The district needs someone from this area (Wheeling) and also one who promises to represent the entire district at all times on all issues.

"I feel that a more extensive development and better presentation of the value of the D. O. and D. E. (Part-time school and part-time work training in business) should be made. The District 214 area has too many businesses that would probably cooperate with this program not to be more fully exploited.

"This is a tremendous program and would go a long way towards solving what drop-out problem now exists and might grow in the future."

STROBEL: "I am a candidate because I feel that with my background and training I can make a contribution to this community in which I make my home and in which I intend to educate my children. As a resident I feel a civic duty to do my part in the community job.

"I have no special program, project or revision to suggest except to try to continue our present program of giving our youngsters the best possible and most complete education without spending one dollar of the taxpayers' money where it is not necessary. I have, with four more children in the system and a house on which I pay taxes, a responsibility both to the students and the taxpayers of District 214."

Defense Spending Is Doubled Here in Year

(UPI) — Dollar volume of prime defense contracts to firms in the Seventh Federal Reserve District (Chicago) is nearly double that of a year ago, it was reported Sunday.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, in its current issue of "Business Conditions," said the increased government expenditures gave rise to continued confidence in the current business outlook.

Manufacturers' new orders are at high levels and business expenditures are increasing, the publication noted. It placed prime defense contract spending in the district during the fourth quarter of 1961 at $7 billion.

The U. S. Commerce Department capital expenditure survey released last month indicated, the bank said, business capital outlays would rise eight per cent in 1962 from the record 1961 total of $32.2 billion.

HOWEVER, a similar survey by McGraw-Hill in November indicated an increase of only four per cent for the current year.

The bank said another element of optimism was the rapid rise of business outlays for new plants and equipment. In 1961, the bank said, the expenditures rose in the quarter following the first increase in general activity. In earlier postwar recoveries, the article said, spending lagged behind two or three quarters. (B8

Road Commissioner Faces Grand Jury

A grand jury was scheduled Wednesday to hear new charges concerning the activities of Oscar Everson, Wheeling Township highway commissioner.

Asst. States Atty. Marvin Aspen said the grand jury would "investigate certain allegations of wrong - doing made against Everson." He added the charges were brought by Richard Schmidt, Everson's former foreman, but did not say what they were.

IT WAS SCHMIDT whose compliants first sparked a state's attorney's probe of Everson's office in which the road commissioner was cleared of two charges of mishandling township funds.

Aspen said that Schmidt and his wife; Dorothy Hauff, Wheeling Township clerk, and Everson himself were to testify before the grand jury. "Mrs. Hauff will supply certain books and records," Aspen explained.

He said his office has been investigating "this particular aspect (of the case) for about two weeks."

On March 14, the state's attorney's office announced that it had found no grounds for prosecuting Everson on two charges brought to its attention.

ONE INVOLVED Everson's granting himself a $10 raise from the township's road and bridge fund. Restitution was made, however, when it was discovered that the highway commissioner could only be paid from the town fund and that his salary was set by state statute at $20 a day.

A second complaint that a tractor belonging to Everson's son, Charles, 17, had been rented to the township for $5 an hour under the name of Economy Rentals Company, did not constitute a violation of criminals laws, the state's attorney's office held, since the son was the one who received the $955 in rental money.

Basis of the new investigation, it was learned, was information uncovered by Joseph Woods, chief investigator for the Better Government Association of Chicago.

EVEN AS Everson was cleared by the state's attorney's office of the two charges, Woods had said that he had "received enough information to feel that the matter bears looking into."

Everson has also refused to answer a reporter's questions about some bills which have been questioned by Township Auditor John McGivney. One bill McGivney wondered about was for repair work done on a Ford tractor which the township does not own.

Everson said he would have to confer with his attorney, Harry J. Busch, a prominent trial lawyer, before answering questions. (ACM

by ED LANDWEHR

The public reads and hears much about transistors nowadays . . . being used in battery powered radios, in missiles, portable TV sets and just about every kind of electronics. But hardly anyone knows just what they are except that they replace glass tubes.

Actually, they're just a bit of crystal. Electron flow is controlled by tiny impurities in different parts of the crystal, no mechanical parts in the conventional sense as in the vacuum tube. Transistor size can be reduced to only the space needed for wiring connections.

LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, has been servicing TV, radios and many electronic devices with transistors, and if you need further information or specific services phone CLearbrook 5-0700. We'll be glad to be of service to you.

Operatic Tenor Is Featured Soloist

Operatic tenor Richard Knoll of Wheeling will be the featured soloist in the presentation of "The Crucifixion" by John Stainer at St. Mark's United Church of Christ in Wheeling at 8 p.m., April 20, it was announced this week.

Baritone soloist with the church Cancel Choir, directed by Marjorie Beu, will be Sydney Mertz, charter member of St. Mark's.

KNOLL IS considered to be one of the finest young tenors in the country. He ranges from the opera to musical comedy and has made over 200 television appearances, was the star tenor in the 1961 Aqua Follies in Minneapolis and Seattle, and the musical comedy star in Fred Miller theatre, Milwaukee and Highland Park Music Theatre.

He was recently engaged by the Lyric Opera of Chicago to create the role of "Jesse" in the World Premiere Opera, "The Harvest" by Giannini. The opera will be staged by Jose Ferrer and conducted by its composer.

Mertz was for two years the conductor of the Chancel Choir. He was the baritone soloist last year in the same presentation and also in Handel's "Messiah," which the choir presented at Christmas time. He has also been very active in barbershop quartet work, belonging to the Arlington Heights chapter. Mertz is a sales representative in Illinois for the West Bend Mutual Insurance Co.

Knoll, who resides at 93 Debra, is the father of eight children.

The church is located on Jenkins Court just west of Elmhurst Road. (ACM

School Bus Mishap Shakes Up Children

A busload of 51 school children was shaken up and slightly injured in an accident on Euclid Avenue and Wheeling Road at 8:45 on the morning of April 5.

Ralph W. Weston, 47, of Gages Lake Road, the bus driver, was charged by state police with failure to yield the right-of-way and having an expired chauffeur's license.

Injured was Robert A. Waddell, 46, of 925 N. Hickory, Arlington Heights, who was taken to Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights. He was the driver of a car which collided with the bus.

ALSO INJURED were seven children who were sent home. They are: Cheryl Bauman, 6, of 119 Bayberry Lane, Prospect Heights; Karen Peterson, 6, of 105 Lee St., and Sheryl Sepke, 6, of 111 Redbush Lane, Prospect Heights.

And Sandra Sepke, 11 of 111 Redbush Lane, Prospect Heights; Debbie Herin, 10, of 122 Bayberry Lane, Prospect Heights, and Elaine Del Boccio, 10, of 10(Mulberry Lane, Prospect Heights.

State police reported that the car was eastbound on Euclid and the bus was westbound. The bus driver made a left turn in front of the car and the car struck the bus.

A SMASHUP between two cars, resulting in five injured, occurred, according to state police, when one car ran a stop sign.

The accident occurred at 10 p.m. on April 3 on Illinois 62, two miles west of Illinois 53.

Heinz Breit, Rt. 2, Frost Road, Palatine, was westbound on Illinois 62. James F. Bock, 35, of 1282 Grove, Palatine, approaching the intersection, ran the stop sign, police said.

Breit was unable to stop his car and it collided with the Bock car. Bock was charged with disobeying the stop sign.

INJURED WERE Breit, and passengers in his car, Marcella Swanson, 36, of Rt. 2 Hickory Lane, Palatine; Gretchen Breit, 38, and Alison Breit, 15. Not injured was another passenger in the car, Julie Rundle, 15, Rt. 2, Hickory Road, Palatine.

Also injured was the driver of the other car, Bock. All the injured were taken to Northwest Community Hospital.

Damage to the Breit car was $500; to the other vehicle, $500.

In a third accident, LaVerne Nickel, 43, of 401 Aster Lane, Hoffman Estates, was headed south on Illinois 53. She told state police she had the green light when she went through the intersection at Illinois 62 and her vehicle was struck by one driven by Edward T. Duffy, 70, of 560 Princeton, Des Plaines.

A passenger in the second car, Nellie Duffy, 68, was injured and taken to Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge.

TRENT MIDDLEKAUFF Jr., 30, of 359 Marion Court, Wheeling, was eastbound on Illinois 68 at 10:30 p.m. on April 5 when an accident occurred. Also headed east was Joseph W. Gressler, 55, of Pulaski, N. Y.

Middlekauff told police he did not see Gressler's car in front of him, and about a mile west of Illinois 83, his car struck the other.

When the Middlekauff vehicle struck the other in the rear, it forced it off the road where it struck a sign.

Middlekauff and a passenger in the Gressler car, Edward Gartley, 32, of North Collins, N. Y., were injured and taken to Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines. Another passenger, Roland Clark, of Derby, N. Y. and Gressler were uninjured.

Damage to each car was listed as $300, and Middlekauff was charged with following too closely.

On U. S. 12 at U. S. 45, Phyllis M. Bruce, 36, of 6008 Devon, was headed southeast, and told police she was forced to veer right by a passing car. Her vehicle struck a stop light and she was injured. She was taken to Lutheran General Hospital. Damage to her car was $500. (B8

Miss Katagiri plans to enter Cornell College, Mount Vernon, Iowa, this fall to prepare for a career in secondary education in the field of history or foreign language.

BESIDES RANKING number one in her class at Prospect High, Gail holds office in the National Honor Society and Spanish Club, is staff member on the school newspaper and yearbook, and is an alternate on the varsity cheerleading squad.

One of 15 applicants from eight high school districts, Gail was selected to receive the $1,000 scholarship which is donated by the Parent Teacher Associations in their recruitment of future teachers for the public schools of Illinois.

Thirty-three $1,000 scholarships are given each year by the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers.

THE ONLY requirement of the scholarship is that each recipient teach in Illinois public schools at least two years after completion of her college training.

Participating in the selection of the scholarship winner were nine council officers of the Illinois Congress, including from this area, Mrs. Charles Rezner, Mount Prospect; Mrs. John Lindstrom, Arlington Heights; Mrs. Rodger Taggert, Palatine; and Mrs. E. T. Odden, Des Plaines.

Victor Schmidt, Des Plaines, represented the office of County Superintendent of Schools, together with nine other educators. James Kunnen, counselor at Prospect High School, Mrs. W. Watkins of Rolling Meadows-Palatine Schools, and R. Pitts of Maine East High School were among the educators who selected the scholarship winner.

OFFICIAL NOTICE of the selection was made last Thursday at the Fourth Annual Mock Convention of District 21. Miss Katagiri was presented to over 250 representatives of the Parent Teacher Associations.

The workshop-convention meeting preceeds the annual state convention to be held in Springfield April 10-12.

Two alternates to the scholarship were also named. Gayle Bauman, Maine West High School, was named first alternate. Karen Rest, Evanston second alternate award. (B-8

Free 'Learn to Swim' Kids at YMCA

All boys and girls eight years of age and over are invited by Northwest Suburban YMCA to join its "Learn to Swim" campaign. They may register now for the five free lessons to be offered daily during spring vacation from school.

Although beginners cannot conquer the water in five lessons, the majority of those who enroll will learn to swim from 25 to 75 feet and will be well on their way to learning how to swim.

OVER 7,000 drownings were recorded in this country last year. This is an opportunity for youngsters to learn to swim under trained qualified YMCA instructors, who are under direction of Art Holland, physical director at Northwest Suburban YMCA. Art is rated as tops in the swimming field, with several awards of distinction to his credit.

Boys and girls learning to swim at an early age will be protected for all time against an unfortunate water accident. This is their chance to get a start at it.

CLASSES WILL be offered between 9 and 10:30 a.m. Monday through Friday, beginning April 16. Registration and further information may be secured by calling the "Y" at CY 6-3376.

Information on year-round membership is also available. An 8-lesson swimming instruction course at a nominal fee is planned for adults beginning May 2. Anyone may join the class, whether "Y" members or not. (B9

Election Is May 19 For New High School

High School District 214 residents will vote May 19 on a $4.9 million bond issue for a fourth high school to be constructed at the northwest corner of Hintz and Elmhurst Roads, near Wheeling.

The board of education Monday approved the date for the election and followed Citizens Committee recommendations for amount of the bond issue and site selection.

The 2,500 student capacity building, to be ready by the 1964-65 school year, would make room for the 8,500 students expected in the District by that time. Despite the opening of Forest View next fall, the board pointed out, the District faces a serious overcrowding condition in two years.

THE CITIZENS Committee, which had viewed plans for a fourth school, submitted final reports Wednesday night, April 4.

Also on the May 19 ballot will be a question concerning the construction of two swimming pools, one at the fourth high school and one at Forest View High School, now being completed.

Estimates for the cost of the pools were $350,000 apiece, although the board of education has not established the bond issue amount for the pools.

The Lay Citizens' Committee emphasized that the $4.9 million for the building would include all equipment. Cost of the equipment for Forest View and Prospect High was largely met through current operating funds and not by bond issue.

THE FINANCE sub-committee estimated that individual taxpayers would pay about half as much for the fourth high school as they did for Forest View since the assessed valuation of the District has increased.

In discussing the swimming pool proposition, which is being presented as a separate question, the board pointed out that the voters of the District had never been given an opportunity to voice opinion of pools as part of the high school program.

The Citizens Committee had recommended the pool proposition. If the issue is approved, two schools would share each pool.

The board of education is still studying building plans designed by Berger-Kelley-Unteed and Associates, Inc. The Citizens Committee reported the building would cost approximately $13 per square foot, a figure termed "reasonable, based on past construction costs."

IF VOTERS approve the bond issue, the district will have four 2,500 student high schools and would have space for the estimated 10,000 students expected by 1966. The enrollment study, done by Dr. Jack Childress of Northwestern University, has been verified by citizen lay committees working on Forest View and the proposed Wheeling-area high schools.

Urging residents to support the proposition, board member Ken Dougan, Arlington Heights, emphasized that "once we get behind in our building program we may never catch up."

As Citizens' Committee members wound up their work last week they praised the board and the administration for their cooperation in the committee's investigation.

COMMITTEE member Dick Blaisdell, 638 S. Newbury, Arlington Heights, called on the 65 member group "to rally behind the bond issue and thereby protect the high school district's fine educational reputation and the area's property values."

Building plans, although not finalized by board action, call for a two story educational wing and facilities comparable to those at the other three schools. Additional rooms for teaching handicapped children are included.

Top Patient, Employe Named at Hospital

The top patient and employe of the past year have been named as "Patient of the Year" and "Employe of the Year" by Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights.

Selected as the most-cheerful, cooperative, understanding patient during the past year was Thomas Donohoe, 709 S. Chestnut Ave., Arlington Heights. Injured in an explosion of a water tank while helping a neighbor fix his basement, Donohoe was admitted to the hospital through the emergency room.

His injuries were extensive with second and third degree burns covering 30 per cent of his body on his face, neck, back, shoulder and arms.

THE "EMPLOYE of the Year" is Mrs. Charles (Ruth) Salisbury of Palatine. Mrs. Salisbury, a registered nurse, is in charge of the hospital oxygen, suction and orthopedic department, working with personnel and patients throughout the hospital as such equipment is needed.

Named as runners-up in the employe selection were Mrs. Paul (Adella) Weinrich of the dietary department and Hugh M. Holahan, hospital engineer on the "graveyard shift."

Donohoe, a chemical salesman for Allied Chemical Company, is married and has four children. During 1961, not only Donohoe, but every other member of his family used the hospital facilities at least once, either in the emergency room or as patients.

DURING a lengthy convalescence, Donohoe had many setbacks. Throughout his many weeks as a patient, Donohoe was noted for his "outstanding courage, patience and faith," hospital spokesmen said.

In his first weeks of treatment, Donohoe was subjected to a daily session of more than an hour in surgery for changes of dressings on his burns. In spite of this continuing painful experience and his setbacks, hospital employes praised him for his cheerfulness, sense of humor and concern for other patients.

"He did much to elevate the morale of all people who came in contact with him," Alan Campbell, hospital administrator, said.

BASIS FOR selection of the employe of the year covered six major points. These included loyalty to the hospital, ability and desire to work well with fellow employes, cheerfulness, sense of humor, real interest in improving quality of patient care and an interest in stimulating pride and good will toward the hospital by members of the community.

The hospital employes made nominations for both the top patient and employe, with an employe committee making the final selections.

The two winners and the runners-up were honored at a special luncheon at the hospital last week.

Both winners will be entered in the area-wide contest sponsored by the Chicago Hospital Council to find the Chicago-area "Patient of the Year" and "Employe of the Year." The seventh annual council awards will be presented at a luncheon May 9 during the celebration of Hospital Week in Chicago. (B8

Along the Camp Fire Trail

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Friskey Fawns, led by Mrs. Ann Inselberger, "flew up" at the recent Grand Council Fire and are eager to start their requirements for Trail Seeker Rank. Recent guests at their meeting were Ellen Olsen and Karen Platt of the Ta-Cin-Ca Camp Fire Group, who explained honors, ranks and Indian symbols to the group. Karen and Ellen are invited to return to teach favorite Camp Fire songs to Janice Dunn, Susan Inselberger, Germaine Kehli, Cathy Lindmark, Leslie Raitt, Debra Zare and Pam Zoellick.

Bonnye Blue Bird group led by Mrs. Dorothy Cryer, visited the Sugar Bowl in Des Plaines to see candy being made. They were thrilled to watch a nested hen being molded in chocolate, and marveled at the large candy and ice cream making machines. Grand finale was the treat of dixie cups and chocolate candy. This busy group is working on seed pictures. On small picture frames with cardboard backing, they have traced various pictures and then filled in with spices, ground coffee, and seeds etc.

Susan Kendall, scribe of the To-He-Cums, reports the following: April 3, 1962, the To-He-Cums Camp Fire group had Mrs. Gordan Ward, registered nurse, as a guest. She taught the girls to read a thermometer so that they could earn honor 610 in Home Craft. Mrs. Gertrude Markstrom, a sponsor mother, helped at this meeting. Leader of this group is Mrs. Trudy Kendall; co-leader is Mrs. Lois Hodges.

CANDY SALE

Safety rules: Do not enter any homes, even if you know the people.

Go in pairs in your own neighborhood. Go into new territory only with an adult. Be polite. Wear your service costume.

In addition to the 5 cents per box that the group earns in the sale, a girl can earn $2.50 towards her camp experience at Tiyalaka or Day Camp by selling 50 boxes of candy.

Each girl selling 12 boxes will receive a special parchment certificate which she can hang in her room or put in her memory book. One suggestion for the carton, when the candy is sold, is to use it at Day Camp as a carry-all.

The candy sale counts as a current or annual project toward rank for Camp Fire girls. Re-order dates are April 13 and April 20.

MOUNT PROSPECT

Busy Bee Blue Birds made a second trip to the Goodman Theatre in Chicago March 31. This time they enjoyed the "Tom Sawyer" production. On the way home there was a stop-off treat at Fred Harvey's "Oasis" along the tollway. The girls, Robin Mells, Patricia Palmer, Laurie Yoder, Vicki Stubbs, Marlene Oster, Terry Cahill, Linda, Langpop and Kathy O'Rourke, were driven to the theatre by Mrs. L. Langpop, Mrs. S. Mells, and Mrs. B. Cahill.

Scribe Jane Beesley of the Le-Wa-Nick-A-Wadis Camp Fire Girls reports that her group recently made decorations for the Regional 1X Conference. These decorations consisted of 25 forsythia branches created out of wire and crepe paper. Girls joining Jane in the project were Nancy and Susan Bornhoeft, Carol Knechtel, Penny Landis, Jacqueline Madigan, Patricia Olsta, Shelley Pierce, Linda Rogers and Diane Skafte. (B9

COUNCIL MEETING

The council held March 29 at Rand Park field house in Des Plaines proved to be an interesting evening for all concerned. The business portion of the program included the election of Mrs. E. Gallup of Mount Prospect to the position of second vice president and Mrs. Charles Johnson of Park Ridge to the chairmanship of public relations.

An announcement was made concerning the new program in scouting to begin in September 1963. There will be four levels: second and third grade Brownie Girl Scouts; fourth, fifth and sixth grade, Juniors; seventh, eighth and ninth grade, Cadettes; 10th, 11th and 12th grade Seniors.

A demonstration was presented by the Roundup patrols, Senior Scouts who are to attend a gathering of 8500 Seniors at Buttons Bay, Vt., the largest encampment of teen-age girls in this country. Attending will be scouts from every state and a number of foreign countries.

Sue Yates of Arlington Heights, who was the council selectee for the All-States encampment of 1961, shared her experience through color slides of the trip.

Mrs. Charles Schaefer, a student at the recent Arts Caravan Workshop at George Williams Camp, brought crafts with her for display.

PALATINE

March 17, Mariner Ship Daniel A. Joy gave a St. Patrick's Day party in the home of Mrs. D. V. Sargol, leader. Two explorer troops from Glenview and Deerfield were the guests of the girls.

The Mariners planned an "old fashioned" theme for the evening. Highlights of the party were the taffy-pull and ice cream making. The ice cream was appropriately green and the scouts prepared many types of toppings.

By the conclusion of the evening almost everyone had tried their luck at a game of ping pong, shuffle board, planned games and group singing. The group departed from their theme only for some "twisting."

NORTH EAST ARLINGTON

All Troops of North School held their first "Get Together" during which Mrs. Beck conducted a "Sing A Long." These sessions are planned ahead, one for each month, in hopes of sharing ideas, songs and games. March 13, Intermediate troops 41 and 474 gave an International Friendship party to celebrate Girl Scout Week and to complete the International Friendship requirement for Second Class. Their guests were Flyup Brownie troop 175 and Intermediate troop 808.

Brownies in troop 749 made tray favors for Northwest Community Hospital. They were received by the Pink Ladies, who took them on a tour of the first floor of the hospital. March 27, Troop 749 visited Memorial Library. Miss Lindsay spoke to the troop and explained the functions of the library and the "how-to" for finding books of of their choice.

Elk Grove Village Brownie troop 860 visited the local Fire Department and Brownie troop 860 visited the Police Department.

Girl Scouts of the Wheeling and Buffalo Grove areas will hear a talk Friday evening, April 6, by Veterinarian Dr. Ian Taylor. Dr. Taylor will consider requirements for the dog and cat badge in his talk, and plans to include a discussion period on care of pets. This special meeting will be at Mark Twain School on Merle Lane at 8 p.m. Parents of scouts will be guests.

'Big Blast' Film to Be Shown Here

This Saturday night, April 14, at 7:30 p.m. Northwest Suburban Youth for Christ is showing the new film, "The Big Blast." The film was produced in cooperation with the United States Department of Defense and the United States Forestry Service.

Filmed on location at the McChord Air Force Base, and Mt. Rainier National Park, Wash., the film has been praised by government officials.

In the film, when Air Force Captain Bob Emory returns home, he finds not only the assignment of testing the high speed jet interceptor, the F-106, in his line of duty, but also the more important task of breaking the barrier that has grown between himself and his younger brother, Jeff.

ALL THE action of Air Force activity, plus the suspense and grandeur of hazardous ski jumping competition on the slopes of Mt. Rainier, makes this whole color feature of interest.

Besides the film, the Grand Rapids School of Music, Girls Ensemble, will also be performing April 14.

The film will be shown at the Miner School auditorium in Arlington Heights. (b8

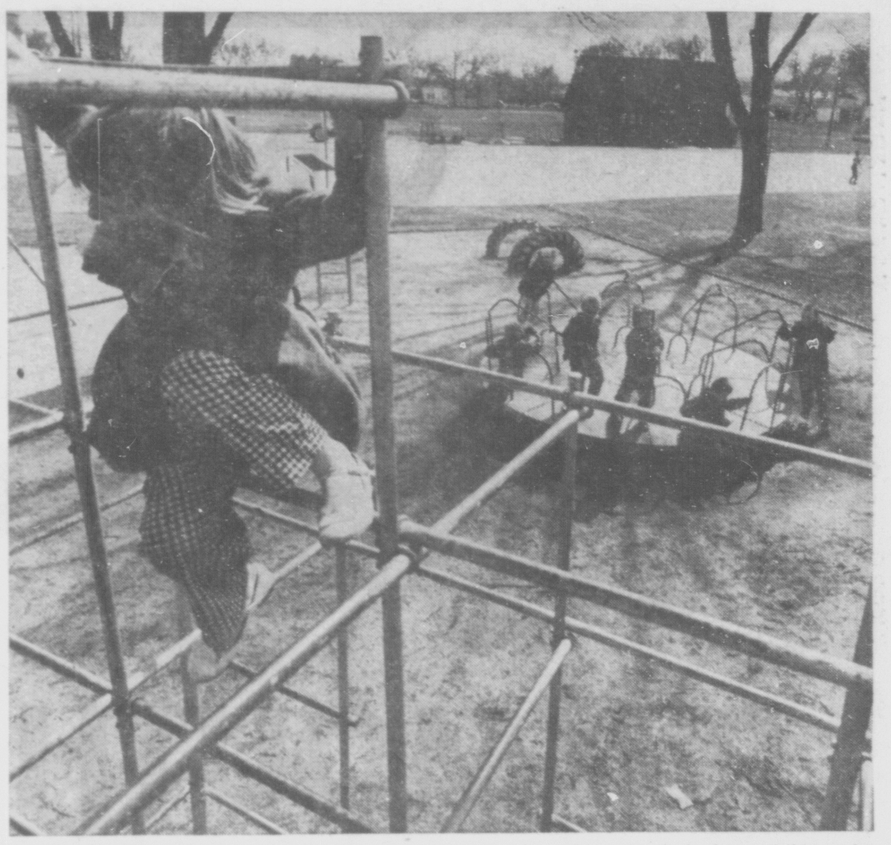
Q. Where should one's return address be properly placed on the envelope of a letter?

A. The preferred position is in the upper lefthand corner of the face of the envelope, although when the envelope is too small for this, the return address is sometimes written on the back flap.



TAKE A TRIP TO fantasyland, where you can be a circus aerialist or flash around the world in 80 revolutions per minute. It's all at Recreation Park in Arlington Heights, but also at all other parks this spring. Only thing is, trips are limited to children for whom there are no limitations save their imaginations and the lengthening shadows that will announce too soon the arrival of dinnertime.

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall — CLearbrook 5-2936

Mrs. Clyde Eberhardt, 432 S. Waterman, has just returned from a trip which she will never forget, a 17-day tour of Europe. She and her husband visited France, Luxembourg, West Germany, Switzerland and Austria, with a tour of Iceland for good measure when her Icelandic Airlines DC68 stopped over for several hours.

In Mrs. Eberhardt's opinion, the town of Heidelberg was the most memorable with its Heidelberg castle and general fairy tale atmosphere. The travelers skied in the Bavarian Alps and were turned back from a trip in the Swiss Alps by an avalanche. There was no part of the trip that the Eberhardts did not enjoy, but they report that Luxembourg and Germany were the most impressive.

MRS. CHARLES Miner, 421 S. Gibbons, was surprised last Thursday evening when she visited her next door neighbor, Mrs. Gerald Mertens, to play bridge and found she was guest of honor at a baby shower instead. The party was attended by 15 of Mrs. Miner's friends from the neighborhood. Co-hostesses were Mrs. F. D. McGuire, Mrs. John O'Neill and Mrs. Everett Needleman.

Tommy Leistikow's 11 birthday, April 9, was celebrated at a family dinner that day. Tommy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Leistikow, 512 S. Forrest.

Residents of Arlington Acres who are members of a birthday club, gathered at the home of Mrs. James Glynn, 2123 E. Grove, Monday afternoon to attend a "coffee" in honor of Mrs. Burton Soderberg, 436 S. Phelps, who was celebrating her April 8 birthday.

On the previous day, the Soderbergs, with their son, Douglas, held a family celebration at Johnston's in Chicago, when they had dinner in the Safari Room, where enjoyment of the food is enhanced by the authenticity of the atmosphere.

ALTHOUGH Philip, son of the Philip Hagens, 2023 E. Park, was 7 years old April 2, his parties were held the following week. Last Saturday afternoon Philip played host at a cake and ice cream affair to school and neighborhood friends including Robert Welch, Steven Oswald, John Buirley, Robert Thompson, Jerry Tillman and brother, Scott, of Arlington Heights, and Donny, Jimmy and David Hanetho of Palatine. Ray Seeber, who was ill, sent regrets.

On Sunday the birthday boy was guest of honor at a buffet supper given by his parents and attended by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hagen of Williams Bay, Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beckmann of Chicago, and by an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hagen with their children, Lynne, Neil and Robin, of Park Ridge. VIRGINIA TERRACE

April Showers in the Terrace this week brought some unusual April Flowers . . .

Such as the lavendar blooms on the "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary" cake placed in front of Mrs. Stella Larson at a surprise birthday celebration held in her honor last Thursday night. Hosted by Shirley Vogtritter, 1208 N. Race, it was attended by Mrs. Larson's neighbors and friends, including Diane Trees, Darlene Krug, Carol Narup, Connie Dolejs, Rae Martin and her daughter-in-law, Edith. Jeanne Denson was unable to attend.

John, son of Kenneth and Lynn McCarns, 1425 N. Wilke, celebrated his 10th birthday last Friday with a family party. Guests included his brother, Mikey, and sister, Kelly Jo, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon McCarns, whose 10-day visit here from Wilmington, Del., happily coincided with John's birthday. Following the festivities, John joined his friends from church and they proceeded to Camp Willowbay in Green Bay, Wis., for a weekend program.

LAST WEDNESDAY Marilyn Owen, 1452 Yale, and her daughter, Carol, attended the benefit luncheon and style show for the "Friends of Orphans" held in the new ballroom of Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Entertaining weekend guests were Mag and Martin Corley, 1326 N. Chicago. Arriving Friday from Milwaukee were Mag's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Barribeau Sr., and her brother and family, the junior Francis Barribeaus.

John, son of Jack and Donna Garland, 1317 N. Chicago, celebrated his 11th birthday last Saturday night with a family dinner party at Jack Diamond's Restaurant.

Recently Jo and Les Rozdalovsky, 1321 N. Race, and their daughters, Shirley and Mary Jo, traveled to Milwaukee to visit Jo's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph La Presti, and to dually celebrate the birthdays of Les and Mrs. La Presti. Guests included Jo's grandfather, Sam Karrao, and her brother and family, the Ned La Prestis.

A BIRTHDAY party, complete with pony rides, was held in honor of Jimmy Kohler, 1330 N. Chicago, last Saturday. Hosted by his parents, Lou and Elaine, and held at Arcadia Farms, guests included Guy Eisenhuth, Kevin Wiederhold, Kevin Corley, Robin Corley, Mary Jo Rozdalovsky, Michael and Judy Lindholm, Alan Cech, Richard Sorenson and former Terrace playmate, Larry Visk. Following ice cream treats at the farms, everyone adjourned to the Kohler home for birthday cake bearing Jimmy's six candles.

Recently newcomers Bill and Bonnie Misch, 1329 N. Wilke, were the surprised recipients of a housewarming party, hosted by family and friends. Guests included both sets of parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Misch, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Mitchell, of Chicago, Bonnie's grandmother, Mrs. George Mitchell of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bebber, Des Plaines, Mrs. Marianne Osborn, Chicago, along with friends, the Ronald Schoenfelds, Arlington Heights, Kenley Bredfeldts, Palatine, and the Gerald Fulgenzis, Chicago.

A family party was held April 7 for Lori, daughter of Gene and Ann Mardarino, 1264 N. Race, who was 5.

ON TUESDAY of last week a family party was held to celebrate the seventh birthday of Bob, son of James and Rose Marie Amann, 1409 N. Wilke. Guests, in addition to his sisters, Catherine and Dawn, and brother, Bob, were his great grandmother, Mrs. Albert Nolting, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Amann and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Weidner, all of Arlington Heights.

"Catching-up" was the main activity in the Kellogg household, 1341 N. Wilke, last weekend when Vaneta's sister, Mrs. Thelma Shreve, whom she hadn't seen in two years, arrived from Great Bend, Kan. On hand to enjoy the reunion was Ray, along with children, Whitney and Jean, who also greeted their grandmother, Mrs. Vivia Whitney of Arlington Heights, who had been visiting her daughter in Kansas and returned with her.

Employing a pre-Easter theme, complete with candy-filled eggs and jelly bean trimmed birthday cake, was Nicky Caprara, 1217 N. Chicago, who celebrated his sixth birthday last Monday. Hosted by his parents, Michael and Sue, party guests included Steven Landes, Greg Schaefer, Mike Herbert, James Noon, Bobby Ninneman, Jeff Krug and Kurt Weiditz.

A family birthday dinner was held last Sunday night in honor of Judith, daughter of Ray and Jeanne Parks, 1259 N. Wilke, who was 3. Attending were her grandmother, Mrs. Clara Liepitz, and aunt, uncle and cousins, the John Heidmann family, all of Elgin, in addition to Judy's brother, Robert, and sisters, Nancy and Susan. (A

Complete Final Plans For Safety Saturdays

Final plans have been set for the three "Safety Saturdays" to be held in May, when Arlington Heights area motorists will have an opportunity to get their cars checked at "safety road" on W. Northwest Highway, free of charge.

The campaign, set for May 5, 12 and 19, is being sponsored by the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club and Safety Council, and has been officially endorsed by the village board.

The 10-to 15-minute inspection will include a check of the exhaust system, steering, brakes, lights, tires, windshield wipers, and other parts vital to safety.

CURT Kenyon, chairman of the Chamber and Lions safety committees, said motorists will be under no obligation to repair defects revealed in the inspection, although they probably will want to repair them in the interests of the safety of themselves and their families.

For the checkup, John Heinz and his son, Jack, of Arlington Fender & Body Shop, will provide the use of their facilities and the service of a mechanic. In addition, some 15 Lions and Chamber members will be on hand each of the three Saturdays.

MOTORISTS whose autos pass the examination will be given safety - checked stickers.

The "safety road" project will be loosely tied in with bicycle safety checks which will be administered by the village police department during May. (A and a lot more!

BOLENS HUSKY 600
THE TRACTOR WITH THE HALF-MINUTE HITCH...

Never before has so much engineering know-how been poured into a 6-hp tractor. Speed of attachment-change alone puts the HUSKY 'way out in front of its competition. BOLENS engineers call the HUSKY'S 3-point hitch (with splined power take-off) "the half-minute hitch"...and they're being conservative.
Eleven Fast-Switch attachments mean year-round usefulness. Mow with the 32-inch rotary mower shown above. A 22-inch tiller attachment gives you easy, convenient tilling. The 32-inch Sno-Caster makes snow removal a pleasure...for light snow use the 42-inch grader blade. These and seven other attachments make the HUSKY 600 an all-season worker.

PLUS:
• All gear transmission with 6 speeds forward and 2 reverse • One-pedal clutch-and-brake action • 6-position attachment lift • 6-hp Briggs & Stratton engine

Try out the HUSKY 600 for yourself. See us today.

Local Men Awarded High Scout Honor

Two local men, long active in Boy Scout work, have been awarded the Wood Badge in recognition of their having completed an intensive training program.

They are Mynderse H. (Mike) Taylor, 200 S. Owen, Mount Prospect, and Edward Timmerman, 135 E. Algonquin, Arlington Heights.

Wood Badge training, according to Arthur R. Leu, 1320 Dorothy, Palatine, chairman of the Blackhawk Scout District's executive committee, is a comprehensive adult leadership program encompassing a theoretical (written) examination, a practical eight-day outdoor experience and a six-months' application (service) period.

IT WAS established in 1919 by the founder of the Scouting movement, Lord Robert Baden-Powell, who stated:

"One of the purposes of Wood Badge training is to get men to think about the practice of Scouting, to meet together, to exchange experiences, and to live together in the spirit of the Scout Oath."

In 1948, Wood Badge training was inaugurated in the United States. Since that time it has grown and developed until it has become a leading force in the training of volunteer leaders in the Boy Scout movement. Holders of the award may be identified by the badge only worn with their uniform.

It consists of two wooden beads worn on a leather thong around the neck, a replica of the beads captured from an African chieftain by Baden-Powell in 1888. (A & M

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

In case you didn't know it, "home, sweet home" is responsible for many sour notes for the home-loving citizenry.

Home accidents, for example, kill more children in the 1-4 age group than any disease.

Falls, fires, and accidental poisoning are among the greatest dangers.

Danger points to watch out for are water or grease on kitchen floors, unlighted stairs, toys and boxes piled on stair steps, oily rags or papers left in a basement corner, rubbing alcohol, candy-coated medication, or aspirin left in reach of tots and pots on the stove, with handles turned out and in reach of small hands.

Still on the subject of accidents — replacement glass for home or auto is available at PALATINE PAINT & GLASS CO. Insurance repairs are made quickly by PALATINE PAINT & GLASS CO., 9-11 North Bothwell. Phone FL 9-0954.

Burke Closes Term at Helm

Roger Burke, a member of the Board of Education of District 25 for the past six years and president the past year, wielded the gavel for the last time Monday night and received the accolade of his fellow board members.

When voters cast their ballots Saturday, they will choose a man to replace Burke, who is not seeking re-election.

"I leave this board with many regrets," Burke said at the conclusion of the Monday night meeting, "but I am sure the work will be continued and the best interests of the district served."

BURKE SAID he believes the board has functioned smoothly, efficiently and without controversy in the past, noting that it has not become split into factions, nor become prejudiced, and it has worked in close harmony with the school administration.

Board member Ralph McGee expressed the sentiments of the board.

"The rest of the board expresses its appreciation for the long hours and the effort you have devoted to the school district," he said. "I'm sure that many citizens of Arlington Heights do not realize the great contribution you have made to the district during your six years on the board."

Burke's last get-together with the board will be April 23, when he attends the organizational meeting of the new board. (A

Hunt Gunman In Killing of Tavern Owner

Using an Identi-Kit sketch as a guide, police continued the search this week for the gunman who killed a Palatine tavern owner early last Saturday morning and wounded his wife.

Dead is Everett McCrea, 44, part owner of Mac and Al's Corner Tap, 60 N. Bothwell St., Palatine. His wife, Louise, 42, was reported in good condition Tuesday at Northwest Community Hospital.

Police described the shooting this way:

After sitting in the tavern for two or three hours Friday night, the man left and returned about 12:45 a.m. Saturday, knocking at the back door and asking to purchase some beer. After the sale, he forced a gun into Mrs. McCrea's back.

She grabbed the muzzle of the .22 calibre pistol, forcing it downward as it discharged. A bullet went through her left thigh. McCrea ran from the bar and pinned the gunman to the wall, grappling with him while Mrs. McCrea attempted to call police from the telephone booth.

SHE STEPPED out of the booth and was shot twice more, both bullets lodging in her body. She ducked back in the booth, heard one more shot and something heavy hit the floor. When she looked, her husband was lying on the floor and the gunman was gone, apparently escaping through the back door.

In the meantime, a telephone operator had switched the call to the Palatine police department, where the deskman heard four shots over the telephone.

PATRONS IN THE tavern earlier, when the suspected killer was there, have provided police with a description, and an Identi-Kit photo of the suspect has been made up. The seriousness of Mrs. McCrea's injuries prevented police from questioning her until Monday.

Police believe the gunman intended to hold up the tavern, but became panicky.

The McCreas have a son, 12, and a daughter, 9. The daughter is reported to have learned of the fatal shooting when it was reported over a radio news broadcast as she was driving with friends. An inquest is pending. (A

Eastwood Events

Last Saturday Suzanne Anderson was taken by surprise when eight girls honored her at a "Sweet Sixteen" party. Enjoying the fried chicken dinner, birthday cake and cookies were Linda Baker, Karla Stelling, Sandy Johnson, Mary Coleman, Mary Ann Glover and Carol Cory. Out-of-town friends were Mary Lou Niksich from Chicago and Sue Bliss of Lake Forest.

On Sunday the 8th, Suzanne's real birthday, there was another dinner party at the Anderson home for 25 friends and relatives, which included Sue's niece, two-year old Beverly Jo Levine. Suzanne is the daughter of the Gus Andersons, 614 N. Beverley Lane.

Eunice and Ken Behms' German Shepherd took third place in his class in the International Kennel Club show Saturday and Sunday at the International Amphiteatre. Officially known as Xantos Von Hohe-Lind, the 10-month old dog was among 107 German Shepherds entered.

CULMINATING many months of planning, Mrs. H. Barrows Ayres, as contest chairman, was among those present last Friday at the judging of the GFWC Sewing Contest. The affair was held at the home of Mrs. Z. Rogozinski. After the judging, buffet luncheon was served to guests and contestants. Mrs. Ayres is also American Home Chairman of the 7th District.

Sincerest sympathy is extended to the Bruce McBride family of Brighton Place on the death of Mr. McBride's father, Chester McBride, in Rochester, N.Y. The McBrides went to New York for the services and since returning a week ago they have all been ill with flu which is very prevalent in Rochester.

Accompanied by Louise and Bob Luedeking and Mrs. Norine Farrell, Eleanor and George Farrel attended the annual dinner dance of the Mother Cabrini Hospital last Saturday night at the Chateau Royal in Chicago.

This Sunday the Farrell family, along with relatives and friends, will drive to Milwaukee to attend the Spring Concert at Alverno College. Their daughter, Norine, a senior at the school, is a member of the choral group appearing in the concert.

NEW NEIGHBORS at 203 N. Brighton Place, the former Robert Tatge residence, are Mr. and Mrs. John VanVee, who have recently been transferred to the area from Detroit, Mich. Mr. Van Vee is employed by the Chicago Rawhide Co. The VanVees have two children, Jack, 9, a student at Windsor school and a 16-year old daughter who is finishing out the school year in Detroit before joining her family in their new home.

One of the final bridge games in the Eastwood Tournament before the awards dinner next month, was played in the home of the Bud Scullys Saturday night. Guests were Dick and Virginia Vlach, Nina and Norm-Hoym and Herm and Dorothy Raasch, who subbed for Alice and Norman Esthus.

After 12 busy-every-minute days in Florida, Vera and Herman Mell are back home at 207 N. Lincoln. After jetting to Miami, the Mells rented a car and drove to Fort Lauderdale. Visiting with friends in Pompano Beach and seeing many of the famous night spots were among the many pleasures of their vacation. Highlight of their trip was a deep sea fishing expedition, and Vera's catch of a king mackerel, a green dolphin and a bonito, made her the champion of the boat. Mr. Mell boasted of catching a red snapper.

RECENTLY MR. and Mrs. Richard Bronwell were hosts at a farewell dinner for their long-time friend Roland Hopp. After dinner, a group of men friends of Mr. Hopps joined them for an evening of cards and to say goodbye to Mr. Hopp who is moving to Milwaukee since the recent death of his wife.

This afternoon Mrs. Bronwell will model at the fashion show held in conjunction with the annual salad luncheon at the First Methodist Church. Clothes featured at the show have all been sewn by the models themselves. (A

Sears' Psychologist

Name Frank Smith to Head Cancer Crusade

Frank J. Smith, of 1523 Kaspar, Arlington Heights, has been named chairman of the American Cancer Society's 1962 Cancer Crusade in Arlington Heights. The educational and fund-raising drive is set for the week of April 23.

Smith is psychologist and director of employe attitude surveys for Sears, Roebuck & Company.

He said 1962 has been designated as Cancer Progress Year by American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute in recognition of the "remarkable progress made in the last 25 years against cancer in the laboratory, the hospital, the doctor's office and in the public's attitude."

SMITH said the increase in the number of persons who are being cured of cancer today as opposed to 25 years ago is due primarily to two factors:

1. Developments in the research laboratories which have resulted in improved treatment by surgery, radiation and chemicals.

2. Public and professional education, combined with more general use of the best methods of diagnosis, treatment and prevention.

Smith said that over the last few years, there has been a pronounced trend toward earlier diagnosis.

"EARLIER diagnosis means a far better chance of cure. Some believe that more can be done through education against cancer than against any other disease."

He appealed for a record turnout of volunteers "to make sure that the progress against cancer will not only continue but be stepped up."

He added that educational leaflets must be distributed to save lives now and funds must be raised if the American Cancer Society is to carry on its research, education and service programs.

SMITH urges volunteers telephone him at CL 9-4774 "to help make 1962 a real Cancer Progress Year."

FRANK J. SMITH

Smith is a member of the American Psychological Association, Midwestern Psychological Association, and Illinois Psychological Association. He is the author of articles in professional journals and a lecturer at Loyola University.

He holds degrees from the University of Illinois, Iowa State College, and a Ph.D. from the Illinois Institute of Technology. He is a member of the Hasbrook Civic Association. (A

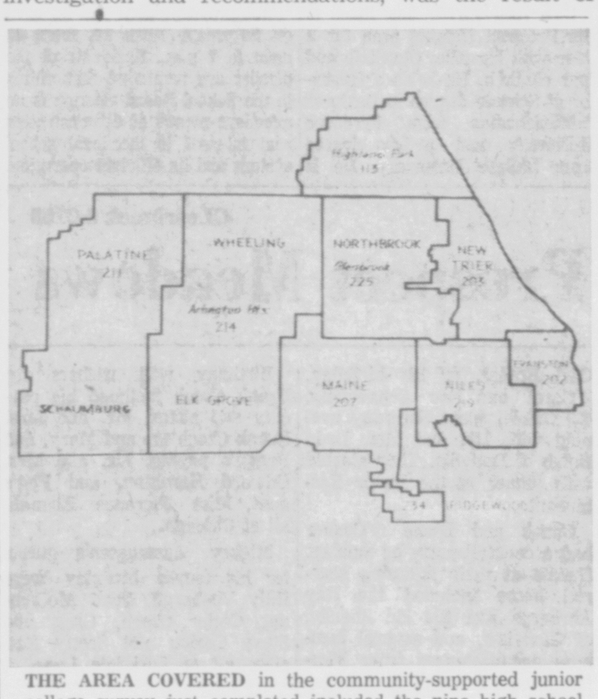
Survey Recommends Area Junior College

Final Report Is Issued by Group

(This is the first of a series of six articles covering the major recommendations of the junior college survey just completed by the 90-member citizens committee from nine high school districts included in the proposed college area.)

The establishment of a junior college district, with an initial two-campus plan, was the major recommendation of the North Suburban Chicago Regional College Survey which "closed shop" last Wednesday, April 4.

The final report, covering more than 100 pages of investigation and recommendations, was the result of months of study by a 90-member citizens committee. Ten committee members were named from each of the nine high school districts included in the survey, with a team of university experts in various phases of education assisting their work.



THE AREA COVERED in the community-supported junior college survey just completed included the nine high school districts shown above. A "core" area for immediate action was developed covering the districts of Arlington-Prospect, Maine, Niles, Glenbrook and Palatine-Schaumburg, with the school districts in Evanston, New Trier, Highland Park and Ridgewood potential "core" members.

BASIC recommendation of the report is the establishment of a junior college district in a "core" area covering the high school districts of Arlington-Prospect, Niles, Maine, Glenbrook and Palatine-Schaumburg. The survey notes this area is "relatively more ready" to establish a college district than the other four districts included. The remaining four areas — Evanston, New Trier, Highland Park or Ridgewood — could join the "core" college district at any time prior to the official referendum which is required to form the district. These districts indicated a need for "additional time" to consider the survey findings and sample public opinion.

Among the major findings of the survey is the fact that any one of the high school districts, except Ridgewood, would have sufficient assessed valuation to meet requirements for a junior college district set up in state laws. Initial cost of construction of the college is estimated at about $20 million. The cost of construction and operating costs would be met by state support, tuition and real estate taxes.

This support is estimated at about $200 per student by the state, with tuition set at about $150. A tax rate of approximately $.25 per $100 valuation would provide ample funds for retirement of the initial bond issue and all educational and operating expenses. The larger the final area covered by the college district the lower the actual tax figures would be.

SURVEY projections indicate initial enrollments at more than 5,000 students if a junior college were open today. The committee noted that even if a referendum passed before the end of this year it would be difficult to have facilities ready prior to 1966.

Because of this delay, the survey suggested that at least two sites be considered for purchase. Each site should accommodate as near to 5,000 students as possible, the survey recommended, but a maximum enrollment of 5,000 should be established for a college of this type it was noted. Additional campuses could be utilized for future building, located at advantageous points in the district.

In the study of curriculum, the survey committee recommended the junior college place its major emphasis on college-parallel or college-transfer programs, urging care "in the design of the educational offering to be certain that the requirements of the appropriate accrediting agencies are met."

The survey committee also recommended that a college level technical or sub-professional educational program be included as a part of the offering of each basic campus or instructional unit.

OTHER MAJOR recommendations in the curriculum field include comprehensive guidance and counseling service and a continuing education program. Physical education programs should be limited initially to intra-mural activities, the committee suggested.

Supplementing the total educational program, the survey recommends informal cultural activities consisting of such areas as music, forensics and dramatics.

The formal establishment of a junior-college district would require several legal steps, climaxed by a referendum.

First work to be done at present is announcement of the survey findings to residents of the high school districts. After discussion, explanatory meetings and sampling of public opinion, the "core" area may petition for establishment of a college district. This petition, submitted to the county superintendent of schools, will be studied by the county superintendent and the state superintendent of public instruction. If their study upholds the validity of the survey investigation then the county superintendent is empowered to hold public hearings on the petition.

FOLLOWING these hearings, the county superintendent must deny or grant the petition. If his findings are favorable he will then call for a referendum. To be approved, the junior college proposition must receive a favorable vote of the majority of total votes cast in incorporated areas and a majority of total votes cast in unincoroprated areas.

If approved by voters, an election for a seven-member school board for the college district would be held within 30 days.

James G. Lindsey, 1121 N. Douglas, Arlington Heights, has been named chairman of the Blackhawk District organization and extension committee by Arthur R. Leu, 1320 Dorothy Drive, Palatine, who is chairman of the over-all committee of the district.

Lindsey is currently serving as the institutional representative of the St. James Holy Name Society. In this capacity, he supervises the operation of three Cub packs and two Scout troops that are sponsored by the Holy Name at St. James.

PREVIOUSLY, he had served for several years as a member of the Pack 32 committee at the First Prebyterian Church.

As chairman of organization and extension, Lindsey will be in charge of all new Cub Packs, Scout Troops and Explorer Posts organized in Arlington Heights, Prospect Heights, Mount Prospect, and Elk Grove. New units are currently being organized by members of Lindsey's committee.

THE MEN involved are Ted Seiler, Don Marquis, John Moehling, Louis Ritzma and Donald Traver of Arlington Heights; Jack Wigren, Albert Smedley, S. Howard Boll and Robert Starck of Mount Prospect; and Charles Paveza of Prospect Heights.

IN 1961, these men set a regional record by increasing the membership of the Blackhawk district 16.3 per cent. Well over 2500 boys are now active in the year-round Scouting program of the four villages that make up the district.

The Blackhawk District is one of five districts in the Northwest Suburban Council. The Council serves over 11,00 boys in northwest Cook County and is an active participating member of the Mt. Prospect and Prospect Heights Combined Appeals; Des Plaines, Schiller Park and Suburban Community Chests; The United Funds of Niles Township, Park Ridge and Barrington. (ACM

Country Chords Win Regional Honors

Mount Prospect's Country Chords Chapter earned two top honors last weekend when Sweet Adelines, Inc. held its annual region 3 competition in Rockford.

During the 2-day competition, the Casuals, barbershop quartet from the Country Chords, placed fourth out of 11 in the quartet competition Saturday evening, and the following day the Country Chords chorus placed second among the 15 entries in the chorus competition.

Sixty area women make up the membership of the chapter and sing barbershop harmony at 8 p.m. each Tuesday in South Church, Community Baptist, Mount Prospect. Director is Miss Phyllis Haeger of La Grange. (S

Laments Homemaker:

Spring Cleaning Is Just for the Birds

by BETTY AINSLIE

When someone nostalgically mentions about "the good old days" it always brings up a picture of my mother in the yearly throes of housecleaning. Spring meant only one thing then, that every room in the house would be turned inside out all at once; so that I wondered where I might spread out my homework and dad always decided on a sudden business trip out of town.

With the first warm breeze, every clothesline in town would be sagging with the weight of the king sized rugs which had to have the grime beaten out of them before they were considered clean enough to go back on sparkling floors.

REMEMBER coming home from school to be greeted by a mother in house dress and dust cap sweeping up a storm from attic to basement?

The idea seemed to be just how many rooms could be made impossible for habitation in one day. The living room had rugs gone, curtains down, all the pictures piled on chairs, chairs which had all their cushions now reposing on newspapers in the backyard for a good airing and beating.

That ingenuous piece of bent wire fastened with a wooden handle was the most popular utensil in the house for a week or as long as good weather held. A carpet beater was standard equipment in every house, and you just weren't neat if your rugs didn't appear on the line on schedule.

EVERY ROOM was chilly because once this frenzy of cleaning took hold there was no turning back. Mom worked up such a lather she never felt the coolness — anyway with all the windows open we were bound to air out all the germs stored over the winter and upsetting the family's equilibrium was just a part of the tidying up process.

I can smell that linseed-oil soap now which always assailed my nostrils for at least two weeks every time I opened the door on a house that was undergoing the transformation of spring.

Meals were sketchy and often eaten standing up. Mom was tired out and snappy so we kids all walked softly until the house wore off some of its new cleaning.

NO WONDER the girls that grew up remembering Ma in her dustcap decided when they had a house of their own this Spring housecleaning, the upsetting of the whole house was for the birds. Sure we still housecleaned but not the old fashioned tornado method. We don't wait for a housecleaning season. So the curtains get dirty in the Winter, we wash them in the Winter — thanks I suppose to washers and dryers and drip dry fabrics we can have curtains down and up again in a few hours.

Now the modern wife faces the ordeal of Spring housecleaning calmly and unconcerned. Here's what she's been doing all year:

A. She's rotated the thorough cleaning of various rooms. Maybe on a dull and uninteresting day she cleans dresser drawers or cupboards, by putting a washable covering on them it takes only a swish of a wet sponge to have them always sparkling. For the dishes seldom used there are nice, handy plastic covers so stacks of good china stay fresh and clean from one company dinner to the next.

B. THE PAINT in a couple of rooms looks a bit dull and finger marked so she puts the hex on Pop to roll on some fresh, or calls in a painter anytime — painters charge less in Winter anyway.

C. Windows are washed when the storms go up and washed when they come down — on the outside that is — inside they get a frequent squirt from window cleaning aids and stay bright.

D. She rents a floor polisher and waxer and does the floors several times during the year, so why make a big production out of doing them in the Spring.

E. MATTRESSES ARE turned whenever you can catch Pop to give you a helping hand and we don't change from Winter to Summer curtains and bedding — just remove the electric blanket — everyone uses sheets all seasons anyway.

F. The rugs are vacuumed with better equipment than Mom had so they don't need the life beaten out of them in the Spring. There are rug cleaners to rent or the whole job will be done for you by a rug cleaning company.

G. Clothes from closets are brushed and aired on any sunny day and phooey to the moths. Most fabrics are moth proofed today.

Come housecleaning season we don't abandon friends and set up dust storms in our houses. Each room came in for a thorough cleaning as we rotated the housework all year, and weekly brush ups keep them ready to pass the white glove inspection.

So let's put on that soft something that feels like Spring — call up a neighbor — and be off to salute the wizards, the wonderful wizards who invented work saving devices for us, so that we can spend glorious days outside sniffing the smell of a full scented Spring between the stores at, say, Old Orchard.

The words of some men are thrown forcibly against you and adhere like burs.—Henry David Thoreau

'Grandmother' Off To Asian Mission

Accepts Post In Hospital

by JOHN REDDY

Grandmothers traditionally capture the fancy of their children's children with stories of the past. But the 11 grandchildren of Mrs. Evelyn Kraemer, 205 S. Dryden, Arlington Heights, soon will be telling friends stories of their grandmother that may be hard to top.

Mrs. Kraemer is departing this month for India, where she will participate in the World Brotherhood Exchange, a service auxiliary for Christian churches that assists in a world missionary program. She will serve at the Betul Hospital, Madhya Pradesh, northeast India, as an obstetrical nursing instructor.

THE WARM, re-assuring smile is familiar to many northwest suburban parents, who remember Mrs. Kraemer as one of the corps of nurses caring for expectant mothers at Northwest Community Hospital. She has been serving there since the hospital opened in late 1959.

Mrs. Kraemer came to the northwest suburban area from Milwaukee, where her husband, the Rev. Irwin R. Kraemer, had been serving as pastor of a Lutheran church at the time of his death. She re-entered nursing after 32 years by taking refresher courses at Evanston Hospital, where she earned her RN in 1925.

"I went into nursing with the idea of doing missionary work," she said, explaining that she looks forward to the trip "without any fears."

SHE ORIGINALLY was scheduled to serve in Nepal, a small country in the rugged Himalaya Mountains of Asia. The Betul assignment will be for three months. She can stay there if she likes it or go on to Nepal.

The World Brotherhood Exchange currently is seeking skilled recruits that are retired, semi-retired or financially solvent younger men and women. Mrs. Kraemer waited for a year to learn of her acceptance in the program, almost giving up hope.

SINCE THE death of her husband, Mrs. Kraemer has been looking for a "special challenge" that would utilize her nursing experience and at the same time fill her hours with a "sense of doing something for someone who needs help."

She had been asked to be a matron for a home for aged and to serve as parish worker. These did not appeal to her. She learned of the World Brotherhood Exchange program by reading a church magazine at Our Savior's Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights, where she has participated in women's club activities and sang in the choir.

She said that since learning of her appointment she has been reading about the country and the need for the program in which she will be participating. "The more I read the more anxious I am to go."

SHE HAS three daughters and a son, whose reaction to their mother's plan has been one of approval. The grandchildren, however, persist in asking why she's going.

Co-workers at the hospital raise the same question, says Mrs. Kraemer. "Some think I'm foolish and others would like to go."

Her last day of work at the hospital will be Saturday.

The only thing she expects to really miss will be her children and grandchildren. About the challenge of the work, she explained: "I know that we will not have all the luxuries we have here, but I'm looking forward to it."

THE CHANGE, the absence of kitchen luxuries, television, is not expected to create hardships, she noted with confidence and a smile.

"I'll appreciate things all the more when I come back."

The tour of duty is expected to be for about two years, after which Mrs. Kraemer plans to return to Arlington Heights.

She only can carry 45 pounds of luggage when she departs, and much of that will be the warm weather clothing she must buy to clothe herself properly in the climate which is much like that of California.

The trip will take her to Honolulu, Tokyo, Hongkong and Bangkok, Thailand. A several day stop-over at each of these cities is expected to provide a gradual orientation to the cultural changes that will mark her life for the next two years.

Urge More Research On Infant Diseases

(UPI) — Surgeon General Luther L. Terry said last week there must be greater concentration of research on diseases which afflict pregnant women and infants.

In a speech prepared for the annual meeting in Chicago of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, Terry said there is a large pool of knowledge on such diseases. But he said this knowledge is scattered among various other medical fields and too little research is going on to tie it all together.

The Surgeon General said the known annual loss of babies before and after birth exceeds 200,000 per year in the United States. He added that an "Educated Guess" at spontaneous and illegal abortions would add about one million deaths.

ANOTHER quarter of a million babies are born with some disability or other each year, he said, and more than six million persons in this country carry such deficiencies with them throughout their lives.

Terry also said 1,000 to 1,500 women die giving birth in the United States each year. Although this places this country among the world leaders in birth safety, he said, half of such deaths are preventable.

The United States also is among world leaders in lowering infant mortality, Terry said, but there still is much room for improvement.

"THERE MUST be some concentration of effort, in both research and application, upon the special problems of women of childbearing age, infants and children," he said, "These groups, vulnerable and precious, now comprise over half of the American population."

Terry said the Public Health Service and National Institute of Health have been pursuing many fields of research in this area, and he expects these agencies to step up their efforts in the future.

Quite Contrary by Mary

The True Harbingers

I THOUGHT IT WOULD NEVER COME. Spring, that is. I rather got the feeling that it was going to be July fourth before I could shed my longies and store the boots. But, it's here. I can tell.

MARY

The first sign was when the heavens filled up with kites. Another inkling I had was the number of little girls whipping past on their roller skates. The bandaid stock jumped at least five points. The boy next door has a weird sort of ball game he plays. As far as I can tell, he is all the players on one team while his budy is all the players on another. Rather a neat trick.

All spring, summer and fall long I can listen to them yell, "Ernie Banks, one and nothing." Well, the other day as I put out the garbage my ears were assailed with, "Sherm Lollar, two for two." A sure indication that spring has sprang if there ever was one.

But, Saturday and Sunday made it official. Saturday afternoon is nap time for the fellas. All winter long comes Saturday afternoon and they watch something on TV and yawn at one another. Finally they shuffle off to their respective nests and put in a little, as they call it, sack time. This Saturday they gathered on the stroke of 1:30 p. m. got out their trusty golf clubs, smiled happily and hustled out to play. With never a yawn. I will say they yawned plenty that evening.

Sunday put the cap on Spring. They all got out the rakes and proceeded to lean all over them. Once in a while one of them would rake up a little pile of stuff and put it in the wheelbarrow. This exhausted all of them so much they leaned all over the parked car. They all must have raked up something. The last time I looked they were leaning all over the lawn. On their stomachs yet.

So, THAT'S how I know it's spring. You do it your way but my harbingers are the true harbingers.

John Thorne Claims Bride in Des Plaines

Now residing on the campus of Northern Illinois University at DeKalb are newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. John Arthur Thorne, who were married March 3 in a 4 o'clock double ring service in First Congregational Church of Des Plaines. The bride is the former Patricia Ann Tansley, daughter of the Harry S. Tansleys of Des Plaines, and the groom is the son of the Arthur J. Thornes, 310 S. Albert, Mount Prospect.

Rev. William Earl Brehm officiated at the service amid a setting of gladioli, mums, roses and snapdragons. The service was followed by a reception for 200 guests in the Des Plaines Colonial Room.

The bride completed one year at Northern and until her marriage, was employed at Imperial Credit Co., Des Plaines. Mr. Thorne, a graduate of Arlington High School, is still studying at Northern and will be graduated in June.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, chose a white gown of embroidered pure silk organza, full fashioned in traditional lines with scooped neckline, fitted bodice and shirred short sleeves. A narrow fold of the fabric formed the belt and the full bell skirt fell into a chapel train. A tiny pearl crown held her French illusion veil and she carried a cascade of white sweetheart roses centered with white cymbidium orchids.

Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls and earrings, a gift from her bridegroom.

Miss Lois Tansley served as her sisters' maid of honor and bridesmaid was Miss Sherry Steffen, also of Des Plaines. Both wore identical street-length gowns of powder blue chiffon. Their headpieces were of matching chiffon roses with circular veils and their flowers were cascades of white mums with pale blue-tinted centers to match their gowns.

THE BRIDE'S mother was in a beige print jacket dress with matching accessories and Mrs. Thorne chose a turquoise chiffon with matching accessories. Both mothers complemented their dresses with white cymbidium orchid corsages.

The groom's brother, Mark Thorne, was best man and serving as ushers were Dave Stevens of Rockford and Bob McNelis of Berea, Ohio.

Junior Women Bring Top State Honors to Northwest Suburbs

Wheeling's Junior Woman's Club for the second consecutive time has brought top state honors to the northwest suburbs via the biennial state Community Improvement Contest, and additional laurels were garnered in this year's competition by Elk Grove's Juniors.

The Wheeling entry was awarded second place and Elk Grove's, fifth place in the competition sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs. About 390 woman's clubs entered their community achievements from the past two years, it was reported. There were 11 entries from this area, with nearly every community represented in the event.

In 1960, Wheeling's Juniors were given first place in the judging, and went on to gain a sixth place ranking among all the woman's clubs in the nation. This year's award is the Elk Grove group's first such honor.

Chief criteria in the judging is each club's success in helping to develop a "sense of community" through cooperative community endeavors. Judges weighed the total contribution to the community of the specific projects, and if they created a "heightened spirit of civic unit and a deepened feeling of community solidarity."

The purpose of the contest is solely to serve as a stimulant to "creating the sense of community that is so sorely lacking in towns, cities and suburbs throughout the land."

Scrapbooks describing club projects served as the official entries.

CENTRAL THEME of Wheeling's entry were its activities in and with the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Community Council, which the club founded over two years ago. Within the framework of the council, the junior women established a permanent Community Improvement Committee. The committee has initiated a $100,000 sidewalk construction program, conducted an appearance contest among gas stations, and have instigated village board action in beautification of the village.

Also, a major tree planting program has been undertaken by the committee in conjunction with the Jaycees.

Other projects listed by the Wheeling juniors in which they have worked in cooperation with other groups were obtaining pubilc bus service to Chicago, participation in the School Board Caucus Committee and in school bond referendums, conducting a public forum for candidates running in last April's village elections, work toward establishment of a Northwest Suburban Mental Health Clinic, a survey of the feasibility of a United Fund, and distribution of Christmas baskets to needy families.

Independent projects were organization of a Salvation Army Home Service Unit, sponsorship of a dance class for junior high pupils, support to the public library, and hosting two foreign visitors at the request of the U. S. State Department.

Elk Grove juniors divided their energies into three specific areas, cultural, social and community solidarity. An imposing list of community projects included aid to the Clearbrook School for the Blind, raising funds for the Northwest Suburban Mental Health Clinic and Chicago educational television, sponsorship of a visit of a mobile TB x-ray unit, donations to the community pool and parks, participation in the annual village Peony Pageant, and public relations work to achieve cooperation between civic organizations.

Establishment and support of a public library leads the projects of the Elk Grove women in the other two categories. Also, they have formed an Art League, conducted a community art show, and cooperated with the Elk Grove Community art show, and cooperated with the Elk Grove Community Council in establishing a Youth Club.

All eight Junior Woman's Clubs in the Seventh District entered the competition. Other communities included in the district are Arlington Heights, Schaumburg, Rolling Meadows, Mount Prospect and Des Plaines.

From the 11th District, Wood Dale and Itasca were represented.

The Wheeling club is six years old, and Elk Grove's was formed five years ago.

First place club had not been generally announced as of this week. Announcements to the Elk Grove and Wheeling Clubs only stated their respective rankings.

Wheeling Village President A. R. McIntyre and School Superintendent Kenneth Gill praised the Junior Women. "The pressing demands of routine business in a growing community prevents the Village Board of Trustees from doing all it would like to do. We are happy to have an organization like the Wheeling Junior Women to do so much constructive work," McIntyre said. Gill added that the "community can look to its Junior Women for leadership."

Lady Hillary to Address Northwest Suburban AAUW

Lady Louise Hillary, who with her husband, Sir Edmund, made the famed search for the "Abominable Snowman" last year, will address members of the Northwest Suburban branch of American Association of University Women Thursday, April 12. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in First Federal Savings, Des Plaines.

Lady Hillary's topic will be a "A Walk through Nepal." She will discuss how the couple, along with the "Abominable Snowman" search party, walked the 200 miles in three weeks thru Nepal, edge of Communist China, and learned to know the Sherpas, a tribe of Tibetan people who have settled in Nepal.

She will touch on her subsequent visit to Sikkim, northern border state of India, where she was a guest of the Maharaja of Sikkim.

FOLLOWING Sir Edmund's climb to the top of Mt. Everest in 1953, she accompanied him on a wide lecture tour through Europe and America.

Lady Hillary, a daughter of an Auckland, N. Z. lawyer, was educated in that country, obtaining a music degree from Auckland University, and studied at Sydney Conservatorium of Music in New South Wales on a grant. The Hillaries, currently residents of Park Ridge, have three children; Peter, 7, Sarah, 5, and Belinda, 3.

Mrs. E. V. Carlson, Prospect Heights, first vice president and program chairman, will introduce Lady Hillary. (S

Recommend Dusting of Home Blinds

Dusting Venetian blinds regularly eliminates the need to remove them from the windows to be cleaned, according to a University of Illinois home economist.

Glenda Pifer, extension housing specialist, suggests dusting the blinds at least once or twice a month. The V-shaped vacuum cleaner attachment works well for dusting. If you don't have this tool, you may use dusting gloves made of several thicknesses of cheesecloth.

APPLYING a good grade of wax to the clean blind makes the job of removing dust easier. A good grade of wax will not affect the appearance of white slats.

Avoid using alkaline cleaners like ammonia, as they may affect the finish. They should not be needed to remove dust ordinarily found on home blinds.

Miss Pifer also points out that blinds with woven plastic tapes are cleaned more easily than those with cotton tapes. (S

Just Around the Corner

'All Set to Go'

Dear Peg:

It happens every year. One bright, sunny morning we look out the kitchen window and see a couple of robins picking up nest-building twigs. One of them might be pre-occupied momentarily with a worm, but the other is flying up and down with great deliberation to some cozy tree nook. As we watch the new home in progress, we suddenly realize: if the birds and bees do it, it's the thing to do!

Fired by this thought, all heck breaks loose and we have begun the great purge known as Spring House Cleaning. The first thing to do is jump in the car and head for the grocery store (the cleaning products section —no food, of course — meals are out during Spring House Cleaning).

With fierce enthusiasm, we buy brooms, mops, chamoises, sponges and the biggest boxes and bottles we can find of Soilax, Mr. Clean, floor wax and Rinso. Oh yes, and this year we're going to be smart and buy a pair of household gloves (we don't really like them, because unless we can feel our hands in that nice hot water, we're not quite sure the cleaning process is going on — but we'll give it a try anyway).

By the time we've bought everything, we've spent about as much money as it would have taken to hire the work done! But that would be cheating — so back home we scurry with all our pine and chlorophyl products and get into our oldest jeans, roll up the sleeves of Dad's old shirt, and we're all set to go.

Now, the problem is which room to start on. They all need attention, so we decide to eliminate the most obvious dirt first. This includes finger-printed woodwork and crayon-marked walls in the living room, entrance hall and dining room. As soon as these are sparkling, everything else looks twice as bad. Who wants to sit in a nice clean dining room and look into the crumby TV-playroom! So, in we go with our buckets and try to get that room shaped up, but to our dismay, we find its condition impossible to remedy with soap, water or lye. Paint is the only answer.

As I write to you, dear, I can gaze about me at the lovely, canary-colored walls, diamond clear windows (all twelve of them) and gleaming floor of the TV room, but — just beyond, is the untouched breakfast room — looking more untouched than ever — oh my!

This is an endless process, because I know after the breakfast room comes the kitchen — maybe I should have just let the dirt alone — it's going to come back anyway. Well, back to the paint pots, hot water and housemaid's knee . . . poor Patty . . .

My love,
Patty

Flowering Shrubs Lose Their Vigor

Flowering shrubs, like people, lose some of their vigor with age. If flowers become small and off-color and the leaves lose their luster, the shrub may be "worn out."

With such plants, the homeowner has two choices—replace or renovate—says University of Illinois landscape horticulturist H. R. Kemmerer.

Often new and better varieties are available to replace old shurbs. These new varieties bloom longer and have better flowers and more disease resistance than older varieties of the same species.

BEFORE MAKING replacements it may pay you to check for new improved varieties, says Kemmerer.

But if the worn-out plant was good at one time and better varieties aren't available, he advises renovating. Since blossoms appear on new wood, prune out all old wood.

Shrubs like lilac, forsythia, mock orange or privet can be cut off at ground level when plants are dormant. This drastic treatment may mean that no flowers will appear for two years, but often a new shrub takes as long to bloom, Kemmerer points out.

USUALLY, IF the plant isn't too worn out, cutting out several old canes at ground level and pruning the remaining canes back—still maintaining the shape of the shrub—will give the desired result.

The main purpose of renovating is to stimulate new canes from the roots, says Kemmerer.

For a complete rejuvenation, Kemmerer suggests fertilizing at the rate of 2 pounds per 100 square feet with 5-10-5 or a similar fertilizer.

Then to keep the plant cool, to stimulate growth from roots and to conserve moisture this summer, he advises mulching with 3 or 4 inches of cracked corncobs. Ground corncobs will keep the soil too wet—and they often sour. Peat moss 1½ inches deep or straw may also be used, but these materials may blow away easily, Kemmerer points out. (S

Check Home Lighting Plan, Economist Says

Spring weather puts many homemakers in a home-freshening mood.

Sue Herndon, University of Illinois home economist, suggests that homemakers take advantage of this mood to check their home lighting practices. They may need some revamping to provide for family needs and activities.

To help you determine whether your lighting practices are sound, Miss Herndon gives this check-list:

HOW MANY different types of lighting do you need?

That depends on your family. However, authorities say that a home may need at least four types of lighting. These are room-wide, task, perimeter and accent. Task lighting gives light for specific jobs where you need it most.

Perimeter lighting brightens the walls and ceilings. Accent lighting spotlights an object in the room, such as a portrait or flower arrangement.

MANY LIGHTING fixtures serve more than one function. But it usually takes a combination of portable and permanent fixtures to meet all lighting needs.

Is too much light better than too little?

Not really, for both produce the same effect—glare. Glare is hard on the eyes and may produce a number of ill-effects.

Can there be glare even when lighting is insufficient?

Yes, because glare is misplaced light, whether there is too much or too little of it.

IS TOTAL room darkness desirable for TV viewing?

No. For the sake of your eyes, it's best to have light from several sources. The amount of light in the room should at least equal that coming from the screen. For best viewing, be sure that no lighted lamp reflects on the screen.

Do tinted and white bulbs with identical wattage give the same amount of light?

No. Tinted or colored bulbs absorb some light. When using them instead of white bulbs, buy the next highest wattage to get the same amount of light.

WHICH IS more economical, a lighting fixture with a few sockets or one with many?

It depends on the design of the fixture. Usually, however, it's more economical to have a few sockets and use higher wattage bulbs. With fewer bulbs, less light is lost in heat, so you get more light proportionately from a few bulbs than from many.

Does dust on light bulbs and fixtures make a difference?

Yes. Dust can reduce light as much as 50 per cent.

Do darkened areas in light bulbs make a difference?

Yes. They reduce light quality. Therefore, it's wise to remove darkened bulbs from lamps used for visual tasks and put them in fixtures used for general room lighting. (S

Palatine Juniors Brighten March with Two Highlights

THEIR BEAMING FACES prove they were pleased with the outcome of the recent "mystery bus ride" which took Palatine Junior Women and their husbands to Second City on Chicago's near north side. The two club members shown above are Mrs. Charles Buenzow, left, president of the juniors, and Mrs. William Hodge, who was in charge of the bus trip. Planned last year as a different type of fun night for couples, it was repeated this year because it was so well received. (S

Two events scheduled within the last week in March crowded the calendars of Palatine Junior Woman's Club members. But they were entirely different in character. One was a social type with the husbands and guests invited and the other a civic and public welfare project of the club.

The social, slated for a Friday evening, was the second annual Mystery Bus Ride, which proved so popular last year with the husbands that it was repeated by special request.

THE COUPLES boarded three chartered buses at Palatine Plaza at 7:30, to be driven to a secret destination for an evening of fun.

This year's bus ride ended at Second City on Chicago's near north side, where the group was entertained with the theater's hilarious revue. Following the show, everyone was free to sample the atmosphere of the area, and at the stroke of midnight they boarded the buses for home.

THE CLUB'S annual "trip to the hospital" is not what one would expect. Each year members of the Palatine Juniors give an afternoon to entertain patients at Elgin State Hospital, complete with refreshments of homemade cookies and hot chocolate. Mrs. Robert Hanlon was chairman of this year's party.

On March 27 twelve of the juniors journeyed to Elgin with all the trimmings for a circus theme party, one with skits, songs and a puppet show. Colorful costumes added to the gaiety of the party. Delicious cookies served were turned out by 25 of the club members.

It's debatable who received the greatest pleasure out of the afternoon, the patients or their hosts. Those juniors participating in the project agreed that it was a worthwhile experience. The women returned home, thankful to be at the giving end of this party, not the receiving end. (S

SECOND CITY ON Chicago's near north side was the secret destination for this year's "mystery bus ride" for Palatine Juniors and their husbands. Boarding buses in Palatine, the couples were driven to night spot without knowing where they were going, and at midnight the group was returned by bus to Palatine. At Second City, seen enjoying the show, are, left to right, Mrs. Sam LaSusa and Roland Dudek and his wife. Both women are members of the club. (S

HAVING A LOT OF FUN in their roles as clowns for the circus theme party which Palatine Juniors gave at Elgin State Hospital are three of the performers shown in costume. Left to right are Mrs. Roland Dudek, Mrs. J. L. Zadney and Mrs. R. S. Hammerl. The afternoon program included skits, songs and a puppet show, after which homemade cookies and hot chocolate were served to be patients. (S

COLORFUL COSTUMES added to the gay party which Palatine Junior Women gave for patients at Elgin State Hospital recently. Ready for their share in the program are three of the women, left to right, Mrs. John Hayes as a 'chicken,' Mrs. Fremont Keller as a clown, and Mrs. William Murphy as a rooster. The chicken and rooster danced to the tune on a phonograph, and the clown entertained with spontaneous antics. (S

The May 11 meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. George Wyatt and the program will consist of nursing news. Mrs. Gerald Page will be hostess. (S

Vacation Time?

Rates at Miami Beach Drop by 25 Per Cent

Pleasantest news in April for the Miami Beach vacationer is the sharp drop in hotel rates, and that's no fooling.

Possibly accustomed to doing things bigger and better, this sub-tropic island resort city is not content with four seasons. It has five. Segmented according to room price structure, they are winter, spring, summer, fall and the holidays.

Spring is April, 30 days of delightful weather marked by the final fling of such special winter activities as horse racing, top shows and night club presentations, concerts and a 25 per cent cut in the cost of accomodations.

GULFSTREAM PARK, although closing its big stakes program with the $100,000 Florida Derby March 31, still has more than a week of racing on its card before the season ends April 23. Greyhound racing will continue, however, through May 31 at the Miami Beach Kennel club.

Visitors arriving this month for a honeymoon or a holiday have a wide selection of lodgings, either hotel or apartment, at prices from $50 a week, double, up to $30 a day.

The most economical accommodations are those in the smaller, off-ocean hotels that, while not luxurious certainly are modern and comforgable.

MANY ARE just across Ocean Drive from public beaches and none is more than a few blocks from surf bathing, restaurants, shopping, golf courses, tennis courts and playgrounds.

Hotels in the medium price range now are charging $15 to $20 a day, double. These provide guests with seaside swimming pools, usually with surf bathing too.

While definitely in the luxury class, these hostels do not quite equal the largest and newest of the glamor houses where rates are somewhat higher. The prospective visitor also might check on hotels offering the modified American plan at an additional charge of about $4 a day per person.

FOOD, however, is no problem. Hundreds of eating places assure anything from a full course meal to a quick sandwich any time of the day or night. Costs are comparable to similar service and quality in any other city.

If a month or more of relaxation fits in the spring schedule, the visitor also might consider taking a Miami Beach apartment. Thousands of these are available now for the vacationer, many in some of the newest and finest structures within the city. Most are rented completely furnished.

Outdoor recreation is in keeping with the excellent April temperatures that range in the summer 70s and 80s, with both the days and Miami Beach designed for their full enjoyment. Two 18-hole golf courses, plus a par-three nine-hole course, welcome visitors to green fairways.

FISHING at present includes some of the best of the year, with tarpon a feature. The gamy Silver Kings are here in great numbers, may be taken from charter boats or outboard skiffs just a few hundred yards fromshore.

Also on the angler's list are sailfish, white and blue marlin, king mackerel, bonefish, snook and permit.

Guides, boats and all tackle may be engaged, either for general fishing or for a special quest for one or two species, depending on the fisherman's desires.

Inquiries regarding a Miami Beach vacation may be directed to the Wayne Griffin Travel Service, 104 N. Evergreen Ave., Arlington Heights. (T

Follow Custom

Just before she goes to say, "I do," today's bride switches her diamond engagement ring from her left hand to her right. After the ceremony, the engagement ring is slipper back to the left hand over the wedding circlet.

This tradition, still followed by American brides, originated in Colonial days, when the engagement ring was called the "keeper ring"—guardian of love and marriage.

WHEN IS THE right time to switch the engagement ring to the right hand? Provided she isn't too flustered, a bride can attend to it minutes before she walks down the aisle. A manicure the day before the ceremony is timely reminder.

Mrs. Spurlock is District Winner in Sewing Contest

SEVENTH DISTRICT entries in the state federation contest will be Mrs. Floyd D. Spurlock, left, and Miss Jeanne Pearson. A national contest sponsored by GFWC, Vogue Patterns and Woman's Club Bureau, winner will receive 3-week fashion tour of Europe plus cash award. (S

The beautifully tailored cinnamon wool and fur blend suit made by Mrs. Floyd D. Spurlock of Park Ridge, took tp honors Friday in the seventh district Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs' fashion sewing contest.

A national contest sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs in cooperation with Vogue Patterns Service and the Woman's Club Bureau, winning the district contest was the second step toward the grand prize, a 3-week fashion tour of Europe plus a cash award for Mrs. Spurlock. Her first step was in being chosen the winner from her own club, Park Ridge Woman's Club.

AS DISTRICT winner, her ensemble will now be judged in the state federation contest April 28 and if again chosen a winner, it will go to the nationals in June.

Mrs. Spurlock's ensemble also featured a blouse of printed silk and the same silk was also used to line her jacket. She also fashioned her own hat of silk organza flowers and she completed her ensemble with brown lizzard shoes and bag and brown kid gloves.

Runner-up in the district contest was Mrs Arthur Emanuele, 5 N. Edward, Mount Prospect, who was last year's state winner. Mrs. Emanuele fashioned a beige wool suit with matching stole and chose accessories of coffee and cream. She was the entry from Mount Prospect Woman's Club.

WINNER OF the student division was Prospect Heights Woman's Club, which submitted the black silk suit fashioned by Miss Jeanne Pearson, 2 Marberry Drive. A senior at Prospect High School, Miss Pearson also made a red print silk blouse and lined her jacket with the same print. Miss Pearson also was the club's student division entry last year.

The ideal all-occasion costume for the clubwoman and the ideal dress up costume for the high school student was the basis on which the ensembles were chosen, with each entry judged individually on appropriateness, becomingness to wearer, over-all fashion effect and workmanship.

CHAIRMAN OF the district contest was Mrs. H. Barrows Ayres of Arlington Heights, American Home Chairman of the distrfct, who will be hostess April 19 at a luncheon for 106 women including all club contestants, club presidents and American Home chairmen, the executive board of the district and state chairmen.

The luncheon will be served by six Girl Scouts at 12:30 p.m. in Recreation Park with proceeds going to "Dollars for Scholars," a seventh district project. Benefit chairmen are Mrs. Joseph Svoboda and Mrs. Donald Knox, also of Arlington Heights. (S

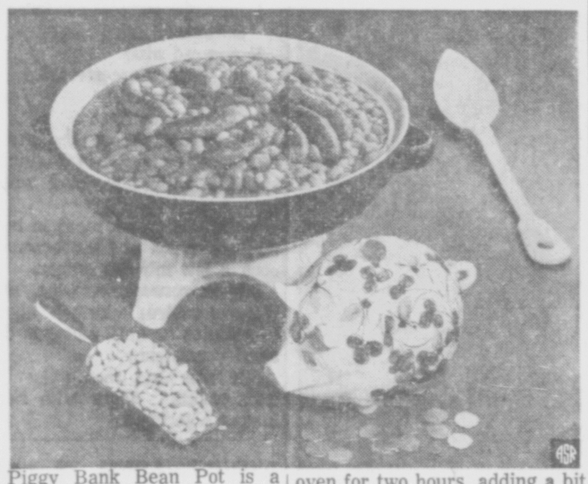
Piggy Bank Beans



Piggy Bank Bean Pot is a one-piece meal as indispensable as the "little black dress."

Made of Idaho's prize large white Great Northern Beans, topped with little pig sausage links or snippets of broiled bacon, and baked in a zesty sauce, it needs only a tossed green salad, apple sauce or pickled crabapples, and hot corn muffins for accessories.

This is good for potluck suppers, cook - ins, cook - outs, around-the-calendar Good Eating. Here are 8 hearty servings:

First step

2 cups Idaho Great Northern (large white) Beans
6 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
1 fat clove garlic, if desired

Wash beans, add water. Soak overnight or bring beans and water to boiling pont. Boil 2 minutes. Remove from heat, cover. Let stand one hour.

To cook, bring beans and soaking water to boiling point. Add salt and butter, to keep down foaming, garlic on a wood pick for easy removal. Cover.

Reduce heat; simmer about 1½ hours or until tender but not mushy.

Second step

2/3 cup light molasses
2/3 cup catsup
½ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon horseradish
1 teaspoon dry mustard
⅛ teaspoon coarse-grind black pepper
6 slices bacon, browned and
3 tablespoons bacon drippings
OR
½ pound link sausage (about 9) browned

If using sausage, brown. Do not use drippings. In using bacon, pan-fry or broil until browned but not crisp. Set aside. Mix all other ingredients together.

Turn the beans and bean liquid into a 2-quart casserole. Stir in above mixture, adding bacon drippings if bacon is used.

Top with the browned sausage or the bacon snipped into fourths. Cover tightly. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees F.) oven for two hours, adding a bit of hot water if more sauce is desired. (SH

In Northwest Suburbs

Week's Best Food Buys

A wider variety of red meat values, cutting across more common beef and lamb bargains, to some pork, appear in area stores this week. Retail range as broadly, from promotional lows to higher general competitive levels.

Little relief is in sight on fresh produce lines that are generally scarce in volume and many times seasonally below par in quality, and continuing high in costs.

LOCAL SUPPLY surpluses of fryers have caused some price discounting at wholesale to clear cluttered inventories. Retail features continue. Eggs continue cheap co-incident with holiday build - up of store inventories from generally ample market supplies of larger sizes.

Fish lines register the most improvement in smelt and lake perch, rated as being in ample volume again.

Retailers are concerned, too, that the consumer hasn't "got the message". Despite encouraging business reports and heavy store promotional activities, consumer food purchases are off.

SINCE traditional holiday features are not the money makers, retailers are busy digging deeper into promotional combinations for winning hands on a "dealer's choice" basis.

For the marketing period ending April 14, the following are signaled on the University of Illinois consumer service consensus bargain list:

Meats— sirloin and porterhouse steaks, rump and chuck roasts, pork butt roasts and loin chops, lamb roasts; poultry—large eggs, fryers; produce — grapefruit, avacados, bananas, carrots, tomatoes, asparagus, green onions.

THE GULF between promotional quotes and more general market-based competitive levels is sharply indicated in red meats. (The generally prevailing prices appear in brackets.)

Beef — sirloin steaks 79 - 85 cents ($1.09), porterhouse steaks, 89 - 98 cents ($1.33 - $1.35), round steaks 69-75 cents (95 cents). In roasts, blade cut chucks 39 cents (59 cents), round bone 49-55 cents (73-75 cents), rump 79-89 cents (98 cents).

Sirloin tip and rib roasts are less promotionally favored, and show general competitive levels only of $1.05-$1.19 for the tips, 69 cents for 5th-6th cut ribs, and 79 cents and up for 1st-4th cuts.

Ground beef ranges from a 49 cent feature to 55 cents more general level.

PORK — rib roasts come in for some feature attention at 29 cents (39 cents the more common), loin end roasts 39 cents (49 cents), center cut chops 59 cents (79-85 cents), and fresh boston butts and spareribs showing identical 35-39 cents (45-49 cents).

Picnics are improved but not enough for promotions, showing general 39 cent quotes. Bacon ranges widely, more common quotes being 63-69 cents for top brands.

LAMB — less promotional attention here because of grading problems and scarcity of spring supplies. General competitive quotes are more common, leg roasts showing 69-75 cents, shoulder roasts 49 cents and shoulder roasts 69 cents.

Poultry—fryers hold a solid promotional edge at prevailing 29-39 cent levels. Stewing hens are firmer, the heavier weights starting at 5-pounds quoting 45 cents.

Turkeys are in a duo-priced situation, 33 - 35 cents when featured, otherwise more generally 39-45 cents across the range of toms and hens by weights. Egg markets are little changed, with ample supplies pouring in for Easter. Large grade A's continue at a prevailing 45-49 cents.

PRODUCE — some, but not much, price belief might be noted for cabbage, cauliflower, lettuce and strawberries. Most fresh produce is still a long way from seasonal norms.

Beef supplies are still in trouble at live and wholesale levels. Spring farm work, floods, disrupted transit and some packer labor problems again curtailed shipments, with marketings below week-ago and year-ago levels.

Prices advanced fractionally again, especially in better grades. Wholesale responded with a 2 cent jump, mostly on hind quarters, while the better-clearing chucks quoted steady to off 1 cent.

HOG ARRIVALS, notably the heavier weights, are ahead of year-ago to prompt steady to fractionally lower live quotes. Holiday build-up of butts posted a 4 cent surge at wholesale, while less active loins fell on the change of emphasis.

Short - supplied spring lamb, coupled with grade and weight problems, maintained a steady to slightly higher live cost, and produced a sharp 4 cent wholesale increase on a heavy demand for genuine spring kinds.

Ground Beef, Noodle Dish Flavored with Onion Soup

Let the clock tick on! You'll have no worry about what to have for dinner if you've tucked this onion flavored "quickie" casserole away in the morning. It's method is simple, and you can have it prepared long before cleaning up the breakfast dishes, allowing extra time for spring chores.

AN ALL-IN-ONE meal treat, all that is needed to complete the picture is a fresh, crisp salad and fancy ice cream, such as chocolate marshmallow, topped with macaroons.

You'll offer family and guests an exciting meal that doesn't give away the secret that you have been rubbing and scrubbing the whole day through.

BUSY DAY CASSEROLE

1½ pounds ground beef
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1½ teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon flour
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed onion soup

Potatoes at Men's Lunch? A Must, Say Hotel Staffs

"Potatoes at a men's luncheon?" echoed the banquet manager of one of New York's very largest hotels. "Men are very disappointed if the plate put before them doesn't show potatoes in some form!"

At a second famous hotel the director of foods and beverages stated firmly: "The healthy American man who eats as he likes is sure to ask for potatoes."

"We have a hundred different ways of doing potatoes," explained a third. "Not all these potato dishes are suitable for service at very large luncheons because they are a bit too complicated or must be prepared the last minute, but in general the potato is very important in the menu of the hotel dining room."

THE POTATO is a good mixer. Its mealy blandness contrasts appetizingly with browned meats and other vegetables from asparagus to zucchini.

Potatoes have a wealth of nutrients and it is possible to stay healthy for months on potatoes alone plus a small amount of fat. But because it has a negligible amount of fat—one part in a thousand—it isn't "rich."

This is why its caloric value is surprisingly low, only 97 per medium baked potato. This is why it also teams so wonderfully with lots of butter or a well of good brothy gravy, for those who don't watch calories.

THERE IS almost no end to the savory concoctions which can be made, starting with a potato. Following are recipes for potato main dishes from the test kitchens of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association. They are flavorful; they are thrifty.

All are calculated to appeal to the man of the family.

POTATOES A L'ECHIRLETE

1¾ lb. (about 16) 1½ inch potatoes
1 cup boiling chicken or beef stock or 1 chicken or beef bouillon cube and 1 cup boiling water

1 clove garlic
1½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons chicken, duck, goose or pork fat
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
Chopped fresh parsley

Peel potatoes and place in a saucepan with stock or bouillon cube, water, garlic and salt. Cover and cook 25 minutes or until potatoes are tender. If all liquid is not absorbed, remove cover and cook until potatoes are dry.

Add fat and black pepper. Cook slowly until potatoes have lightly browned. Garnish with chopped fresh parsley. Serve with roast pork, beef, veal or lamb. Yield: 8 servings.

SLICED POTATO, CHEESE CASSEROLE

6 medium potatoes
Boiling water to cover potatoes
1 cup diced green pepper
1 cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
3 tablespoons bacon drippings
6 slices crisp bacon

Wash potatoes and place, unpeeled, in saucepan with boiling water to cover them. Cook, covered, until about half done, 20 minutes. Peel them while still hot and slice as thinly as possible without breaking.

Fill a buttered 1½ quart casserole with alternate layers of potato slices, green pepper and cheese, sprinkling each layer of potatoes with salt and black pepper. Pour bacon drippings over the top.

Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 35 minutes or until potatoes are tender and cheese has browned. Serve as a main dish for lunch or supper with crisp bacon. Yield:6 servings.

POTATO, MEAT BALL OVEN STEW

12-oz can corned beef
1 lb. ground beef
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons cold water
¼ cup finely chopped onion
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
4 medium potatoes
2 cups onion rings
1 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
3 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons cold water

Shred corned beef with a fork and mix with ground beef, bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons water, onion, the ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon black pepper and garlic powder.

Shape into 2-inch balls and brown on all sides in shortening or beef suet. Place in a 2-quart casserole. Peel and cut potatoes in eights and add along with onion rings, the one cup water and remaining seasonings.

Blend flour with cold water and mix with the meat and potato mixture. Cover and bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 1½ hours. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 cup diced cooked ham, lamb, beef, tongue, fish, shrimp or crab meat
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
6 tablespoons grated sharp Cheddar cheese

Wash potatoes. Prick skin at each end with a fork. Place in a shallow baking pan. Bake in a preheated hot oven (400 degrees) one hour 15 minutes or until potatoes are tender.

Cut a slice from the top of each. Scoop out insides and mash until fluffy. Add butter or margarine, salt, black pepper and ham, beef, tongue, fish, shrimp or crab meat.

Spoon into potato shells. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until cheese has melted and is flecked with brown. Yield: 6 servings. (SH

For Staying Power—

Braised Shortribs

Spring is here, and so is outdoor time. What with gardening, golf and fishing, the man in your life is burning up energy at a much faster rate than he did in the winter months.

A great weekend meal to furnish the fuel he needs is shortribs of beef served with plenty of vegetables—tomatoes, carrots, potatoes and onions. To make it really exciting, try a wine gravy.

BRAISED SHORTRIBS OF BEEF

Flour
2 tsps. salt
Dash of pepper
2 tbsps. salad oil or melted fat
1 cup cooked or canned tomatoes
½ cup concord wine
½ cup boiling water
1 clove garlic
6 medium potatoes
12 pearl onions or small onions
6 medium carrots

Dredge shortribs in flour seasoned with salt and pepper. Brown on all sides in hot oil or fat. Place in heavy kettle and add water, wine, tomatoes and garlic.

Cover and simmer over low heat 1½ hours. Add diced vegetables. Cook until vegetables and meat are tender, ½ to one hour. Arrange meat and vegetables on platter.

Thicken gravy with 1½ tablespoons flour and 2 tablespoons water for each cup of liquid. Serves 6.

Plan a Party Menu With Sirloin Beef

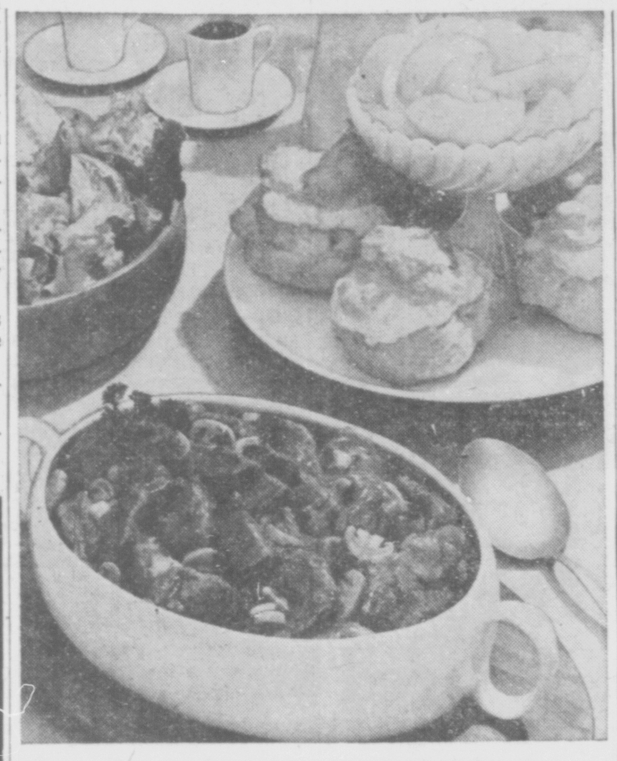
Brighten a blue Monday with a festive dinner just for your family. It will make them all feel "cherished" and "gay."

Start dinner with an appetizer in the living room, cheery in flavor and color, V-8. Then for the main course, serve a deliciously tempting Beef Burgundy.

STRIPS OF tender beef cooked in a tantalizing sauce of canned condensed consomme, dry red wine, and Worcestershire.

It's quick and easy, too and is especially good with fluffy rice to go along.

For the salad toss a combination of greens and accent with wedges of bright tomato and dressed with a French dressing.



COMPLETE THE "party-like" menu with cream puffs (made from a mix) filled with custard or instant pudding mix. Top with canned sliced peaches.

BEEF BURGUNDY

1 pound sirloin tip
2 tablespoons flour
Dash dry mustard
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup chopped onion
1 can (2 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed consomme
¼ cup red wine
1 teaspoon Worcestershire
Chopped parsley
Cooked rice

In skillet, brown meat in butter; add onion and mushrooms; cook a few minutes longer.

Stir in consomme, wine, and Worcestershire; simmer about 15 minutes or until sauce is desired consistency.

There's Magic In Authentic Italian Cookery

Spaghetti Sauce 'Par Excellence'

by LOIS SEILER

Today's recipe for authentic Italian spaghetti has never been written out before. It has been in Donald Carrara's family for generations, and Mrs. Carrara learned how to make it by observing her husband's mother.

"I have estimated the measurements as close as possible under the circumstances," Shirley Carrara said, "but so many old recipes are done by taste and experienced judgment."

"This isn't one of those recipes that can be whipped together in a hurry," she cautioned. "It takes half a day to make real Italian spaghetti sauce, for longer cooking improves the flavor."

THERE ARE other "musts" to preparing true Italian spaghetti sauce. Olive oil must be used to cook the meat, while Italian-style tomatoes and dried mushrooms should be used in the sauce.

All of these ingredients have a distinctive and unusual flavor and add a magic touch. In addition to onions and garlic, nutmeg, allspice and red pepper are also used as spices.

After the sauce has simmered for almost four hours, Mrs. Carrara lets it cool and freezes it in pint containers. One pint is sufficient for two people, and the complete recipe will serve 10 to 12.

BEING A WORKING woman, Mrs. Carrara finds this sauce convenient to have on hand in the freezer. It is also nice for unexpected guests. Stored in the refrigerator, it will keep well for at least a week.

Shirley cooks about ¾ pound of spaghetti for two persons. She and her husband also like mostaccioli noodles.

She serves the spaghetti on a platter, pours the savory sauce over it, and sprinkles parmesan cheese on top. The spaghetti is surrounded with Italian meat balls.

The meat balls are prepared by combining ground beef with egg and stale bread cubes which have been soaked in water and had the moisture squeezed out. The meat mixture is seasoned with salt and pepper, formed into balls and fried in olive oil.

THIS GOOD cook accompanies this hearty meal with Chianti wine, garlic bread and a green salad tossed with a vinegar and oil dressing. Spumoni ice cream is an appropriate dessert.

This is a delicious dinner which will hold appeal to all those who enjoy good Italian food.

FOUR HOURS OF COOKING is required for the spaghetti sauce being stirred up by Mrs. Donald Carrara of Arlington Heights. Made by an authentic Italian recipe which has been in Mr. Carrara's family for generations, this excellent sauce will delight connoisseurs of fine Italian food. (SH

In addition to her position as a legal secretary for Attorney William J. Moore, Mrs. Carrara is very active in the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club. She was chairman of the "February Flair" hat show and chairman of the "Good as New Shop" in March.

She is also press and publicity chairman for the Seventh District Juniors; Mr. and Mrs. Carrara reside at 616 Rolling Lane in Arlington Heights.

ITALIAN SPAGHETTI SAUCE

2½ pound ground round steak
1 large onion, chopped small
1 clove garlic, minced
2 No. 2 cans Italian-style tomatoes
4 cans tomato paste
4 to 6 cans water (tomato paste cans)
2 teaspoons nutmeg
2 teaspoons allspice
½ teaspoon red pepper
1 teaspoon sugar
1 small sprig parsley or 2 tablespoons dried parsley
2 small packages dried mushrooms

In a large pot (4 quart capacity) pour in olive oil to ¼ inch deep. Add meat and cook on medium-high heat, stirring occasionally, for 45 minutes. Meat should be well-cooked.

After meat is cooked, add onion and garlic. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Cook until onion is yellow, stirring occasionally, about 15 minutes.

In the meantime, mash and strain tomatoes and discard pulp. Save the juice. Soak mushrooms in a small amount of water for a few minutes until they expand. Drain.

IN A LARGE BOWL make sauce with strained tomato juice, paste and 4 cans of water. Mix thoroughly. Add to meat mixture. Stir in seasonings and mushrooms and remaining two cans water.

Let come to bubbling point; reduce heat to simmer. Simmer for 3½ hours without a cover. Stir whenever it starts to bubble. Let cool. Fill pint containers and freeze, if desired.

Yield: 5 to 6 pints spaghetti sauce.

Molasses Gives Sweet Touch to Pork Recipe

CANTONESE PARTY FARE-PORK takes on a party menu air served Cantonese style with pineapple and mushrooms simmered in a sweet-sour sauce. The handsome dish can be prepared on top of the range or in one of the new electric skillets. (SH

There is nothing involved about Pork Cantonese. Cubed pork shoulder meat is braised (simmered in a little liquid) until tender and well done.

Then unsulphured molasses, soy sauce and vinegar are added for the sweet-sour contrast of flavors. And pineapple chunks, green pepper and onion contribute their medley of flavors and textures.

THE CAREER woman who wishes to serve Pork Cantonese on a working day may prepare the dish the night ahead and refrigerate. The sweet-sour pork only needs to be heated 15 minutes before serving.

Unsulphured molasses is the sweetener used to give the taste contrast with soy sauce and vinegar. It will also add a good golden brown color associated with this oriental style of meat preparation.

PORK CANTONESE

2 pounds boned pork shoulder, cut in 1-inch pieces
1 can (3 or 4 ounces) mushrooms
1 can (14 ounces) pineapple chunks
1/3 cup unsulphured molasses
1 tablespoon soy sauce
¼ cup vinegar
2 green peppers, cut in strips
2 medium onions, sliced
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
6 cups hot cooked rice

Brown meat in large skillet. Drain mushrooms and pineapple chunks; combine and measure liquids. Add enough water to measured liquid to make 2 cups.

Add to skillet; bring to a boil. Cover; reduce heat and simmer one hour. Stir in molasses, soy sauce and vinegar.

Add mushrooms, pineapple chunks, green pepper and onion. Cook 15 minutes longer.

Blend cornstarch with small amount of water; stir into hot mixture.

Cook, stirring until slightly thickened. Serve with hot cooked rice. Yield: 6 servings. (SH

Canned Corn Makes Relish with 'Tang'

If you are looking for something hot, hearty and spiked with sharp flavor to lend zest to your quick meals, mix up a batch of this canned corn relish "twixt and between" television shows over the weekend.

Because it is made with canned corn, chopping the vegetables is the only part that takes time.

You'll find its mustardy tang will make your meals sing with all the vim of spring—a worthy reward for a few minutes of advance meal preparation.

CANNED CORN RELISH

6 cups canned whole kernel yellow corn
1 cup chopped mild white onion
1 cup chopped celery
1 large green pepper, chopped
3 tablespoons chopped pimiento
¾ cup sugar
1½ tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon crushed red pepper
1 large clove garlic minced (may be optional)
1 teaspoon celery seed
½ teaspoon ginger
3½ cups white vinegar
1½ tablespoons dry mustard
1 teaspoon tumeric
3 tablespoons flour
¼ cup water

Thoroughly drain canned corn before measuring. Coarsely chop, measure (shake down vegetables) and combine onion, celery, green pepper, pimiento, sugar, salt, red pepper, garlic, celery seed, ginger and 2½ cups of the vinegar. Boil 5 minutes.

Blend mustard, tumeric, and flour with water until smooth. Thin with ½ cup vinegar. Add to hot mixture and cook 5 or 6 minutes or until liquid thickens (about as thick as cream). Add corn. Boil 5 minutes.

Pour boiling hot relish into within ¼ inch of top of pint or half-pint fruit jars. Put dome lid on jar; screw band tight. Should fill 4 to 5 pints. (SH

Tempt Twistin' Teenagers With Spicy 'Twistburgers'

Plan a new twist of your own when you hear your teenager saying over the telephone, "Come on over tonight and let's twist!"

Join the fun and serve Twistburgers.

Since hamburgers are favored teen fare, give them a grown-up party flair by tossing them in a pungent sauce and spooning them onto buns instead of shaping them into the usual patties.

TWISTBURGERS can be cooked in advance, assembled in a hurry, then run under the broiler a minute before serving.

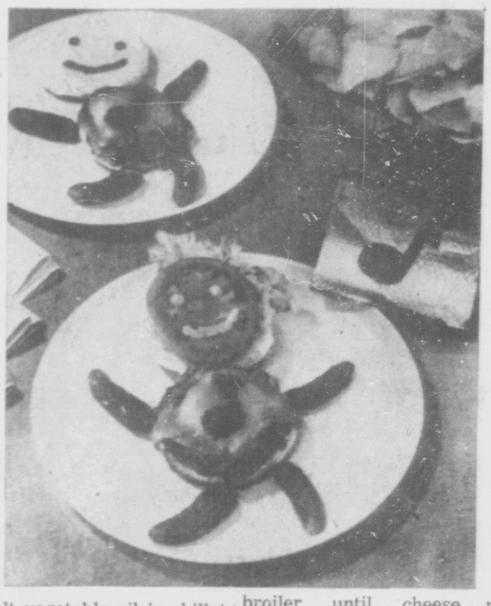
For more fun, fashion girl-twisters and boy-twisters. A tomato slice makes girl's face, naturally, and a lettuce boy-twister. Dab on faces with mustard and catsup.

On each burger-body, dust a music note of s hredded parsley through a quilted cooking foil stencil.

IF THE PARTY is small enough, why not prepare everything and then walk right out of the kitchen? What could be more fun for a group of teenagers than assembling the twist figures and dabbing on their own silly faces?

TWISTBURGERS

1 lb. ground beef, crumbled
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
½ cup green pepper, chopped fine
½ cup onion, chopped fine
¼ cup vinegar
¼ cup soy sauce
2 tablespoons catsup
¼ cup brown sugar
6 hamburger buns
6 cheese slices
Lettuce
Mustard
12 sweet pickles, sliced in half
3 tomato slices
Shredded parsley
Quilted cooking foil



1. Melt vegetable oil in skillet and fry ground beef, onion and green pepper until lightly browned. Add vinegar, soy sauce, catsup and brown sugar.

Toss beef mixture in sauce and simmer until sauce disappears—a minute or two. Spoon onto sheet of foil. Fold sides and ends into packet and refrigerate till party time.

2. To make foil music note stencil, tear off a small square of quilted cooking foil. Lay it on top of a newspaper or old magazine. Draw the outline of a note on the foil with a pencil and cut out with a razor.

3. Just before serving, turn oven to broil and place foil meat packet, without opening, under broiler a minute or two to warm. Then open packet and spoon beef onto six bun halves.

Top with a slice of cheese. Place these bun "bodies" on a cookie sheet or broiler pan lined with cooking foil and run under broiler until cheese melts (watch carefully, it takes but an instant).

4. Bundle bun tops in a foil packet and place in oven to warm.

5. Remove broiled "bodies" and shake shredded parsley through your foil stencil onto melted cheese. Place finished "bodies" on serving plates. Arrange pickle arms and legs in "Twist" positions.

6. Remove bun tops and place on plates above bodies. Place tomato slices and lettuce hair onto 3 girl-twisters. Butter 3 bun tops for boy-twisters.

Using spoon handle, dot catsup faces on boy-twisters and mustard faces on girl-twisters. Makes 6 Twistburgers.

Twistburgers are hearty eating but you might serve on the side a relish plate of tomatoes and other raw vegetables, potato chips, and ice cream for the finale. (SH

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK

A RECENT SURVEY of athletic grants and costs involved in the Big Eight conference, assembled by Hal Grant of the Des Moines Register-Tribune, bears out an old principal of business and college athletics.

They're closely related, you understand.

The principle is "Them who spends, gets." Or, "It takes money to make money—or championships.

Last year Colorado put the most money into football scholarships and won the Big Eight title. The Buffalos, who recently fired Sonny Grandelius for recruiting with too much vigor, had 110 players on aid plans which ran up to $146,064.

Colorado also won the Big Eight basketball championship. It also had the most cagers with scholarships in its circuit. Thirty of them were costing $30,005.

Kansas won the track crown. You guessed it. The school's 31 track scholarships worth $28,176 topped all conference rivals.

Other instances were Oklahoma which won swimming and spent $11,000 more on scholarships than any rival, and Oklahoma State which gives more aid in baseball and is the perennial champ.

You always hear some athletic directors and coaches hoping for a return to the old days of pure amateurism, but they have to admit they don't know how it could be done.

One interesting comment on the "buying" of championships went like this:

"No matter how much is spent, at least half your teams are going to finish in the second division. Only half can finish in the upper division so that means whatever the other four spent is wasted."

PROSPECT HIGH GRAD FRED LUSSOW, an all-league quarterback for the Foundry Road Knights and a signal caller for as long as we can remember, has been shifted to halfback in the spring football drills at Indiana University. Fred is a freshman who will be in line for a varsity berth next fall.

Lussow served the entire fall workouts as a quarterback with the Indiana frosh but was shifted last week by coach Phil Dickens who saw some encouraging possibilities in the hard-working youngster. Fred has good speed and isn't too disappointed about the switch.

Lussow, who also stands out on defense, will get a severe test under fire this Saturday when the Hoosiers engage in the intrasquad game that concludes the spring workouts.

THE OUTDOOR CAMPAIGN is only a few days old and already we've noticed some impressive marks by schoolboy trackmen in Illinois.

Warren Hampton of East St. Louis, state high hurdles champ as a junior, posted a nifty :14.7 clocking in the 120 yard highs in the Decatur Open, and Chuck Burt of Urbana tossed the discus 156-4 in the Paris Relays. Ed Bridges of Springfield covered the 880 yard run in 1:58 in the Decatur meet.

Paddock Publications again will publish a weekly honor roll of the top prep marks in the state and will terminate the cinder season with its 7th Annual All-State team.

NAMES IN THE NEWS:

Tom Rezner of Mount Prospect, an Arlington High grad, received a major letter in swimming at Monmouth College . . . John Lind of Prospect Heights, a sophomore at Beloit College, should start at shortstop for the Bucs this spring . . . We knew York High's Dukes exhibited tremendous balance in their successful campaign but didn't realize how balanced the attack was until we saw a copy of their final statistics . . . Guard Jimmy Dawson, a junior, tossed in 432 points to head all scorers, center Bob Rudolph finished right behind with 431, and forward Don Anderman contributed 416 . . . Rich Bader of Mount Prospect set a Northern Illinois fieldhouse record when he covered the 70 yard dash in :07.2 in a dual meet with Central Michigan . . . Mike O'Connell of Rolling Meadows is listed on the track roster at St. Procopius College in Lisle, Ill.

Did Bill Veeck design the bar at the new White Sox hotel in Sarasota, Fla.? They had a nightly gimmick there; when you bought the "right" drink the bar, a replica of Veeck's exploding scoreboard at Comiskey Park, gave out with lights and sound effects. Each night it was a different drink. Can you imagine the effect on a guy who's had one too many?

To Hold Final Tryouts Saturday For Arlington LL

The final tryouts for the 1962 Arlington Heights major leagues will be held this Saturday, April 14.

All registered boys who have not previously played with a major league team and who will be 10, 11 or 12 by July 31 will be eligible to try out. All those who took part last Saturday are urged to participate again.

Boys living south of the North Western tracks will report to the south end of Pioneer Park for the American League tryouts. Boys living north of the tracks will report to Miner School for the National League tryouts. Ten year old boys will report at 9 a.m. and 11 and 12 year olds at 11 a.m.

IN CASE OF rain, tryouts will be held the following day, Sunday, at 1:30 p.m. at the same places arranged for Saturday.

Only those boys who try out will be eligible for the draft. Boys who try out and are drafted must play in the major leagues. Boys not drafted to the majors plus those who did not try out will be assigned to Intermediate league teams.

Mothers Club members will be on hand to assign a number to each boy. Each boy should bring his own glove and report to the Mothers Club representative for his number.

PAUL SPLITTORFF, CL 5-6457, will be in charge of the tryouts at Pioneer Park. Dick Whitson, CL 5-8625 will handle the tryouts at Miner School.

Eight and nine year old boys are not eligible for the Major league teams. They will be assigned to a Junior team and notified by their manager when to report for practice.

Full-Time Coach

Michigan State first employed a full-time baseball coach in 1926 with the appointment of John H. Kobs who still serves in the post.

Niles West at Prospect High

The highly regarded Niles West Indians will journey to Mount Prospect Saturday morning to meet Prospect High School in an Interim League doubleheader.

Scheduled to get under way at 10 a.m., the twin bill will help kick off the baseball title scramble that will run through Saturday, May 26.

Coach Chuck Aldrich's Foundry Road Knights, bumped in their season opener by Notre Dame and slated to tackle New Trier yesterday (Wednesday), will engage in another doubleheader next Tuesday when they journey to East Leyden.

THE KNIGHTS will host Willowbrook on Wednesday, April 18, and then will be idle until journeying to Wheaton the following Wednesday.

Niles West turned in two impressive efforts in its initial competition of the 1962 season, holding Niles East to a 2-2 deadlock and bumping highly regarded Maine East 3-1.

Coach Jim Phipps has two boys back who were starters with Niles last spring in Jimmy Hart and Rick Artwick.

Both were groomed as infielders but will try their hand at pitching this season in addition to their former roles.

THE REMAINDER of West's mound corps remains a question mark with the exception of junior flash Kim Harfst, a southpaw who will perform in the outfield when Hart or Artwick is on the hill.

Probable starters in the infield in addition to Hart and Artwick are Bob Martin at first and soph Jim Schnidt at third. Battling for starting jobs in the outfield are Harfst, Mike Thiry, John Minx, and Denny Rossi.

Earl Hoffenberg, a stocky junior, ranks as the No. 1 candidate behind the plate.

IN THE opener against Niles East Harfst worked four creditable innings for the Indians, fanning two and walking two. The talented junior teamed with Artwick to scatter four hits in the 3-1 decision over Maine East.

Although hit hard by graduation, East Leyden's Eagles, Prospect's opponent on Tuesday, always seems to come up with a formidable diamond representative and 1962 should be no exception.

The Franklin Park nine boasted a 6-3-1 mark in the Interim League last spring and finished in a tie for second. The Eagles claimed a 3-4-1 standard in sophomore ranks.

PROSPECT WILL meet another powerful outfit on Wednesday when it hosts Willowbrook's Warriors.

The Villa Park squad hammered Oak Park in the season opener, 12-5, but suffered a 5-4 loss to neighboring York.

Coach Milt Weisbecker has six lettermen in pitchers John Bonney and Harlan Krafft, outfielders Paul Pavesich and Bob Zaboroski and infielders Dave Jones and Cliff Osborn.

Willowbrook posted a 4-4-2 mark in the Interim last spring on a varsity level and was 3-7 in the Red Division of the sophomore title chase.

ROBIN AULD, AN ARLINGTON HIGH SCHOOL junior, crosses the finish line with an impressive victory in the 880 yard run last Friday afternoon in the Cardinals' first outdoor meet of the 1962 track campaign. Auld, who won the mile run in the West Suburban Conference frosh-soph division last spring, turned in a 2:08.4 clocking in the half mile and also claimed a second in the mile.

Palatine Second

LaGrange Trackmen Capture Triangular

The Lions from LaGrange, defending state track champion and a perennial power in schoolboy cinder circles in Illinois, posted an impressive victory Tuesday afternoon in a triangular test at Arlington High.

Collecting eight firsts and seven seconds in competition with host Arlington and Palatine, coach Max Armer's Lions rolled up 70 points. Palatine claimed a solid second with 59¼ markers, and the host Cards picked up 18¾ for a distant third.

Andy Merutka of Palatine and Tom Atkinson of LaGrange, both state champs in their specialties, were the only double winners in Tuesday's festivities.

MERUTKA, WHO owns the state mark in the shot put, got off a 57-7 toss for an easy first and gained a double with a 145-0 efort in the discus. Atkinson, the state broad jump champ for two straight years, sailed 20-5½ Tuesday and added a first in the 100 yard dash.

The mile run furnished two school records as Palatine's Bill Hartman and Arlington's Jim Hendricks, both seniors, staged a terrific battle for individual honors. Hartman edged Hendricks by one-tenth of a second and both boys set new school marks.

Hartman covered the distance in 4:36.6 to break the Palatine standard of 4:36.8 set by Dan Kusek in 1958. Hendricks' 4:36.7 clocking was four seconds better than his own mark established last spring.

IN ADDITION to Hartman's effort in the mile, Palatine also picked up firsts with Gene Meyer in the 440 yard dash and Duane Brooks in the 220 yard dash. Meyer posted a creditable :52.6 clocking, and Brooks, only a sophomore, ripped off a :23.2 furlong.

Brooks collected ten points for his afternoon's work with a third in the 100 yard dash and second in the broad jump added to his first in the 220 .

Arlington claimed just one first during the triangular with senior John Latta in the 120 yard high hurdles. Latta posted a :15.8 mark in topping LaGrange's junior flash Jerry Gilbert. Gilbert surprised Latta in the lows with a :21.5 clocking.

PALATINE'S seconds were captured by Ron Frost in the 880 yard run, Brooks in the broad jump, Jim Gow in the shot put, and the mile and half-mile relay units.

The Pirates pushed LaGrange to the wire in the mile relay with the Lions turning in a snappy 3:30.5 mark, almost two seconds faster than the state qualifying time.

JIM HENDRICKS

One of the top marks recorded during the meet was a 2:01.2 effort in the 880 by LaGrange's Craig Boydston. The LaGrange senior, who was primarily a miler last year, topped the state qualifying mark by eight-tenths of a second.

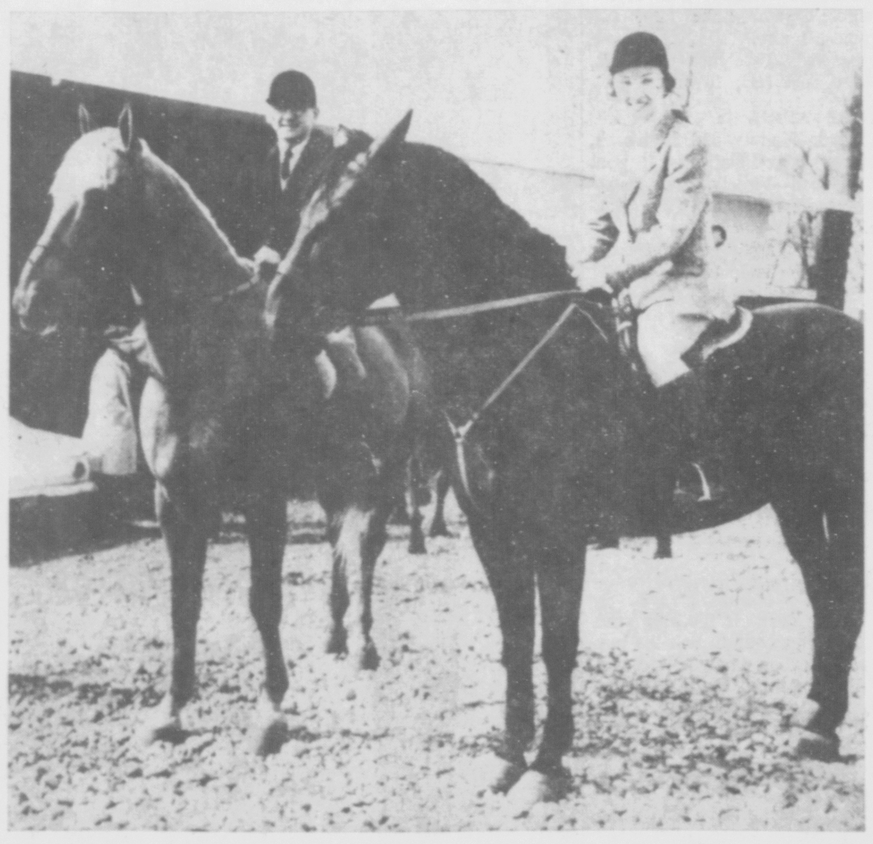
The No. 3 course at Medinah Country Club, site of the 1962 Western Open golf championship, last was the scene of a national championship in 1949. Dr. Cary Middlecoff won the USGA's National Open that year, one stroke ahead of Sam Snead and the late Clayton Heafner who tied for second. The Western Open will be played June 28-July 1.



DR. AND MRS. JAMES KANE, 221 W. Prospect, Mount Prospect, were among the riders participating in the recent Fleetwing Farm's horse show. Dr. Kane rode his horse Mr. Gold and Mrs. Kane, her Bingo.

Arlington to Host Downers

Four doubleheaders will be staged this Saturday in the West Suburban Conference as the baseball title chases continue at both varsity and frosh-soph levels.

The league campaign was slated to get under way yesterday (Wednesday) with four encounters in both divisions, including Arlington High's competition with York of Elmhurst.

On the docket Saturday are twin bills involving Arlington and Downers Grove, Riverside-Brookfield and York, Hinsdale and Glenbard West, and La Grange and Maine East.

COACH BOB Baker's Arlington Cardinals will host Downers Grove on a varsity level with the first game at 10 a.m. Saturday. "Bus" Ormsbee's sophs also will play a pair against Downers but will travel for their contests.

Arlington's varsity games will be played either at Recreation Park or on the high school diamond depending on the condition of the fields.

Downers Grove's Guy Wellman, who is in his final season as head baseball coach, will bring another representative team into Arlington Saturday with five lettermen back from the unit that posted a 7-7 loop slate in 1961.

VETERANS Mike McAllister, Glen Wirtanen, and Les Kuehl form the nucleus of the Trojan infield with Ron Castongue and Tommy Douglas patrolling the outfield. Capt. McAllister rapped the ball at a .325 clip last spring and is one of Downers' most dangerous swingers.

Wirtanen, described as a "pesty hitter," was a regular last year as a sophomore.

Downers' pitchers are young and largely inexperienced although Wellman has a real good one in junior Jerry Kucera. The fast-balling youngster won three games for the varsity last spring as a soph and was a standout on Downers' American Legion team.

THE REMAINDER of the mound crew includes juniors Bruce Howat, Ray Screbant, and Rod Rieman and senior Willie Wolff. Screbant should also see extensive action in the outfield.

Behind the plate is ex-footballer Tom Sheldon who turned in some solid performances in legion ranks.

In a recent non-league outing Downers Grove used a big 11-run inning in pasting Willowbrook's Warriors, 12-10. Screbant and Howat both toiled in that contest but didn't look too impressive.

ARLINGTON gained a split with Downers in a doubleheader last spring, winning 4-3 and bowing 13-2. The Trojans' 7-7 standard was good for fourth place in varsity competition with the sophs registering an 8-6 mark.

On Wednesday, April 18, Arlington will hook up against a host Glenbard West team with the Hilltoppers boasting five returning lettermen: outfielder-first baseman Jim Gratteau; infielder Tom Hancock; infielder Tom Moeller; pitcher-catcher Dave Palmer; and outfielder Tom Wingader.

Wingader was the team's leading hitter as a junior with a fancy .417 mark and Hancock and Gratteau also finished above .300 among the returnees.

THE BARDS finished second in the West Suburban Conference last spring with an impressive 10-4 record and are expected to be in the running for the varsity flag this year.

Prospect's Soph Golf Squad Wins; Varsity Defeated

Glenbrook won the varsity division, but Prospect ruled the frosh-soph class Tuesday afternoon as the Knights' golf squads launched their 1962 season over the championship course at Glenview Park.

The host Spartans had little trouble posting a 206-242 victory on a varsity level with the boys playing 12 holes. Prospect edged Glenbrook 155-160 in an eight-hole sophomore test.

Bob Marek fired a nifty 49 for 12 holes in sparking the Glenbrook varsity to its 36-stroke victory.

LOW MAN FOR coach Bill McKillip's Knights was Chris Bersted with a 56. Also figuring in the scoring were John Krause with a 60 and Ed Quirsfield and Don Feige with identical 63s.

Soph Bob Robertshaw paced Prospect in the younger class with an impressive 36 for eight holes and Norm Milner was right behind with a 37. Warren Luebcke fashioned a 40 and Dave Huntley and Bill Becker came home with 42s.

Prospect High's varsity and frosh-soph golf squads will host Maine West today (Thursday) and will entertain Deerfield next Monday afternoon. The Knights' home matches will be contested over the Mount Prospect Country Club course.

Evans Scholars

Proceeds from the $50,000 Western Open golf championship will go to the furtherance of the famed Chick Evans caddie scholarship program sponsored by Western Golf Association. Currently there are 443 Evans Scholars in college, including 186 from the Chicago area.

TOM GEOCARIS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Geocaris, 219 S. Pine, Mount Prospect, represented Southern Illinois University in the recent NCAA gymnastics meet and finished second, two points shy of first, in the rings event. A sophomore at Southern in Carbondale, Geocaris won the state rings title for two years at Arlington High School. Southern Illinois finished second in the battle for team honors behind the University of Southern California.

Mac Says

by G. A. McELROY

TWO WEEKS FROM SATURDAY the Palatine Relays will have their 30th birthday with somewhere between 45 and 50 schools competing. It does not seem 30 years ago that Carl Megel, then head coach of the Palatine Pirates, made the move which developed into the Palatine Relays. Megel is now nationally known as president of the American Federation of Teachers, a position he has held for the past 10 years. Megel had the idea in the spring of 1933 to plan an early invitational track meet. He made some telephone calls and lined up Jack Grose of Arlington Heights, Paul Clark of Barrington, Larry Crawford of Libertyville, Owen Metcalf of Crystal Lake, John Trapp of Bensenville, and Larry Dale of Woodstock to bring their teams to Palatine the last Saturday in April. Palatine's well drained track is always ready for early meets and the schools were glad for some early competition.

In those days no one worked out indoors or did much in the way of meets before late April. There were no medals or ribbons in this first meet. The coaches handled all the events after a meeting to draw up the order of events.

It was a chilly, windy day as are so many in Chicagoland's month of April. Libertyville won the meet. We were at the finish line as we have been ever since whether as teacher, coach or an administrator. The Libertyville Wildcats were in a streak of great track teams with conference championships a matter of course and a big boy named Dale Burnett who won the shot and was runnerup in the discus in the National Track Meet sponsored by Amos Alonzo Stagg at the University of Chicago. Burnett won the national high school shot with a toss around 53 feet.

THE SECOND YEAR LIBERTYVILLE was again the winner. Megel got a bargain from a Lowe and Campbell sporting goods salesman on some close out medals and the best boys took home awards, an important move to increase interest in the meet. The program was still a regular track meet with the only relay, an 880 event.

The third year, in 1935, Carl Megel received a notice the first week in April to report at once to teach general science in Lake View High School in Chicago. Megel had taken the Chicago exams the year before when Palatine teachers were without pay from April to December and were given scrip which the local financiers would take at 50 cents on a dollar. When Megel moved out the track, coaching and management of the third invitational track meet was dropped in our lap.

In those days the coaches brought their entries with them to the meet and held a meeting to set up heats an dlanes and seed the best boys while the athletes wer warming up. After listening to the haggling ,arguing, and bickering which went on in this pre-meeet session we vowed that there would be no more and all of this would be handled locally in advance of the meeet. That year Arlington took their first of many championships with many unusual records being set, some of which have withstood the test of time. Merwin of Woodstock vaulted 12' 7", a mark still on the record books. That day Ed Hahnfeldt of Palatine threw the college weight discus 145' 6", the farthest ever by a high school athlete in Illinois, and tossed the javelin 186' 10". The discus was reduced in size in 1939 and the javelin eliminated in high school meets. Hahnfeldt, later won the state discus at Champaign and broke the state javelin record in the Pekin Relays which Palatine won in class "B". Kraemer of Woodstock set a standard of :10.1 in the 100 yard dash which was tied but not broken until 1956.

IN 1936, AFTER TAKING THE Palatine team to the Pekin Relays and the Clinton, Iowa, Relays, we arrived at the conclusion that the invitational meet should be made a relay event in order to get more boys into competition and make the meet more interesting for the spectators. Each year more relays were added and individual events dropped. In 1938 with the meeting growing rapidly in number of entries a division was made with "A" and "B" classes. When this was done little Geneva took the "B" class 3 years in a row under Carl Nelson's direction until he took a position as football coach at Beloit College. Naperville, coached by John Harshbarger, developed for a time what appeared to be a virtual monopoly of the "A" division.

Use of the North Central College field house enabled Naperville to go far out in front of other schools in early training. Competitors determined to make up the difference and halls of schools were used for running and hurdling and there was much more preliminary conditioning in all the schools. The result was that Naperville's advantage disappeared and records fell every year.

Palatine also had its days in the early history of the meet, taking titles in 1941, 1942, and 1943. Palatine had a flock of good runners in those years including among others Anton Cipri, Bob Theime, John Warder, Harold Schwolow, Klaus Timmerhaus, Jim Langhoff, Bob Hollinger, Silas Trepus, John Senne, Clarence Anderson, Clarence Vogt, Dick Stinson, Bob Muehlfeldt, and Lester Guenther.

10 YEARS AGO (April 18, 1952)

Palatine lost its third track meeet in a row to Libertyville 64-48. Bob Ward won the sprints. Herrmann took the 880 and Grever the discus for Palatine's only first places . . . Arlington lost to Maine 4-3 and to Niles 8-6 in baseball . . . A new record of 35 entries in the Palatine Relays is expected this year in the 20th running of the meet with 25 schools in class "B".

Cards' Golf Squads Open This Friday

Waukegan of the Suburban League will journey to Golden Acres Country Club Friday afternoon to furnish the opposition in Arlington High School's initial golf competition of 1962.

Action is slated to get under way at 4 p.m. on the layout a half-mile south of Route 58 on Roselle Road. Arlington will play all its home matches at Golden Acres.

Waukegan, sixth in the state meet last spring and possessor of the third best district effort, will test an Arlington team that boasts five returning lettermen.

COACH RALPH Meyer is viewing the forthcoming campaign with cautious optimism as he has enough experience returning to make the Cardinals a formidable links entry. Returning monogram winners are Doug Wiborg, Mike Heyl, Rusty Blix, Rich Wallhoff, and Jerry Peterson.

Wiborg was the squad's most valuable performer as a junior, and Doug should be headed for a big year in area — and possibly state — circles.

Conference matches will be decided strictly on medal play, and Meyer is relying on match play to determine the positions each week. The current rankings list Wiborg, Heyl, Blix, Wallhoff, and senior Tom McGrath as the top five with Peterson filling in the sixth slot.

BEHIND THESE six boys are junior Jim Wolf, senior Jack Smith, and juniors Ken Seeger, George Brinke, Paul Benrud, and Terry Sesterhan. Wolf was Arlington's top frosh-soph performer in 1961.

Grant Wallhoff and Jim Diehl were lost via graduation, and Bob Sielken, who had shown some promise, moved.

Fred Devin and Rog O'Neil currently rank 1-2 following match play in the battle for frosh-soph positions. Following the two sophomores are Garret Shawhan, Pete Johnson, Scott aBnks, and Walt Bray.

ACCORDING TO Meyer, the top three freshmen at this stage of the drills are Darryl Burkett, Robert Armour and, Dave Carlsen.

Following Friday's opener with Waukegan the Cardinals' linksmen will be idle until Monday, April 23, when they host powerful Palatine. Conference competition will get under way on Tuesday, May 1, when Arlington visits defending state champion Hinsdale.

Prospect High's Net Squads Drop Openers to Maine

Maine West's tennis squads recorded identical 3-2 victories over Prospect High School Tuesday afternoon in the Knights' opening net meets of the 1962 season.

In the varsity competition Prospect managed to pick up two singles triumphs. One victory each in singles and doubles accounted for the two points in frosh-soph play.

Prospect's varsity and frosh-soph outfits will journey to Deerfield today (Thursday) and will battle Niles next Tuesday afternoon.

JOHN HEUER dumped Maine West's Bernero 6-1, 6-2 in the No. 2 singles competition on a varsity level and soph Bob Gewecke came through with a solid 7-5, 6-4 triumph over Gaverth in No. 3 singles.

Otherwise, it was all Maine West in the varsity class. Prospect's Lothar Hanson lost his No. 1 singles test to Albers 6-4, 6-4, and the doubles teams of Gordon Hunt and Newell Krogmann and Scott Campbell and Bob Laechelt also fell.

In an exhibition match the Prospect combo of Hedke and Topolski lost 7-5, 6-3.

IN THE FROSH-SOPH competition Prospect's points were garnered by White in No. 3 singles and the No. 2 doubles unit of Keough and Kretschmer.

White posted a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Maine West's Klatt, and the doubles team fashioned a 6-3, 6-2 triumph.

In an exhibition test the team of Duda and LaBelle gained a 6-4, 6-0 victory.

VFW Golf Meeting Scheduled

The Arlington VFW Post golf league will hold its organizational meeting Monday evening. April 16, at the Post Clubhouse.

The new order of business will be election of officers for the 1962 season. A golf movie will be shown and refreshments will be served.

Walter Aronson, league president, announced that the teams have been formed and urges all golfers who have signed for the coming season to attend. Golfers are reminded that their entry fees are to be paid at the meeting. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m.

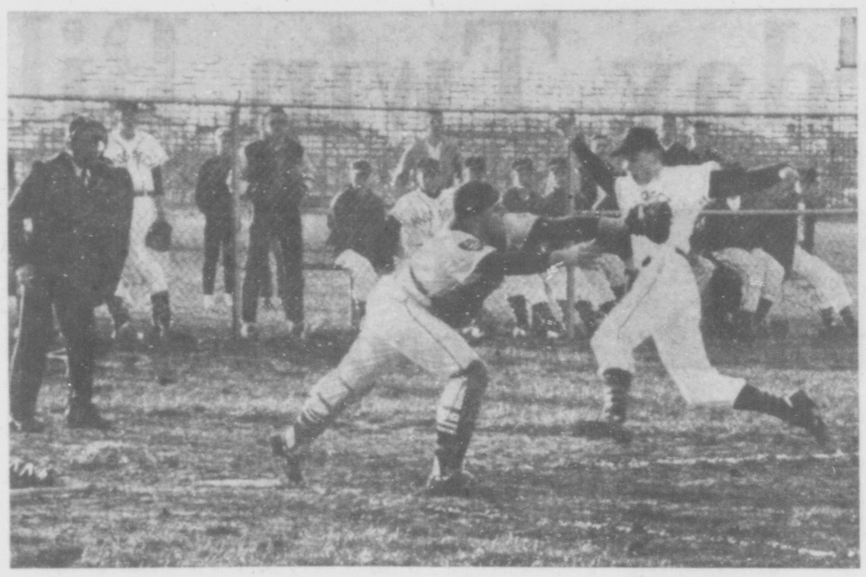
Amateur Champ

Chick Evans is the only amateur golfer ever to win the coveted Western Open golf crown. Chick captured the 1910 event. The Western Open this year will be played June 28-July 1 at Medinah Country Club's No. 3 course and all proceeds will go to the furtherance of the Chick Evans caddie scholarship program.



DID HE OR DIDN'T HE make it across home plate without being tagged? Our photographer says he did. Action occurred during Prospect High School's opening baseball game last Friday afternoon against Notre Dame of Niles. The unidentified base runner from Prospect tallies one of the Knights' five runs despite the efforts of the Dons' catcher Gerry Broderick. Notre Dame came up with nine runs in the sixth inning to whip the Foundry Road squad, 9-5.

Bucs Take Nightcap

Pirates, Lake Park Divide Doubleheader

Palatine and Lake Park batted each other around for several hours Saturday, but when the firing finally subsided, neither team could clearly claim victory.

The Pirates and Lancers squared off in a doubleheader at Palatine with each team sampling both victory and defeat. The visitors from Medinah claimed the opener, 6-3, but succumbed in the nightcap, 3-2.

The twin bill afforded both schools an opportunity to exploit their material to the fullest extent prior to the opening of conference races.

BOTH PALATINE and Lake Park are faced with pitching problems this spring and each coach took a look at four of his prospective hurlers.

Particularly impressive for Claude Bailey's Pirates was the veteran Wayne Kehe who twirled hitless baseball for a five-inning stint in the second game. Kehe, who fanned nine and walked six, was relieved by Jim Donahue.

In Saturday's opener, it was Lake Park's Larry Gates who hogged the spotlight. Relieving Andy Slowinski in the fifth, Gates hurled three-hit, shutout ball to pick up the victory.

COACH DICK Davis' Lancers utilized their speed to overwhelm Palatine in the opener. Two of those six Lake Park runs were produced by the squeeze play while two others were set up on stolen bases.

The two combatants traded counters in the first inning. Cliff Stetter whacked out the first of his two hits, stole second and raced all the way home on Rick Schimmel's infield out.

But the Pirates fought back. They tied the count in their half of the first as John Roberts doubled, stole third and scored when Lancer catcher Fred Picket fired the ball into left field.

PALATINE then surged ahead temporarily in the second with a pair of runs. Slowinski retired Jim Smith but then issued a walk to Ken Petke.

Wayne Lewin followed with a screaming double that knocked home Petke. Lewin then stole third and scored when Bob Hall muffed Mel Helms roller to short.

But that was it as far as Bailey's crew was concerned in the first game. Lake Park pulled ahead by one, 4-3, with a three-run outburst in the fifth and added a pair of insurance tallies in the sixth.

RICH ROLL led off with a single and moved around to third on a Pirate error. Jeff Johnson fanned but King walked to load the bases.

Palatine reliever Jim Valukas then walked Stetter to force in a run before Schimmel squeezed home Hall. With the bags still loaded and one gone, Petke blew Picket's fly ball in left and the Lancers had their third run of the inning.

Roll again kicked off that Lancer spurt in the sixth with a two-bagger. Hall walked and Johnson singled to fill the bases before King executed the squeeze bunt scoring Roll. Stetter came through with his second single sending Hall across.

THE PIRATES came from behind in that second game to squeeze out a tight 3-2 decision. They punched across the winning run after two were out in the bottom of the seventh.

Jim Donahoe, who eventually gained credit for the victory in relief of Kehe, led off with a base-on-balls and took second on a wild pitch. Lewin and Jeff Anderson were retired but King's bad throw from short on Bill Smedley's tap enabled Donahoe to score.

A couple of squeeze plays produced Lake Park tallies in the first and third. Stetter's bunt did the trick in the first, while Johnson came through in the third.

PALATINE tied it up in its half of the third, however, with two runs on only one hit. Tom Dettinger and Lewin walked with the former scoring on Koller's base-hit.

Smedley flied to left for the second out but successive walks to Smith and Baker produced another run.

St. Viator's Lions Claim Opener, 5-3

Right hander John Carroll hurled no-hit baseball for four and one-third innings Tuesday afternoon as St. Viator High School kicked off its inaugural diamond campaign with an impressive 5-3 victory over Ridgewood.

Carroll held the host Rebels hitless through the first four innings and had one out in the fifth when he was reached for a clean single.

Ridgewood put together four hits for three runs in the final two frames but couldn't pull out a victory.

COACH FRANK Mariani's Lions of Arlington Heights will host Maryville Academy today (Thursday) and journey to St. George Saturday. Contests also are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday against Marian Central and St. Joseph.

Although St. Viator tackled the Ridgewood sophomores on Tuesday in its debut, the next four games will be against varsity aggregations.

St. Viator pushed across a single run in the second inning against the Rebels on a walk to Gary Drabant, stolen base, and single by Tim Walinski, the Lions' first safety of the season.

THE LIONS scored again in the third inning with a single by Joe Knudson and two-base error and moved out to a 5-0 lead in the fourth.

Drabant opened with a single, stole second and third, and rode home on Walinski's second hit. Rick Ulbricht also singled in the fourth.

Ulbricht and Walinski each collected two hits in the opener with Tim driving across a pair of runs. Also driving in counters were Gracyzk, Jim Vidt, and Knudson.

Carroll received the mound triumph, fanning six and allowing only four hits over the six innings. Only one of Ridgewood's three runs was earned.

ARLINGTON HIGH'S John Latta skims over the low hurdles en route to an easy victory last Friday afternoon in competition with Niles East. Latta won both the 120 yard highs and 180 yard lows and the Cardinals posted a nine-point victory in their first outdoor track meet of the 1962 season.

Lions' Basketball

Murray, Grandt Top St. Viator Scoring

Jim Murray and Chuck Grandt captured the individual scoring crowns in St. Viator High School's initial season of basketball competition, according to official statistics released this week.

Murray, a 5-foot-11 sophomore, collected 81 baskets and 51 free throws for 213 points adn a 15.2 per game average as the top scorer in St. Viator's sophomore games.

Grandt chipped in 122 markers on 47 baskets and 28 free throws to edge Ronald Bakalar for individual honors in the frosh competition.

ST. VIATOR completed its hardwood debut with 10 victories in 29 games. Coach Ron Feiereisel's sophomores, playing several junior -varsity quintets, posted a 7-7 record and Larry Nomellini's plebes gained a 3-12 standard.

Two freshmen played the entire season with the soph quintet and finished 2-3 in scoring behind Murray. Jim Vidt, a 6-foot-2 forward, collected 54 baskets and 33 free throws for 141 points and Chuck Heinrich, a 6-foot-1 frosh, tossed in 121.

There was a wide gap between the top three scorers and rest of the Lions in the sophomore competition with fourth place Mike Ainslie collecting 40 markers.

As a team, the sophomore Lions averaged 46.4 points per game to their opponents 45.2.

FOURTEEN boys scored for Feiereisel's club, and ten chipped in points for the frosh aggregation.

Backing Grandt was Bakalar with 115 points. Ron tossed in 44 baskets and 27 free throws.

Rounding out the top five scorers on a frosh level were Mike Hogan with 93, John Kidd with 71, and Mike Hughes with 57.

Cards' Soph Net Squad Wins Two

Arlington High's frosh-soph tennis squad bumped Blue Island and Ottawa Saturday morning for its first victories of the 1962 season.

Playing in a quadrangular at Blue Island, coach Rog Steingraber's Cardinals stopped the hosts 5-0 and Ottawa 4-1 to bring their dual meet standard to 2-2 for the current campaign.

Arlington had little trouble with Blue Island, using effortless, straight-sets victories for the shutout. Bob VonBoeckmann, Pete O'Neil, and Mirrel Kephart won in singles play and the units of Dave Clough and Bob Schuldt and Steve Carns and Greg Inman triumphed in doubles.

In an exhibition match Arlington's Pete Loris chalked up a 6-0, 6-4 singles victory.

OTTAWA managed to pick up one point against the Cardinals when Bill Jansen stopped Clough 6-2, 3-6, 9-7 in No. 2 singles, but the rest of the meet was all Arlington.

O'Neil, playing No. 1 singles, wrapped up a 6-2, 6-5 victory and Kephart, in his No. 3 slot, needed three sets but still registered a 6-1, 5-7, 6-3 triumph.

Arlington took both doubles matches thanks to the units of VonBoeckmann and Schuldt and Carns and Inman and also posted an exhibition decision with the combo of Carns and Schuldt.

Arlington's soph tennis team, slated to meet Niles East on Tuesday of this week, will journey to Waukegan tomorrow afternoon (Friday) for competition at 4 o'clock.

Post 6-3 Victory

Niles East Trojans Top Cards in Opener

Southpaw Johnny Suelzle scattered five hits, scored two runs, and rapped out two singles and a double to spark Niles East to a 6-3 victory over Arlington High School last Friday afternoon in the season opener for the varsity baseball Cardinals.

Trailing by three runs heading into the bottom half of the second inning, the host Trojans bounced back with single markers in the second, third, and fourth and a big three-spot in the sixth for the impressive victory.

Suelzle yielded five singles in his seven innings on the mound and blanked the visiting Cardinals in six of those seven stanzas. He issued a walk and two singles in a third inning that saw Arlington counter its three runs.

NILES WRAPPED up the decision with three markers in the sixth on singles by Suelzle and Kitcher and a pair of Cardinal errors.

Williams, a senior right hander, started on the mound for coach Bob Baker's Cards and worked four innings, fanning two. Vince Furlong, who is a newcomer to the pitching ranks this spring, followed Williams and fanned three in his two-inning stint. The three runs that came in off the slants of Furlong were unearned.

One encouraging item in the mound performances of the two Arlington hurlers was that neither allowed a walk.

SUELZLE, WHO gained the pitching triumph, enjoyed a big day at the plate with his three hits and Hoffman chipped in a pair for the Trojans.

Miller, one of six returning lettermen at Arlington, slapped out two singles to spark the Cardinals' limited attack.

ARLINGTON'S varsity Cards were slated to meet York High yesterday (Wednesday) in the West Suburban Conference opener with a twin bill slated for Saturday against visiting Downers Grove.

A walk to Ken Layden, singles by Erv Gramit and "Buzz" Williams, an error, and two fielder's choices figured in Arlington's three-run uprising in the second frame with Russ Ward, Gramit, and Ed Staahl counting.

That was the extent of the Cardinals' scoring for the afternoon with Niles' Suelzle settling down the rest of the way.

RAY MILLER collected the second of his two hits in the fifth inning but failed to come around, and Staahl's seventh inning single was followed by two strikeouts and a fielder's choice.

Niles punched across its first run in the second inning on a double by Suelzle, wild pitch, and infield out and added another in the third thanks to Hoffman's single, a passed ball, and two-base knock by Bobby Lis.

Steve Bernstein's leadoff triple and a single by Suelzle brought in the tying run in the third for the host Trojans.

JUST DOGS

INTERNATIONAL K.C.—

After the last bark had floated out over the International Amphitheater last Sunday evening the dog which had the final bark in the whole affair was a Norwegian Elkhound named Ch. Gladjac Royal Oslo owned by Mrs. Susan Phillips of Royalton, Vt. Picked as the Best Dog In Show from an entry of some 2,624 dogs, the big and proud dog came up through the ranks of his own breed in which there were 73 dogs to go on through the Hound group to the final "Moment of Truth" when there were just six dogs left for the final judging.

Some folks in this area were close to the top with their own group judging. Placing second in the Sporting Group was the English Springer Spaniel, Ch. Inchidony Prince Charming, owned by Dorothy and Becher Hungerford of Barrington. Third place in the Sporting Group went to folks down Bensenville way, Erma and Dee Muster, with their Weimaraner, Ch. Gourmet's Sardar.

ALL IN ALL, it was an excellent show with more than 70 some families in this area with dogs entered at the show. It would be impossible to list them all, as space does not permit, however, it was of general interest to note that a lot of folks are starting to show their dogs more and more at these major shows and this is, perhaps, a good sign. For a number of years things sort of slowed down, but now it looks as if the ball has started to pick up more bounce again. It really must have, when you consider that this was the second largest show ever held by the International Kennel Club.

SO IT GOES—

Time waits for no man—or dog. It was with a lot of mixed emotions that word came out that "King Buck," twice a national champion retriever and the first dog to get his picture on a government stamp, died in his kennel at Brighton, Ill. a few weeks ago.

He was just about the best retriever of all time and when he died he lacked just one week of being 14 years old. His picture appeared on the Federal Duck Stamp of the 1959-60 season. Owned by John M. Olin of Alton, he won the National Retriever Field Trials in 1952 and 1953. Many a follower of field trial dogs will remember and miss this great dog. He just seemed to know how to do just the right thing at the right time. Yes, he will be missed by all who enjoyed watching a good field dog at work.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

In the last column we mentioned something about dogs out on the loose and getting hit by cars. I guess people just don't care about their dogs these days. The total of dead dogs on the highway keeps going up. If you don't think so, talk to not only your local town officials, but mention it to the county highway crews who have to drive along the roads and bury the dogs when they find them.

THE OTHER day your editor noticed two very fine pure-bred pups playing along a busy road. I suppose the owner might have left the pups alone in the yard and out they went. It won't take long until there will be two dogs less and a lot of broken hearts.

You must think this is a rather dreary subject and why does he keep writing about it—perhaps you might call it "a word to the not-so-wise."

Steve's Needs Sweep In Saturday's Match

Steve's Restaurant needs a three-game sweep in its scheduled match Saturday with Morton Pontiac if it hopes to take the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League crown without a rolloff.

The Morton girls from Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights need only one win to take the second half title. Steve's, from Jeffery Lanes, Wheeling, won the first half league crown.

If Morton wins the second half competition, it will meet Steve's in a best of seven roll-off series, beginning Saturday, April 28, at Jeffery Lanes, to determine a league champion. The action will switch to Beverly Lanes on Sunday, April 29, for the final four games.

RIDGE MOTORS from Sims Bowl in Des Plaines was eliminated from the race Saturday when it dropped two of three games to River-Rand Bowl of Des Plaines.

Meanwhile, Steve's gals took two games from Northfield Bowl to move into second place. Morton, after dropping the opener, came on strong to win the final two games from Moyle Lanes, Lake Zurich.

Delores Harris of Wheeling led Steve's over Northfield Bowl with a 584 series, including games of 211 and 200, Despite the loss, the Northfield girls rolled their highest pin total of the season in winning the second game, 960-871.

Wickie Bohnen of Wilmette and Gloria Lucchesi of Winnetka led the way. Wickie's 231 game was high for the night's play, and Gloria rolled a 515 series, including a 222 game.

PAT PROEBSTLE of Arlington Heights paced Morton's win over Moyle. Pat rolled a 210-191-212 — 613 series, another night's high. Moyle, bowling shorthanded, still managed high team series with 2579 pins, eight more than Morton. Bonnie Kuhn of Mundelein led the losers with a 200-209-191 — 600 series.

No one managed a 500 series in River-Rand's win over Ridge. Hazel Steiger of Arlington Heights and Ruth Gregory rolled identical 497 pin totals to lead the shorthanded River-Rand outfit.

Teammates Connie Labo (483) of Rolling Meadows and Joyce Walker (485) of Des Plaines took up the slack in the absence of starter Alice Ulrich of Chicago.

Cards' Net Squad Wins Pair in Quad

Tagged with setbacks in its first two outings of the spring campaign, Arlington High School's varsity tennis team rebounded with two victories in three actual dual meets last Saturday morning.

Hooked up in a quadrangular at Blue Island, the varsity Cards posted 4-1 victories over both the host Cardinals and Ottawa Pirates. Oak Park handed Arlington a 3-2 setback and became the third straight Suburban League representative to whip coach Ken Schaller's unit.

Defending state champion Evanston and New Trier, also of the powerful Suburban League, handed Arlington defeats in the Cardinals' first two duals of the 1962 season.

No actual team champion was crowned in the Blue Island quad as Oak Park's Huskies only played two squads.

SCHALLER'S Cards posted victories in the three singles matches and one doubles competition against both Blue Island and Ottawa. Tom Benson, Jim Jakubiec, and Bob Bohac did the singles honors against both teams with straight sets performances.

Benson whipped Roger Freeman of Blue Island 6-0, 6-0 and Roger Ninness of Ottawa 6-0, 6-1. Jakubic toppled Rick Lombardo of Blue Island 6-0, 8-6 and Roy Makeever of Ottawa 8-6, 7-5. Bohac took care of Blue Island's Don Lupacinski 6-1, 6-1 and Ottawa's Tom Reynolds by an identical count.

In doubles play the team of Chuck Close and Dave Wollerman claimed a 6-3, 3-6, 6-1 victory over Blue Island's Louis Lombardo and Lee Sauerbier.

In competition with Ottawa it was the team of Rusty Walters and Rick Wollerman that posted a 6-1, 6-1 decision for Arlington's other point.

Oak Park's Huskies picked up victories in No. 1 and No. 2 singles and also No. 1 doubles for its tight victory.

JIM Lemon handled Benson in the No. 1 action 7-5, 6-0, and Rick Spaulding whipped the Cards' Cluck Close 6-2, 6-3 in No. 2 play. Bob Bohac salvaged one point from the singles play with a 1-6, 6-2, 6-2 triumph over Gary Edidin.

Arlington's final marker was claimed by the No. 2 doubles team of Rusty Walters and Rick Wollerman with a 6-1, 6-1 victory over Milt Neuman and Chuck Dickinson.

Arlington's varsity net squad was slated to host Niles East on Tuesday of this week. Waukegan will host the Cards Friday at 4 o'clock with a quad Saturday at LaGrange.

HOW TO SPEND MORE TIME WITH YOUR CHILDREN

All kinds of psychologists seem to be writing articles to the effect that what's wrong with your children is that parents don't spend enough time with them. We are not psychologists, and don't claim to know whether this is true or not. But if you believe it, and want to spend more time with your children, here is one way you may be able to do so.

Move your office to the Williams-Gray Building, 301 East Prospect Avenue in Mount Prospect. It's close to highways, freeways, tollways and throughways . . . also railroads, motels, airports . . . and even Chicago. And of course it puts you a lot closer to home. You could even have lunch with your family. Air conditioned? Of course. Also a private parking lot and congenial fellow-tenants in the building. And your office would be architecturally arranged as you like it.

Why don't you look into it? Just call John Backman, who's still in his Chicago office building waiting for the building to be finished so he can move in. His phone is FRanklin 2-7208, and he'll be glad to talk with you. —Adv.

Knights Fall, 9-5

Dons Stun Prospect With Nine-Run Sixth

It started with a hit batsman.

It ended with Notre Dame punching across nine runs.

In one horrifying inning Prospect High School's varsity baseball Knights saw a 4-0 lead quickly vanish last Friday afternoon, turning what appeared to be an impressive victory into a shocking defeat in the season debut.

Trailing 4-0 heading into the visitor's half of the sixth inning, the defending champions exploded with nine runs on four hits, four walks, and a hit batsman and wrapped up the non-league vicotory.

PROSPECT came back with a single run in its half of the sixth frame, but it wasn't enough and the Knights suffered a 9-5 setback in their first outing of the 1962 campaign. Coach Chuck Aldrich's outfit was slated to host New Trier of the Suburban League yesterday (Wednesday) with Niles West coming to town Saturday for an Interim twin bill.

Right hander Jim Hogarty, a promising junior hurler, was sailing along on a two-hit shutout when the roof caved in Friday in that disastrous sixth frame. Apparently unnerved by the hit batsman that opened the stanza Jim yielded three hits and two walks before relinquishing the mound duties to Bob Hanson.

Hogarty had checked the Dons for the five previous frames with two harmless singles and had fanned eight.

AFTER two scoreless innings Prospect moved into the lead with a three spot in the third frame. Tommy Thomas got on via a walk and following an error, Bob Geller slammed a single. Two walks and an error followed and the Knights had a trio of runs.

The Foundry Road crew increased its lead to 4-0 with a singleton in the fourth on a one-baser by Thomas and triple to left-center by Geller.

Leekley's single, two walks, and a sacrifice fly brought in the final marker in the home half of the sixth.

PROSPECT reached Johnny Calderone for five safeties, two by Geller. Also collecting the base hits were Thomas, Leekley, and Tom Cross.

Notre Dame collected seven hits off the offerings of Hogarty and Hanson with Danny Thillens claiming a pair, both in the big sixth inning. Greg Shilling had the Dons' long blow, a double in that same segment.

Cards Post 8-6 Victory Over Spartans

Denny Koeppen's clutch single in the bottom half of the sixth inning drove in the two decisive runs Tuesday afternoon as Arlington High School's varsity baseball team stpped Glenbrook, 8-6.

Koeppen's one-base knock came with two outs and drove home Joe Wertheimer and Ray Miller. The game was called at the end of six innings because of darkness.

Trailing 6-5 heading into it half of the sixth stanza, Arlington initiated its decisive rally with one out.

PETE VAUGHN singled to center and Wertheimer and Miller walked to load the bases. Rog Lindstrom lifted a fly ball to right field, and Vaughn tagged up and scored when the catcher dropped the relay.

Ross Retterer drew another free pass, and then Koeppen came through with his game-deciding single.

The Spartans had moved ahead with two markers in the top half of the sixth inning.

ARLINGTON punched over five runs in the third segment with just one hit. With one out the Cards collected two walks and Wertheimer slapped a double, driving in one run. Wildness on the part of the Glenbrook hurler helped send the four other markers across.

Lindstrom and Retterer rapped singles in the fifth inning but were stranded on second and third, setting the stage for the sixth inning heroics.

Jim Murphy started on the hill for Arlington and worked three innings, fanning three and walking one. Roland Oberg toiled for two frames and Vaughn finished up. Four of the Spartans' six runs were unearned.

DENNY KOEPPEN

Coach Bob Baker started an all-junior lineup for Arlington but worked in his seniors midway in the contest. The victory gave the Cards a 1-1 record this season with a game slated yesterday (Wednesday) against York.

Arlington's Track Squad Bumps Niles

Arlington High's varsity trackmen opened their outdoor campaign with a 63½ to 54½ victory over Niles East last Friday afternoon.

The host Cardinals claimed seven firsts, including a pair by senior John Latta, in dumping the Suburban League outfit.

Alan Nachman of Niles was the individual standout with three firsts and a leg of firsts and a leg of the of the victorious mile relay. Nachman won the 100, 220, and 440 in creditable times considering the slow track.

LATTA breezed to easy victories in the 120 yard highs at :16.1 and 180 yard lows at :22.2 for ten points. Other victors were Robin Auld in the 880, Jim Hendricks in the mile run, John Burgermeister in the broad jump, Alan MacDonald in the pole vault, and Bill Truax in the discus.

Auld, only a junior, posted eight individual points with his first in the 880 yard run at 2:08.4 and second in the mile, 11 seconds behind Hendricks. Shooting for a new school record, Hendricks experienced little competition, setting his own pace, and clipped off a 4:46.9.

ARLINGTON swept two events in its cinder debut. Latta, Burgermeister, and Chuck Spatafore finished 1-2-3 in the 120 yard highs, and Burgermeister, Bill Kopplin, and Jim Eccles claimed the top three spots in the broad jump.

Arlington's varsity and frosh-soph trackmen, slated to hook up in a triangular with LaGrange and Palatine Tuesday, will journey to Maine East today (Thursday) for competition at 4 p.m. The Cards will entertain Hinsdale on Tuesday, April 17.

Tree Expert Advises Proper Spray Treatments

Tree lovers may have some faint regrets about owning sycamores and white oaks. Their spraying season begins early—even before bud breaking.

Many such trees are afflicted by anthracnose, a fungous disease that causes considerable unsightliness but rarely kills its arboreal victims outright. Homeowners whose woody pets suffered early fall of brown-blotched leaves last growing season will be well advised to get their spray equipment and chemicals ready now.

Chances are the trees were infected with fungi that cause anthracnose, and strict control measures are called for this year.

P. H. WILLMOTT, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., advises spraying with phenyl mercury or Zineb just prior to the time leaves unfold. The timetable then calls for a second spray seven to ten days after buds break.

Fungi thrive in extended damp periods and if there is an unusually wet Spring, a third spray is recommended.

Anthracnose strikes many trees but to a somewhat lesser degree than sycamores and white oaks. Even the closely related London plane tree, supposedly resistant, becomes infected during abnormally wet seasons.

Other trees sometimes attacked include silver and sugar maples, ash, linden, elms, hickory, birch and walnut, among others.

INFECTED TREES may lose their foliage by early Summer, but usually produce a second crop of leaves. Anthracnose is a depleting disease that opens trees to borer attack and Winter injury.

Dormant spraying helps prevent unsightly "witches broom." This occurs when buds are killed and development of many short twigs is stimulated.

Accident Policy Is Valuable 'Bargain'

Hired or self-employed, in industry, farm, profession, business, organization, government, institution or home, it makes no difference what occupation a worker may pursue when making application for a Paddock Publications' Emergency Protection Personal Accident Policy, because protection is included for practically all work accidents.

Statistics show that work accidents each year kill and disable hundreds of thousands of persons in the face of endless safety warnings and precautionary measures. Such accidents cost millions of dollars.

THIS IS just another reason why Paddock Publications makes available to its subscribers and their immediate family household members this valuable personal accident insurance protection plan designed by Old Republic Life Insurance Company of Chicago, Illinois.

THIS plan helps clear pressing financial obligations which always accumulate when accidents strike. No worker should be without this policy because it will also pay on work accidents covered by Compensation insurance and in addition to any other policy carried.

Apply at the Paddock Publications' office now for a policy for each member of your family household or use the application form which appears in this newspaper. (BB

Littelfuse Acquires Site; To Build New Plant in Area

Littelfuse, Inc., electronic components firm of Des Plaines, has acquired 14.1 acres of land for the construction of a new plant on Hwy. 14, it was announced by Thomas M. Blake, president.

THE LAND is located in Des Plaines between the Benjamin Electric Co., and the U.S. Gypsum Co. It was purchased from Thomas Industries, Inc., of Louisville, Ky., parent firm of Benjamin Electric Co. The real estate transaction was handled by M. Edward Smith, president of Smith-Pipenhagen Inc., of Des Plaines.

The acquired acreage, according to Jack D. Hughes, Littelfuse executive vice president, is sufficient to build a 350,000 sq. ft. plant. However, in the first stage of the firm's expansion plans, a 100,000 sq. ft. plant is contemplated, he explained. It will be a modern, one-story brick plant that will contain offices, engineering, research and manufacturing.

ARCHITECTURAL and contractor plans are to be made soon. The present Littelfuse facilities at 1865 Miner St., Des Plaines are expected to be moved when the new plant is finished.

Littelfuse manufactures products for the electronics, automotive, electrical and aviation industries. They consist of devices designed to protect low-voltage electrical circuits, such as fuses and circuit breakers. The firm employs over 500 employes from Des Plaines, Palatine, Arlington Heights and adjoining communities. (BB

JEFFERY BERNAHL

Many of the paintings are for sale.

Bernahl has exhibited his paintings in many shows including the Libertyville Art Center, the Lyons School in Glenview and the most recent Chicago Arts Festival in McCormick Place.

He has studied at the Art Institute of Chicago and is presently a student at the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts where he is finishing his last year. (BB

What we call "French Dressing" is more often called Vinaigrette Sauce in Spain, though the dressing is made with three times as much olive oil as vinegar.

Rice won't stick to the bottom of the pan if you boil it in an aluminum strainer. The rice will be fluffier cooked this way; the pan will be easier to wash with hot soap or detergent suds.

Kroger Company Elects Two Executive Officers

Joseph B. Hall, president of the Kroger Co. since 1946, has been elected chairman of the board and chief executive officer and Jacob E. Davis, executive vice president, has been elected president of the retail food firm. The company's stores in this area are among 1,350 operated by Kroger throughout the midwest and south.

Hall joined Kroger in 1931 following several years in the real estate and banking field in Chicago. He began as manager of Kroger's real estate department and later moved to merchandising and operations. In 1941 he was elected a vice president and director of the company. He was executive vice president and treasurer prior to his election as president in 1946.

DAVIS, a native of Beaver, Ohio, had a career in law, politics, and government service prior to joining Kroger as a vice president in 1944.

He served as majority leader in the Ohio General Assembly and as a judge of the Court of Common Pleas before election to the House of Representatives, 77th Congress, in 1940. He was special assistant to the Secretary of the Navy and assistant general counsel for the Navy Department during World War II.

Davis was elected a Kroger director in 1949 and executive vice president a year ago. During his 17 years with Kroger, his responsibilities have included personnel, labor relations, law, and public relations as well as supervision of the operations of several retail store divisions.

Hall is a graduate of the University of Chicago while Davis graduated from Ohio State University and received a law degree from Harvard University. Both were elected to Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic society, while in college.

Kroger, now the nation's third largest food retailer, began with one small store opened in 1883 in Cincinnati where the company's general headquarters are still located. Sales in 1961 totaled $1,842,342,667. (BB

All American Insurance Holds Annual Meeting

Approximately 400 shareowners attended All American Life & Casualty Co.'s 12th annual meeting, April 5, in Park Ridge. More than 80 per cent of the total outstanding shares were represented either in person or by proxy.

New issued and paid life insurance amounted to $91,242,640, placing the company among the first 15 per cent from the standpoint of business in force, of almost 1,500 companies operating in the United States, according to an announcement made by E. E. Ballard, president of the company.

Paid health premiums totalled $5,707,167.93, a gain of 15.9 per cent over previous year, far above the national average and sufficient to place the company among the first 10 per cent apengaged in the health insurance business.

The Company's assets have doubled in slightly less than 3½ years, Ballard reported.

The shareowners voted the stock option plan for the benefit of employees and sales representatives, who are recognized as responsible for the successful operation, growth and success of the company.

Bringing the picture of All American growth up to date, Ballard stated, "Life sales for January were 44 per cent over January, 1961;

February sales were 50 per cent higher and the increase for March was 70 per cent. At this rate, our goal of one billion of life insurance in force by July 10, 1971, will be reached ahead of schedule and will set a record in the insurance industry."

Conservationists are happy about the efforts of a Lake County man who is trying to increase Mallard populations in our many lakes and marshes and ponds in Lake and Cook Counties.

Bob Brown of Wadsworth, Ill., has patented a Predator Proof Duck Nest which should help nature to replenish our Mallard numbers.

ACCORDING to Bob Brown, a lifetime student of nature, "What generally happens is that the predators—skunk, raccoon, fox, mink, crow, dogs, turtles, livestock, snakes or some creature which roams the shorelines, get the eggs and many times the nesting duck."

After observing that successful hatches were in nest above the water in old boats, duck blinds, muskrat houses, etc., he tried to perfect a man-made nest above the water.

After many attempts with various materials he perfected and patented a simple round, 2 foot long, 13 inch wide, weather-proof plywood box which slips over an iron pipe to be put above the water. A special partition protects the ducklings from predators.

Employes of a local farm and garden store, — Lake-Cook Farm Supply Co. at Arlington Heights are urging folks who live near water to help conserve our wildlife by erecting this Predator-Proof Nest this year.

FOR BROCHURE with complete information, write to Lake-Cook Farm Supply Co., 997 Lee St., Des Plaines, or stop at Lake-Cook stores at Arlington Heights to obtain this nest.

Or contact Bob Brown direct at Box 134, Wadsworth, Ill.

Phone EL 6-1441.

Vernon Heinz, manager of the Arlington Heights farm store, who earlier sponsored a "Save the Bluebird" campaign, is also interested in having folks build and erect wood duck nests to promote nesting and hatching of the beautiful wood duck. "This duck also needs help desperately," said Heinz.

A sample of this nest and information can be obtained at the same farm store. (BB

Here's Rule of Thumb On Fertilizing Soil

Fertilizing your home garden according to a soil test is the most accurate way to determine what plant nutrients you need.

But if you haven't had time to test your garden soil, University of Illinois vegetable crops specialist J. S. Vandemark gives this rule of thumb to guide you:

If your garden is in the same area year after year and has received fertilizer, using 5-10-10 at the rate of 25 pounds per 1,000 square feet should produce good results.

FOR HANDY home measuring, that's about a heaping one-pound coffee can of fertilizer per 100 square feet. This amount provides enough nitrogen, phosphorus and potash without becoming toxic to garden plants. Vandemark advises.

Many gardeners wonder about trace elements. Don't. Illinois soils, says Vandemark, have adequate supplies of trace elements. There are few, if any, cases where trace elements would benefit your garden crops.

When should you apply fertilizer? It's best to apply it before you plow or spade so that you can work it 4 to 6 inches deep in the soil.

IT'S best to apply the entire amount when working the soil rather than sidedressing later. If you want to sidedress later, use only a coffee can of fertilizer per 1,000 square feet when tomatoes have set fruit or, in the case of corn, when it is 6 to 12 inches tall.

Using the right kind of fertilizer in a solution will give transplanted stock a real boost, says Vandemark. A high-phosphorus fertilizer is important here, he points out.

Use a soluble fertilizer with a 10-52-17, 10-50-10 or similar analysis at the rate of two tablespoons per gallon of water. A cup of this solution to each plant tends to establish roots, settles the soil around the plant and stimulates root growth. (S

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

If you have let your lawn go, chances are it's out of condition, just as you'd be if you lost the battle of the calories. Lawns, like people, need conditioning.

And proper springtime care can make your lawn the pride of the neighborhood. We suggest these seven steps for prize lawns:

ROLL. Freezing and thawing during the winter causes the sod to heave, leaving lumpy, uneven areas in the lawn. You will probably need to roll your lawn in early spring. But don't do it when the soil is wet. Rolling wet soil or heavy clay soils causes compaction that hinders root development and moisture penetration. Uuse about 100 pounds of weight for each foot of roller width.

RAKE. About a week before the first mowing, rake up the dead grass, leaves, twigs, and other debris that's been collecting since last fall. If grass is unusually high, you may have to rake up clippings after mowing. If so, let them dry for a day before raking.

MOW. Mow when the grass is about three inches high. Cut it to a height of about 1½ inches, then cut it each time it gets over 2½ inches tall.

FERTILIZE. Use a nitrogen-carrying fertilizer on lawns at least twice a year. Apply it in March or April and again in late August or early September. Use 20 pounds of 10-8-6, or a similar analysis, per 1,000 square feet for Merion bluegrass. Kentucky bluegrass needs only 12 to 15 pounds. The vigor of the lawn indicates the amount of fertilizer you'll need to use; vigorous lawns may not need as much as is recommended here.

WATER. Lawns usually do not need extra water in the spring. But if they do, soak the soil to a depth of 6 inches. Then wait for about a week before watering again.

CONTROL WEEKS. If correct management doesn't crowd out crabgrass, a host of pre-emergence chemicals are now available. Limit them to established lawns, and follow the label directions closely.

A rule of thumb—apply them before the lilacs start to bloom. Dacthal, Zytron, calcium arsenate and diphenatrile give good results on grassy weeds when used as pre-emergence sprays, that is, before the seeds germinate. For post-emergence control of crabgrass, use disodium methyl arsonate (DSMA) or amine methyl arsonate (AMA).

To control broadleaf weeds, 2, 4-D is still a good bet. But follow directions closely when applying. To reduce the danger of killing ornamentals, use the 2, 4-D amine form. It's less volatile.

CONTROL INSECTS AND DISEASES. Sod webworms and grubs are two of the biggest lawn problems from the insect world. DDT or chlordane will control webworms. Aldrin or chlordane will control grubs. Apply DDT as a spray. Use either spray or granular form of aldrin or chlordane on established sods. In all cases follow label directions.

To help you with problems which arise in caring for your lawn, write us for the following publications: "How to Have an Attractive Lawn," "A Dozen Weeds in Your Lawn," and "Lawn Diseases in the Midwest." Cooperative Extension Service, 201 N. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights. (BB

List Safety Precautions For Kites

Youngsters currently trying to launch kites into orbit are cautioned to do it safely by Richard J. Seitz, district superintendent of Public Service Co.

The local utility official passes on these suggestions to keep the danger out of kite-flying:

1) Choose open and unobstructed places for launching sites—keep away from traffic, trees, utility poles, wires and other obstructions.

2) DO NOT use metal in any part of the kite and never fly it during a storm.

3) If a kite gets snagged in a high tree or overhead wire, leave it there. Trying to retrieve it may result in a serious accident. (B8

Weed Control Now—Leisure Later

The first burst of enthusiasm for lawn care that comes out of sheer winter weariness is often short-lived. If you'd rather spend the warm weather season golfing, fishing, swimming or just snoozing in the hammock, now is the time to spend a few minutes planning a weed control program that will pay dividends in free time later.

Assuming that you have an established lawn sowed with high quality seed, the first step is fertilizing in early spring, followed by two or three lighter applications throughout the season. An important second step is setting the mower high—as much as three inches in southern parts of the bluegrass region—to help the grass shade and crowd out weeds.

Third step is a chemical weed control program beginning with the crab grass killer recommended by your county agent or research specialist in your area. An application of one of the new pre-emergence crab grass killers in early spring before crab grass seeds sprout will take care of this pest for the year. Broadleaf weeds can be killed on a spot basis if they become a problem.

For a finishing touch you can use the new wax bar impregnated with dalapon for killing all vegetation along walks, driveways, under fences and along the sides of the house.

Today's Agriculture

By CARL F. MEES, Chairman, County Extension Service

A popular area of conversation just now is taxes, because we received the tax bills on or about April 1. Several people who have stopped in my office are concerned about the rise in taxes each year. Your taxes are determined by the valuation on your property multiplied by the equalization factor (which is 1.41 for Cook county). This figure multiplied by the tax rate for your area will give you your total tax bill.

If you think your tax bill is too high, little can be done about your present bill, but complaints with regard to 1962 real estate valuation can be filed with the board of appeals, Room 333, County building, Chicago. Dates when this can be done will be announced this summer.

You also must pay your taxes under protest. What this really means is that if any taxing body has an illegal levy as determined by the court, that portion which is illegal will be refunded to the taxpayer. It takes from three to five years to obtain the refunds. Taxing bodies are usually quite careful to submit a legal levy because it does tie up the use of a percentage of their funds for the period.

This, many times, works a hardship on the taxing body. Members of the taxing body should make sure that all the items included in their budget are legal expenditures. Generally taxing bodies do not knowingly include questionable items in their budget, but it has happened.

I presume officials in Wheeling Township would agree that too much money causes almost as many headaches as not enough. I was surprised when I couldn't find a place to park within a block of Miner Junior High School last week, the evening the proposed budget was presented to the electorate.

Upon entering the building I found a good crowd in the gym. The budget was presented and passed, with about the usual amount of questions. This took until about 9 p. m. After the budget was passed, the question of the transfer of funds was presented. I realized then why the big crowd.

A real lively discussion took place as to how to dispose of $150,000 in excess funds. The schools wanted $100,000, the people supporting the road and bridge fund wanted a cut of the pie also. I was in complete sympathy with both groups, but it appeared to me that one group was trying to out-do the other.

After two hours of discussion and several pollings of the crowd, the question was finally resolved for the schools to receive $90,000 and the road and bridge $60,000.

If this amount of money is reflected in the school levies your taxes may come down next year or it may be as one individual expressed it, "they will not go up as much."

There were a few over 300 attending the meeting. There are in the vicinity of 30,000 eligible voters in Wheeling Township.

I hope next year more will attend the budget meeting to hear how your township money is spent and maybe a report will be forthcoming as to how the money was spent in the school and road and bridge fund.

Farmers' Forecast

Outlook for Grain Appears the Same

by L. H. SIMERL

Farmers may produce about as much grain this year as they did in 1961. Apparently they will plant more acres, but average per acre yields may be lower.

Fewer farmers are signing up to idle feed grain land. And they report that they intend to plant more corn and sorghum grain than they planted last year.

Up to March 22 they had signed up to idle 16.0 million acres of corn land. This was 3.0 million acres less than had been signed up at the same stage of the 1961 program and 4.0 million less than the total acreage diverted last year.

THEY HAD signed to idle 4.5 million acres of sorghum grain land. This was 1.0 million less than at the same stage of the 1961 program and 2.1 million acres less than was signed last year.

By March 8 they had signed to reduce barley planting by 1.7 million acres. There was no barley program in 1961.

Additional acreages of corn, sorghum grain and barley land have been signed up since the report dates, but the total idle land seems likely to be less this year than in 1961.

REPORTS FROM farmers to the USDA in March indicated that they planned to plant 69 million acres of corn. This would be 3 per cent more than was planted last year.

At the same time they reported that they would plant 15 million acres of sorghum grain, 2 per cent more than in 1961. The increases in acreages of corn and sorghum grain will be partly offset by cuts in acreages of oats and barley.

Plans call for planting only 31 million acres of oats, 6 per cent less than was planted a year ago. There is no government payment for reducing oat acreage, but farmers are shifting to more profitable crops, especially soybeans.

ACCORDING TO reports, barley will be planted on 15 million acres, 4 per cent less than last year.

Soybean acreage will be up 2 per cent if March intentions are carried out. This is less than a normal increase, but it follows the unusually big acreage jump of 15 per cent last year.

Average per acre crop yields may be less than last year. All of the major corn belt crops produced exceptionally high yields in 1961. Illinois yields were up more than those in other states. Weather conditions may be as good as they were in 1961, but I would not bet on it. Farmers in North Dakota and Montana, and their neighbors in Canada, can attest to the fact that drouth can still do a lot of damage.

THE USDA will continue to dominate the corn market. As of mid-March the CCC still had to sell enough grain to raise $150 million to cover expenses of the 1961 feed-grain program. It can sell at least another $600 million worth to meet costs of the 1962 program. In addition, it will sell any corn that is no longer storable and may sell corn for export.

Will the government run out of corn? Not soon. On March 23 the CCC still owned 1,458 million bushels of feed grains, and farmers had placed over 700 million bushels more under price support. (Fm

Elk Grove Unit Hears Mrs. Upham

Celebrating 90th Arbor Day in U.S.

April is the month when man pays homage to trees!

During this month, many tree-conscious communities throughout the land will celebrate the 90th anniversary of Arbor Day.

The great day was born April 10, 1872, in the state then known as "treeless Nebraska," by J. Sterling Morton, later to become Secretary of Agriculture. More than 1,000,000 trees were planted across the Nebraska prairies for the occasion.

WILLARD WEST, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., points out that, while tree planting festivals have been held in many lands for centuries, no one ever set aside a special annual date for the event until Morton arrived on the scene. He fathered the plan and gave the name for the holiday.

Eventually, these Arbor Day projects became so popular that the Nebraska legislature in 1895 adopted the title, "Tree Planter's State." It also changed the official observance to April 22—the date of Morton's birth.

In the years since, every state has adopted the idea although the date of its observance varies widely due to climatic conditions. In the North, the day is generally observed in April while in the South it may occur any time from December to February.

EVEN FOREIGN lands now have special tree planting days. Among the more prominent are Canada, England, Australia, Germany, France, Norway and Japan. Russia is also in on the tree parade.

In this country, most schools observe Arbor Day with special tree planting ceremonies. And today, many persons active in tree care and forest preservation work first learned to know and love their leafy friends on such a childhood Arbor Day.

Antibiotics Slow Gains: Researchers

Certain antibiotics that have been used in a swine herd for several months may become less effective in stimulating gains than when they were first used, University of Illinois swine research workers reported this week.

However, some new antibiotics or certain combinations of these drugs that have not been used previously in the herd produce a significant boost in rate of gain when fed to growing-finishing pigs.

Oxytetracycline - oleandomycin, tylosin and Virginiamycin produced 18 to 21 per cent faster gain than a control ration containing no antibiotics.

COMBINATION of tylosin-streptomycin boosted gains by 12.5 per cent over the control ration. Procaine penicillin-streptomycin produced only 6 per cent faster gain.

As a result of these research findings, U. of I. swine research workers recommend that swine producers change antibiotic supplements on a year-to-year basis.

Information is not sufficient at present to suggest how frequent the change should be or what antibiotics are best to use.

Cattlemen Will Meet At Urbana

Illinois cattle feeders will gather on the University of Illinois campus at Urbana on Friday, April 13, to hear the latest research results.

Tours of the research farm begin at 9 a.m Cattle in current feeding tests will be on dispiay. A completely automated feeding system will also be in operation.

During the afternoon in the University auditorium research workers will discuss recent research results.

TOPICS INCLUDE relationship of nitrate content of feed and Vitamin A in the ration, effect of energy level in the ration on protein requirements of finishing cattle, effect of heavy silage feeding on feed requirements and carcass quality, and factors affecting yield of trimmed cuts in the beef carcass.

Signs of Spring Or ..Lure of Open Road

MILWAUKEE, (UPI) — A man who left an itemized account of what he took from his employer was being sought by authorities Saturday.

Police said Alfred Miller, 26, has been charged with the theft of $75 from the service station where he worked.

The station owner, Robert Wiringer, said he found a note on his desk when he opened the station Friday.

It read:

"Two tires — $48; 13 gallons of gas — $5; $75 in cash. Total — $138. Sorry Bob, but I had to go. I left my wife and kids too. Don't think too badly of me. Will pay you back as soon as possible. Going to K.C."

Wiringer said Miller left four children.

ST. LOUIS, (UPI) — Police are searching for a repentant thief Monday who took $687 from his employers' safe during the weekend and left a note saying he was "truly sorry."

Henry Algermissen, operator of the Prime Steer Restaurant, opened his office safe Sunday to get the weekend receipts and found instead an I.O.U.

Written on a guest check was the message: "Henry, IOU $687." It was signed by one of his employes. On the other side of the check was written: "Henry, I am truly sorry, but I am fed up with my family and I am going to places unknown. You will get your money back in full." (A-14

Ground Rods Important To Farmers

The lightning protection system on buildings is only as good as the ground rods, says a University of Illinois extension safety specialist.

O. L. Hogsett says the ground rods often rust off a few inches below the ground. The rod may look solid, but it won't protect anything.

Spring brings thunder showers that also include lots of lightning. You should include lightning rod inspection in your spring cleanup.

GIVE THE whole protection system a good going-over, especially the ground connections. If you break a ground rod, it was too weak and rusted to do any good.

Replace broken rods with new 5/8-inch rods 8 feet long. Use a good clamp to fasten the cable to the rod.

Check to see that livestock haven't broken the junction between cables and ground rod through constant rubbing on the cables.

A good spring cleanup makes any farm safer. (FM

Spring Cleanup on Farm Recommended

Before the busy spring season starts, clean up hazards that have accumulated around your farm this past winter.

Every farm family should plan a spring cleanup all around the farm, says O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois.

"A place for everything and everything in its place," is a good safety slogan. Disorder around the farm and home is responsible for hospitalizing one out of every five accident victims.

Check your farm shop. Make sure that tools are in good repair and in their right places.

REMOVE the accummulation of scrap metals and debris and trash, such as paper, packing boxes and boards, that are fire hazards and ideal hiding places for rats.

At this season many barns have become cluttered with things used during the winter. With the coming of spring it is important to find suitable locations or storage space for feed, tools and other equipment to keep alleyways and work areas clear.

A little cleanup now not only will provide a healthful environment, but will help to save time and manpower throughout the coming farm season. (Fm

Warning to Farmers on Work Clothes

Dress fit to live rather than fit to kill this spring when you're operating power tools around the farm, cautions O. L. Hogsett, University of Illinois extension safety specialist.

Work clothes, he points out, can be deadly dangerous. Loose, ragged garments can cause accidents when they get tangled in shop tools and machinery.

Safe work clothes should be simple in design, smooth-fitting and clean.

FOR SAFETY in operating farm tools around the farm, don't wear a wrist watch, necktie or ring, Hogsett further cautions.

He also says that the safety-conscious person works with his sleeves rolled up and wears safety goggles, even if he wears regular glasses, when grinding metal or using any machine that produces loose objects. (Fm

To Streamline Law On Farm Standards

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI)—The Illinois Department of Agriculture is working on a plan to modernize the laws and regulations pertaining to standards, weights and measures, Director Ralph S. Bradley said Monday.

"Present state laws dealing with standards date back to 1921, and certain revisions are necessary to make them realistic and workable under present modern conditions, Bradley said.

NATIONALLY uniform standards laws will be considered at a meeting here Thursday, Bradley said.

W. S. Bussey, director of the National Bureau of Standards, Washington D.C., will attend the meeting to discuss coordination of efforts to establish such a model, or uniform, law to apply in all the states.

"A considerable amount of work and a number of conferences have been held throughout the country under the coordination of Mr. Bussey, in the attempt to perfect some nationally uniform standards law," Bradley said. (A-14

'Unsung Hero' for Play Is Jim Beall

Even though he won't be taking any on-stage bows when Des Plaines Theatre Guild presents its world premiere of a new play next month, one of the production's unsung heroes will be Palatine resident, James Beall, 211 Winston Drive.

Beall, who joined the Des Plaines drama group last year along with his wife, Julie, is in charge of the complicated lighting and sound for "October Festival," the guild's national prize winning drama to be presented May 4, 5, 11, 12, 13, 17 and 18, at Rand Park.

Last week the group's board of directors voted a sizable appropriation to allow Beall and Joseph McDermott, 109 N. Maple, Mount Prospect, stage manager, to install a permanent new sound system, to be ready in time for the world premiere.

THE NEW sound equipment coupled with the complete new lighting plan, which Beall designed and installed last fall will make the Theatre Guild one of the best technically-equipped community theatres in the Chicago area, according to Wilhelm Levander, president.

Richard Hoyt, 807 S. SeeGwun, Mount Prospect, has been announced as set designer for the Guild's world premiere production. Last season Hoyt designed the intricate stage settings for the Des Plaines group's production of "Rashomon."

Another Mount Prospect resident active in the backstage preparations for "October Festival" is Mrs. Jeannine Jakala, 615 N. Elmhurst, who will be working on the set painting crew and helping with props.

Julie Beall (Mrs. James) of Palatine, is properties chairman.

MRS. LORRAINE Alonso, 2003 N. Fernandez Place, Arlington Heights, is working with the wardrobe committee of the new play, which will close the 16th season of the Des Plaines Theatre Guild.

"October Festival," chosen from over 125 entries from all parts of the country, was written by Wallace Dace, Sweet Briar, Va., who will receive $300 from the Theatre Guild as first prize in the national playwriting contest sponsored by the group.

Tickets for the world premiere run of the play are already on sale and may be obtained by calling Mrs. John Clark, VA 4-8019. (Bill

'Silver Whistle' Set By Guild for May 11

"The Silver Whistle," spring production of the Hoffman Estates Theatre Guild, will mark the end of the guild's fourth season. This comedy by Robert E. McEnroe, dealing with life in a home for the aged, will be presented at the Parkside School, 233 E. Maple, Roselle, May 11 and 12.

The Theatre Guild has presented a list of challenging plays beginning with "The Tender Trap" in 1958. Other productions included "Harvey," "Sabrina Fair," "The Emperor's New Clothes," as well as comedies "George Washington Slept Here" and "Make A Million."

Last season's "The Country Girl" was the guild's first attempt at drama and was applauded as a "professional achievement."

THIS SEASON the guild introduced a murder mystery, "Someone Waiting," followed by the recently successful children's play "Cricket On The Hearth."

Guild members include some ex - professionals who share their knowledge of theatre art with other members.

In "The Country Girl" the stage crew, working in the usual cramped and limited facilities available to anateur groups, was able to effect the split second timing necessary to manage six set changes well within the 60 seconds allotted between scenes.

For its spring offering, the Hoffman Estates Theatre Guild has chosen this sparkling three act comedy, which tells of the magical effect a world and word wise hobo has on the listless lives of aged people when he claims he can make them all 25 years younger.

CAST IN the role Jose Ferrer originated in the Broadway smash run is Dick Linnell of Hoffman Estates, as Oliver T. Erwenter, the irrepressible wanderer who impersonates a 77-year-old man in order to gain shelter in the home for the aged.

Roselle resident, Phyllis Meier, abandons back stage chores and makes her debut in the romantic lead as Miss Tripp, young superintendent of the home.

In one corner of the romantic triangle which develops with Miss Tripp and Erwenter is Reverend Watson, played by Al Bollyn, a veteran performer and a founder of the Hoffman Estates Theatre Guild.

EMMETT, the philosophical hobo and traveling companion of the elusive Erwenter, will be played by Hank Netter.

Featured as the old people are Howard Risberg as Mr. Beebe; Dot Sicher as Mrs. Hanmer; Lorraine Howe as Mrs. Sampler; supported by Allen Johnson as Mr. Cherry; Dorris Sivers as Mrs. Gross; and Betty Lou Funk as Miss Hoadley. Others in the cast are Ernie Wurm, Joe Kuzyk, Sid Sicher, and Al Vancel.

"The Silver Whistle" is being directed by Vic Simone, who brings to the guild a background of amateur theatre experience stretching over a period of twenty years in New York and Chicago.

Ticket information may be obtained from Joan Holm, ticket chairman for this production, at LA 9-5762, or from Lorraine Howe, TW 4-6710. (Bill

Conductor of Orchestra to Return Here

Perry Crafton, conductor of the Northwest Symphony Orchestra and member of the violin section of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, will make a return trip to Park Ridge on April 15 to conduct the final concert of the orchestra's 10th season at 8 p.m. that Sunday evening at Maine Township High School East.

Crafton and the Chicago Symphony will appear in concert at Rock Island on that afternoon —a date unannounced until a few weeks ago—making necessary the change in time of the Northwest Symphony Concert.

THE CONCERT will feature Miss Mary Sauer, pianist, in the Tschaikowsky "Piano Concerto No. in B-Flat Minor." The Northwest Symphony will perform the Mendelssohn "Italian Symphony," Wagner's "Siegfried's Rhine Journey," and the "Vienna Life" and Sibelius, "Valse Triste."

Tickets for the concert are available from orchestra members, by calling VA 4-7727, or at the door. (Bill

Pianist to Be Featured On April 15

Mary Sauer, concert pianist, will be the featured soloist with the Northwest Symphony Orchestra on April 15, at 8 p.m. in the Auditorium of Maine Township High School East, Dempster and Potter Roads, Park Ridge.

Miss Sauer will play the Tschaikowsky Piano Concerto No. 1 in B Minor with the orchestra under the direction of Perry Crafton.

Miss Sauer has been official pianist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra for four years. She has appeared as soloist with the Chicago Symphony and the Chicago Business Men's Orchestra, the Evanston Civic Orchestra and many others. She has also appeared in recital at Orchestra Hall.

MISS SAUER can be seen frequently with the Chicago Symphony on the Great Music from Chicago series, and has played on the program Music Showcase. She has appeared on radio Artist's Showcase, and the Chicago Theatre of the Air.

The Northwest Symphony's final program of the season will also include Mendelssohn's Italian Symphony, Siegfried's Rhine Journey by Wagner, and the contrasting waltzes, Strauss' Vienna Life and Sibelius' Valse Triste.

Tickets will be available at the door or from orchestra members. (Bill

Village Theatre to Vote For New Executive Board

Election of Village Theatre's executive board for the next season will be first on the agenda at the group's monthly meeting tonight—taking precedence over the entertainment portion of the program.

The meeting will be held at 8:15 p.m. in Park School, Arlington Heights. To be elected are president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, educational workshop chairman, and playreading committee chairman.

ENTERTAINMENT later will feature a novel "after-the-show" interview presentation by member Jack Andreani. After one of the performances of "We Must Kill Toni" in March, Andreani made his way through the departing audience, asking patrons for their candid opinion of the play in the manner of the big time interview shows.

The results, captured by tape recorder, will be presented tonight. This presentation was produced by the educational workshop, under the direction of Bob Hawley.

Also on the program will be a cutting from a recent Broadway play, with Randy Moses and Shirley Freeman. Director will be Ann Hume.

MONDAY, April 16, at 7:30 p.m., director Richard Tyler will conduct tryouts in the North Room of Pioneer Park fieldhouse for Village Theatre's final presentation of the season, "Solid Gold Cadillac," by Howard Teichmann and George S. Kaufman.

The play has a total cast of 18, including a narrator, several business tycoons, a woman who questions their ethics, a couple of secretaries who flit in and out, news service reporters, and news broadcasters.

"Also available," a Theatre member said, "is a plum of a part for a little old lady who has one line." (Bill

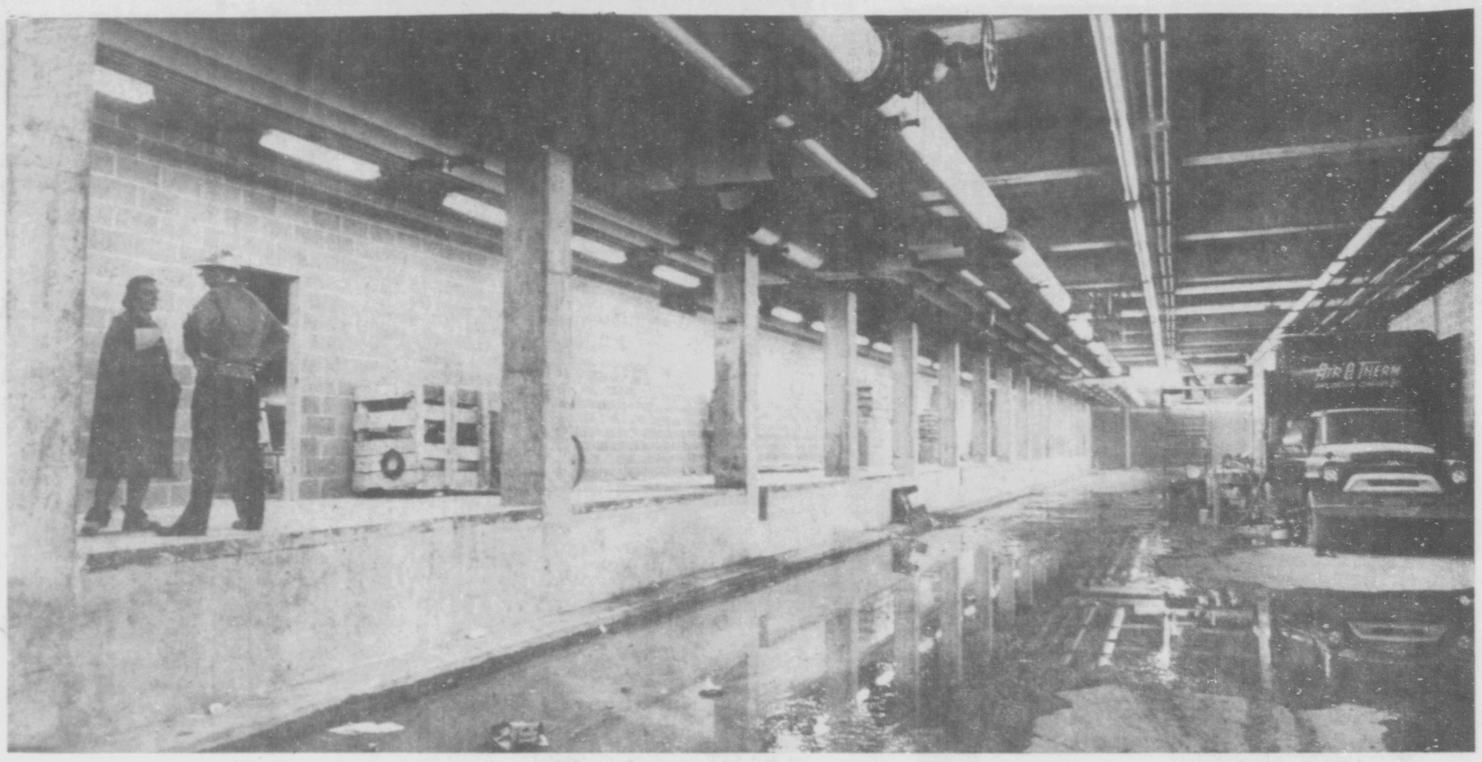
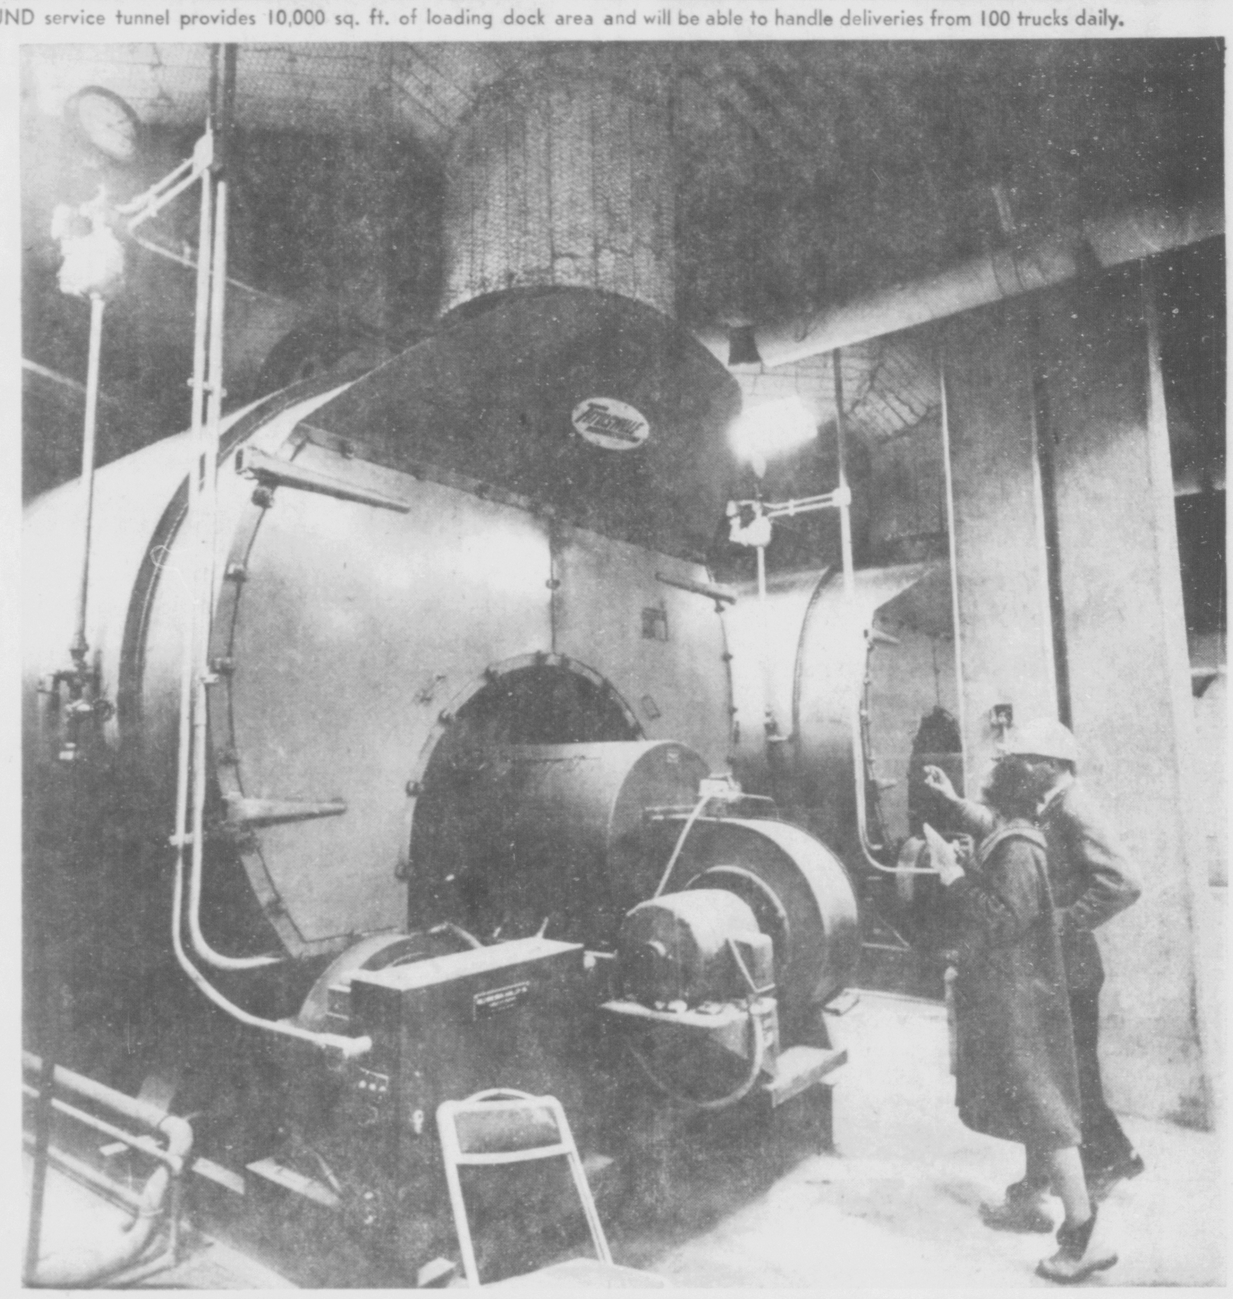
A CENTRAL POWER plant to provide heat, air conditioning and hot water for the entire Randhurst Center is a maze of pipes, boilers and the latest technical equipment.

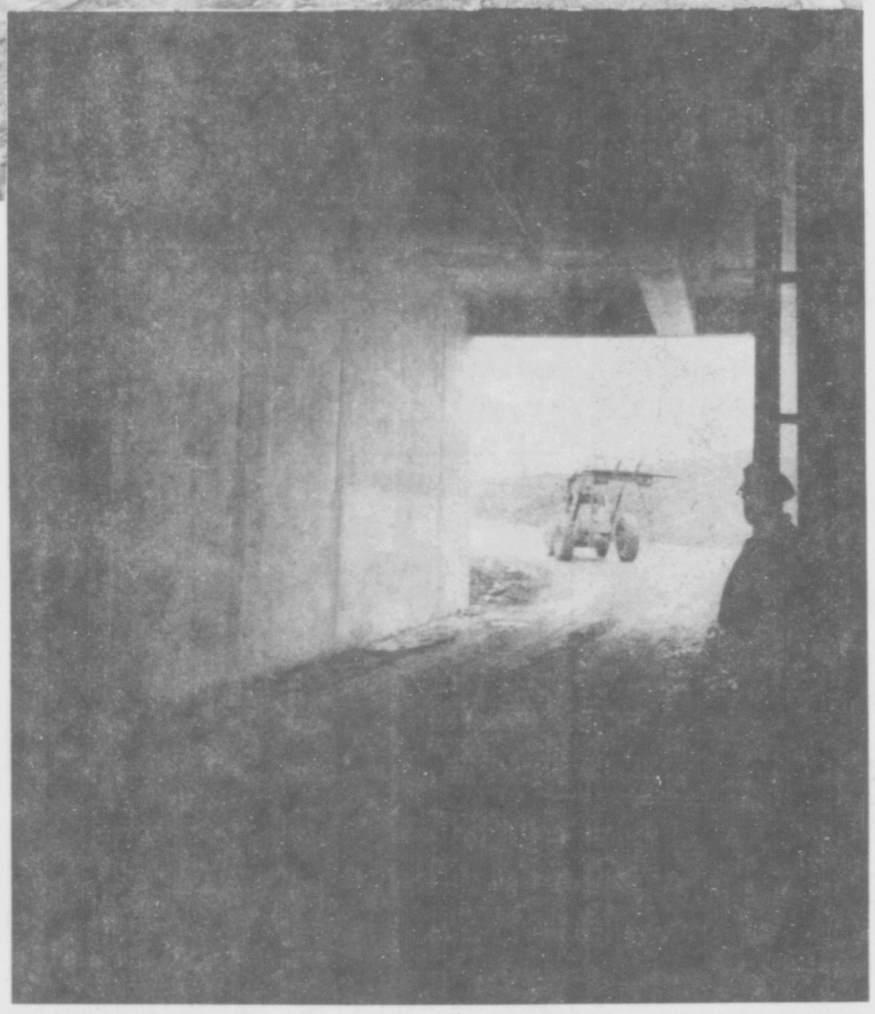


THE UNDERGROUND service tunnel provides 10,000 sq. ft. of loading dock area and will be able to handle deliveries from 100 trucks daily.

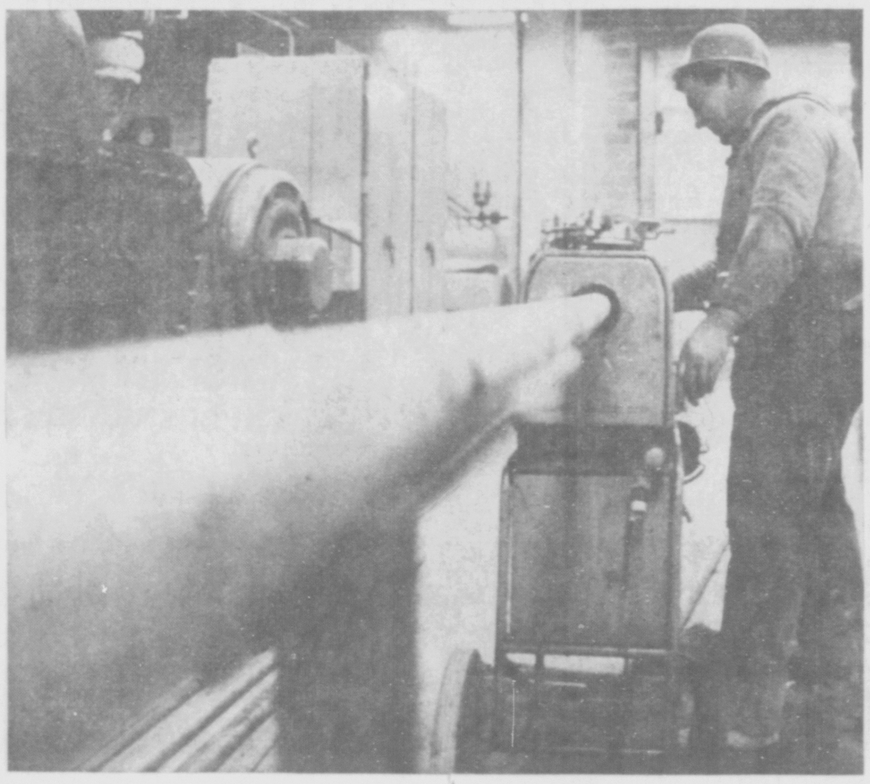


THREE LARGE oil fired boilers will provide central heating for the entire Randhurst Center. Each burner will use approximately 200 gallons of fuel oil per hour. Fuel oil, of a tar-like consistency, will be stored in two 30,000 gallon tanks.

ALL RANDHURST deliveries and shipping will be made via a three-sided underground service tunnel.



FROM INSIDE THE huge service tunnel large pieces of construction equipment look like toys.



IT HAS TAKEN the technical labor of many persons to build the central power plant for Randhurst which will be the world's largest shopping center under one roof. Present plans call for the center to open this coming August in Mount Prospect.

The stage is set — the curtain goes up — and the audience is spellbound with what it sees and enjoys — never giving thought to the technical behind-the-scenes activities which are providing many of the unnoticed comforts.

The fascination of the audience — brought about by a superbly directed production — and the comfort it unconsciously enjoys — can well describe experiences in store for area shoppers — in the next few months — when Mount Prospect's 110-acre "Hit Spectacular," Randhurst Shopping Center, goes "on stage."

In the case of Randhurst — "backstage" will be "underground" — where a huge power plant will keep the center winter warm and summer cool.

Underground will also be a beehive of activity — out of sight of the customers — where a unique, circular lower-level service route (shipping and receiving) will operate — eliminating what many times becomes a bothersome traffic bottleneck for customers.

The service tunnel will be wide enough for two trucks to pass and will circle the underground core of the center. Trucks will make deliveries and shipping stops at individual loading docks for the stores which will be a part of Randhurst.

This will free the parking lots for the exclusive use of Randhurst's customers.

Huge boilers in the underground power plant will provide heat, hot water and power needs for the entire center — no matter whether it's at the peak of the Christmas rush season — or during the "lull" of business.

Three large boilers, 12 ft. in diameter and 25 ft. long, will heat air to warm the center while two 600 hp boilers will provide up to 25,000 gallons of hot water for all tennants and customers. They will also furnish steam and other hot water needs for the restaurants.

In the summer, the furnace equipment gets a rest and the air conditioning units take over. The equipment will provide a uniform comfortable temperature — the equivalent of 4,600 tons of ice per hour — or enough cool air to cool 5,000 homes.

Why is Randhurst providing these comforts? Not just to keep the truck drivers out of the cold when they make deliveries — (but confidentially — they love the pampering) — but to make safety, comfort and convenience bywords whenever the name of Randhurst is heard or thought of.

BILL HANSON, mechanical and electrical engineer who has been in charge of building the power plant explains the magnitude of the plant to Melda Lynn of Paddock Publication's staff.

SUBURBAN PRESS FOUNDATION — ADVANCING FAMILY COMMUNITY LIFE

Poor Team Without Him!

The Way We See It

County Plan Group Needs Suburb Voice

The Cook County Regional Planning Commission proposed by County Board President John J. Duffy could be a blessing or an ogre, depending upon its use.

Actually, the establishment of such an agency is long overdue. We do not argue with its creation; we do believe, however, that suburban areas will have to make their voices heard to secure adequate representation on such a body.

Suburban communities will have an opportunity to voice their concerns at a public hearing which will be convened within 30 to 60 days. Prior to that time, they will have an opportunity to study the suggested structure and functions of this advisory plan group, for Duffy has promised that copies of the proposal will be mailed to every one of the more than 125 cities and villages in Cook County.

This action, taken by county initiative, follows the opinion of the Cook County State's Attorney's office that recent legislation denies municipalities the right to exercise control over zoning within a mile-and-a-half of their corporate limits, although Atty. Gen. William G. Clark has ruled the reverse.

Gov. Otto Kerner told Paddock Publications editors in an interview in February that he thought the legislature felt the 1½-mile limit law was being abused by municipalities, and expressed this belief in the legislation now being disputed by suburban communities in declaratory judgment court suits.

Obviously, zoning in unincorporated areas of Cook County should be subjected to the scrutiny and recommendations of professional planners. Furthermore, such an agency could act as a clearing house of information, research, and reference for the 125 municipalities and unincorporated communities in the county.

What is important is the composition of the commission. It will consist of nine members, four of whom will be county officials: the president of the county board, the superintendent of county highways, the chairman of the zoning committee of the county board and the state's attorney. Their terms shall coincide with their tenure of public office.

The five appointed members shall hold office in staggered terms. They shall be appointed by Duffy, with approval by the county board.

This is an area where an amendment might be in order. While the membership of the county board includes suburban commissioners, they are in the minority.

In order to secure their say on the plan commission, suburban communities should insist on some method whereby their interests will be represented.

Only by being alert to their rights and needs — instead of granting greater influence and control to the county by default — will suburban communities continue to serve themselves and their citizens.

Establishment of a county regional planning commission should be entered into by county and suburban officials as a partnership to their mutual benefit instead of a disenfranchisement — which it could become.

Some Doubts Are Raised

The best argument for abolishment of township government seems to be the conduct of township officials themselves.

Critics of this form of government, which served Granddad in the horse and buggy era, insist it has become archaic. They point out that many of its services are often duplicated by other levels of government.

Like the paint peeling off the walls in many town halls, township government's inner structural weaknesses have been revealed as more and more areas of Cook County become incorporated, making its functions obsolete.

Township government: "Archaic . . . lacking purpose."

But the recent antics of township officials as they prepared for the annual town meetings just concluded make one wonder if they remember they are public servants elected to serve the best interests of the people.

The maneuvering which marked their attempts to secure budgetary approval indicates short memories. It appears that they view township government more as a private corporation whose perpetuity they must insure rather than as the dutiful ally of its citizens.

Township officials, it was demonstrated at the various town meetings, are close-mouthed about the functions of their government but outspoken about its "needs." These needs, as citizens discovered at the meetings, are often overstated, sometimes non-existent.

One impression that some township officials tried to leave with their constituents was that unless money was made available from surplus funds to the road and bridge fund, it would be reflected in higher tax levies for necessary road maintenance. The township road commissioner, however, is obliged to levy a minimum tax so that the township will be eligible for motor fuel tax funds.

Township officials do little to justify their needs, yet jealously guard against putting their surplus funds to work in areas of chronic need.

Only the presence of an alert citizenry permitted the transfer of $90,000 in surplus Wheeling Township funds to the elementary school districts. In Palatine Township, citizens pared the General Assistance Fund by $10,900 — from $52,900 to $42,000.

Perhaps the most telling monuments to township government officials' obsession with perpetuating the office are the brand new town halls which have been constructed in recent years. They are like flowers blooming in the vegetable patch: handsome, but lacking in purpose.

The need for certain aspects of township government continues to diminish. We previously reserved our judgment, however, on whether this form of government should be abolished. The recent performance of township officials is raising some fresh doubts in our mind.

Critic's Corner

The Danger Of Voting

by LARRY CAMERON

Chief Photographer

The Primary Election on April 10 was my first opportunity to cast a ballot since my 21st birthday last September. It was one of the most important days of my life, for I regard the vote I cast on Tuesday as the most important thing about achieving legal age.

Apparently, there are not very many people who feel likewise. It was discouraging to watch voters stream into the polls totally unprepared to cast an intelligent ballot and completely unaware of the responsibility that accompanies the privilege of voting.

Housewives asked for a party ballot because it was their husband's party; others voted in a particular primary only because their parents had, or it was a "family tradition." Some voters admitted they voted Republican or Democratic because of community or neighborhood pressure.

CAMERON

Several voters stood in line waiting their turn and asked: "Who's running?" "What offices do we vote for?" Who shall I vote for?"

THESE PEOPLE had no business exercising their right to vote because they had not exercised their responsibility to vote intelligently.

The actual casting of the ballot is secondary in importance to gaining the knowledge and background necessary to cast an informed vote. There are too few intelligent ballots being cast.

This does not mean I think everyone should vote my way or agree with my political views. But if you don't know what you're voting for, and why, then it's not only pointless but dangerous to vote at all.

IN CASTING ballots because of their spouse's politics, family tradition, habit, or social pressure, citizens are abusing their privilege to vote.

Many younger citizens were better prepared to vote in Tuesday's election than some of the older generation. This is the result of our changing times.

For example, the 21-year-old voter today is better equipped to exercise his right to vote than his counterpart 10 or 20 years ago. He is infinitely better informed on current events. Education is doing a better job of preparing us for the responsibilities of citizenship, and our news media are doing a far superior job of informing us as their concept of news reporting changes and matures.

Younger voters are particularly worried about the kind of world they find themselves living in. Like most younger generations, they are dissatisfied with the job their elders have done—and they are impatient for change.

But this impatience is not expressing itself in radical political movements or irresponsible extremism. Young voters are better prepared to evaluate both needs and responses and keep them in balanced perspective.

WE HAVE lived in times of crisis before, but such times have not been as severe or as personal. Techniques of warfare are more awesome; the threat of world destruction is more ominous; the globe is more compact with jets, missiles, and rockets making us all next-door neighbors with a common stake in survival.

This stake is high; much depends upon us as citizens. Inevitably, this brings me back to the ballot box and my thoughts on Election Day.

It is imperative that we take seriously the responsibility and obligation of citizenship. I think my generation is making the attempt, and I hope others will benefit from the examples being set by young voters.

Only Another Chapter?

'Vipers' Revisited

by DICK HOFFMANN

Associate Editor

"Oh, Generation of Vipers. How can ye being evil speak good things. For out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh."

— Jesus Christ, Matthew 12:34

What is intelligence without compassion, reason without feeling, logic without love? It is the meaningless prattle of hollow men, you generation of vipers.

Where are the prophets who will stare unblinkingly at sin? They are dead; they were slain by moral relativism.

Philip Wylie's rage must not be banked; it must be fueled to consume a more inclusive category: it must be directed now at man, this weak-eyed, weak-backed ruler of the universe.

THIS fragile, upright creature—this worshipper of intelligence—is in danger of having his deity destroy him. He differentiates himself from the other inhabitants of the earth by virtue of his capacity to think. He struts about and says, "See, I am god-like." But what immortal hand or eye has framed his fearful symmetry?

The issue is environmental. Philip Wylie wrote of this question. But his vituperation was limited to dear old Mom and the spongy sons and flinty daughters she hatched in her nest. He described her in such a manner that you could almost hear the beating of her huge wings as she hugged her fledglings in the smothering embrace of love.

Now the environment has been radically altered by man. Like the great reptiles which could not adapt to a sudden environmental shift, man stumbles along, perhaps to extinction.

THE MATTER is also acceptance of reality. Wylie pointed to the Puritanical blinders which shut out the discoveries of subterranean Freudian psychology. Now reality is the ancient prophesy of Judgment Day, an earth devoured by fire.

Few accept the fact of environmental change or its challenge. The challenge is not whether man will prevail or even endure. It is whether he will exist. Intelligence has not curbed instinct. Instinct craves conquest — from the boudoir to the battlefield. Peace is for old people and babies, something to contemplate in the crib or the rocking chair. The opposite of peace is war; it is exciting; it alters the dull routine, disrupts the habitual grind.

What is the mind without the heart? These bright, condescending and brutal men in Washington, Moscow and other capitals of the world do not know. Does the State Department official feel only a sense of satisfaction as he cuts into rare roast beef at an exclusive Capitol club, happy that the embargo is hurting the bearded psychotic but also deprived a Cuban cane cutter's baby of milk? Are the butchers of Budapest content now with their arms system, while the Strontium 90 they have released enters the growing bones of children?

WHERE WAS the State Department's moral outrage when Batista was having people's fingernails extracted with pliers? What happened to the Soviet Caesars' basic sense of survival and community when they fouled the atmosphere all must share?

The most hostile force in the world today is not Communism or Capitalism or any other "ism." It is man, this creature who has been left retarded by technology.

There is something significant over the enthusiasm expressed in the halls of Congress for the neutron bomb. It doesn't destroy that sacred artifact, property. The grocery store and stock exchange are left standing; the neutron bomb only kills people. How delightfully discriminating.

AH, BUT man possesses moral indignation. He registers alarm over bull fights and boxing, he is concerned over mental retardation and cancer. Will your moral indignation be heard when we harvest our first crop of mutations, given birth by this radioactive obscenity?

What is this household god of yours—this intelligence—you generation of vipers, if you do not have in your heart what the old doctor in the jungle calls "Reverence for life?"

Are you worth saving? Or is this merely another stage of development which nature has tried, like the dinosaur, and which it will discard? Is this only another chapter in the Darwinian book of life on natural selection, unfolding on an obscure, minute planet? Is this the chapter where the viper's hiss will echo into oblivion and the insects—with their armor against radioactivity—shall inherit the earth?

Change in Signs

A change in no-passing zone signs along Illinois highways is being made by the Division of Highways, W. J. Payes Jr., director of the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings, has announced.

The old signs at the beginning of the zones read "No-Passing Zone" whereas the new signs read "Do Not Pass." At the end of the zones, the old signs read "End No-Passing Zone" where the new signs read "Pass With Care."

Payes said the change will involve the replacement of an estimated 10,000 signs throughout the state. (FP

Disturbed Communicators

Problems in Mass Media

by MARTIN E. MARTY

Joseph T. Klapper's "The Effects of Mass Communication" (Free Press, $5.00) is now a year and a half old, but I am sure it is still available. It should be read by everyone who wants to enter the debates (and who doesn't?) about TV sex and violence, radio, the quality of newspapers and magazines, the presence of "Tropic of Cancer" on the newsstands.

MARTY

We all want to be experts in the field that seems obvious to us, but which is an extremely complex one. Mr. Klapper serves by gathering, comparing, presenting in summary hundreds of studies which have been made to date of mass media.

THE communicators would probably be disturbed to see how little direct impact one form of bombardment will have on a person. The critics would be surprised to see how wide they are of the mark when they suggest the dangers of direct impact. The many studies made show a far too diffuse and cloudy signal for easy generalization. After reading the book, I will list a few consequences or summaries that might serve to qualify some of the uninformed discussion we often carry on.

First, Klapper's book shows how durable and defensible the human is; he is likely to survive the bombardment and saturation attack of the mass media — and that takes no small doing. That is, every great technical change in society is first seen as opportunity but then as a threat to all existing values. Yet, man survives another round. Second, mass media only in rare instances provide a person with a root experience. Young people form political attitudes in the light of their parents', their teachers', their environments more than because of the one-night projection of the image of their candidate. So, personal experiences also are more dramatic than the synthetics of mass media such as TV. TV violence does less to disrupt and distort a young person's life than will his parents' marital tensions, his own confused pictures of God.

THE PROBLEMS of mass media come in at a different point. They are so available, ordinarily so barren, that they consume large chunks of our time. They are treated casually, and we waste bits and pieces of our emotional treasury on them. This may result in a trivialization of life. We have been "talked to death." Competing signals confuse us. This is a great complication to the educator, who must bring in a decisive word. This complicates life for the politician who would like to deal with issues. It makes life difficult for the minister or teacher who tries to separate the religious impulse from the wasted fantasies surrounding it in the modern world.

We may take comfort from that fact that mass media usually do not change opinion so much as they reinforce it. We may be worried silly when we see how weak and confused many of our societal values are before they get reinforced, stuck on dead center, by the constant bombardment of television, radio, motion pictures, and the printed page. Still, man will survive. Or at least, he just might.

'Fence Post' Critic Unfair

For many years I have diligently read the letters that appear in the Fence Post. For the most part, I have found them to be fair, informative, and written in the best interests of the people.

However, in the March 29 edition I noted a letter from a resident of Palatine, entitled "Voter Resents Bradshaw Bid," which I did not consider to be fair or in keeping with the facts as they occurred. I do not know whether it is the unfairness or the inaccuracy which has promoted this responce, but I suspect it is a little of both.

ON SATURDAY, March 17, a public meeting of the voters of Palatine Township was held in the Village Hall of Palatine. All of the electorate of the Township were invited by public notice to attend. The purpose was to vote upon the transfer of a $30,000.00 surplus in the Township General Fund to the General Assistance Fund.

The proponents of the transfer argued that it was necessary in order to have funds available for estimated future welfare payments. Approximately 75 citizens were present, which is one of the largest turnouts in my memory, which I believe indicates that the matter was close to the hearts of the people of Palatine Township.

One of those present was David E. Bradshaw, a resident of Palatine and a well-known and distinguished lawyer. He also is the Democratic candidate from this district for the Illinois State Senate in the November election. The author of the letter I have above referred to indicated that he thought Mr. Bradshaw was there as a Republican and did not wish the fact that he voted in support of Mr. Bradshaw's arguments to be construed as an endorsement of Mr. Bradshaw's candidacy.

I FOR ONE was extremely grateful to have David Bradshaw present and I am not convinced that the outcome would have been the same if he was not there. It was the first opportunity I have had to hear him speak and I found him not only completely versed on the matter at hand, but an articulate speaker.

The only thing anyone present had to do to be heard was raise his hand, yet after Mr. Bradshaw made a few preliminary remarks, all present seemed to be happy to have him debate the issues involved. I cannot think of one remark he made that he did not support by available Township figures or the Illinois law.

He maintained that in April of 1961, the General Assistance Fund had about a $53,000 balance and that in 10 months only $16,000 had been spent leaving a balance of about $37,000; that monthly payments were on the decrease; and that on past experience the balance was enough to take care of almost two years requirements. He suggested that the money be transferred into the Road and Bridge fund, for which a tax has been levied in the past, which would reduce our taxes. He further suggested that the money could be given to the grade school districts because the township had not made a general tax levy for three years. This also would result in a reduction in taxes.

I WAS thankful for his remarks but I was more grateful to know that this district apparently has a candidate for public office who is aware of the grass root local issues and is willing to stand up and be counted. It seems to me that this is the duty and responsibility of a candidate who aspires for public office and apparently Mr. Bradshaw is that type of candidate. It is obvious that he is versed on those matters which directly affect people of this area and is willing to speak out.

If he was at this meeting to further his candidacy he certainly did a poor job. I did not hear him refer to it once during or after the meeting. Incidentally, the vote was about 73 to 2 in support of his arguments and if he can do that well for us in the legislature it sounds pretty good to me.

Cites Candidate Qualifications

I once heard an old saying that went something like this: "As I sat there sad and lonely, without a friend in the World, a voice came to me out of the gloom — cheer up — —it said — things could be worse. So I cheered up — and sure enough — things got worse."

This play of words on an old saying is good for a chuckle from most people. Myself included. Actually, however, the above saying is not one bit funny when you consider that this is exactly what a lot of people do concerning a great many elective offices. Offices of great importance to everyone of us.

A great many people complain about how various public officials carry out their respective duties, however, the majority of our citizens do nothing about it. They do not exercise their right to vote—"and sure enough —things got worse."

I DO NOT aim this saying at any particular person. I aim it at those that do not exercise their right to vote. I do not mean it for you (the person reading this letter) for if you find the time to read letters to the Editor I am sure you are also the type of person that does not allow an election to pass without your voicing your opinion.

This letter is directed to those individuals that do not participate in elections. And the only way for this message to reach these people is for you to tell as many people as possible to read this letter, tell others about it and get out and vote in the coming election. I refer specifically to the coming School Board Elections. I would like to pin point the School Board Elections at this time because there is not the publicity connected with these elections as there is with other elections.

Inasmuch as you will be telling other people about voting April 14 I would appreciate it if you would also tell them to vote for Gene Sackett for High School District No. 214.

MR. SACKET has high ideals and will, I am sure, make a very good representative for our entire High School District.

In order to qualify Mr. Sackett a little bit for you I would like to say that Mr. Sackett believes in that old proverb: "If at first you don't succeed — give up." Now Mr. Sackett does not believe in literaliy giving up what he was striving to do but believes in giving up more of himself. Giving more of his time to help the field (education) that he is so vitally interested in.

This is certainly a commendable attitude, I feel, for a person that has lived in this area for only two years.

I believe what Mr. Sackett has done in these couple of years is indicitive of what he can do (and will if elected) for our High School District. In the short time Mr. Sackett lived in Wheeling he has become our Park District Director and has become an outstanding salesman for Wheeling's contemplated swimming pool. This would certainly seem to bear out the fact that Mr. Sackett is vitally interested in our Youth.

SOME MAY say that Mr. Sackett has not lived in this area long enough to have the feeling of our communities. This, I do not believe, would be doing a man of intelligence justice. I am sure Mr. Sackett is well aware of the various facets and districts of High School District No. 214. I believe an individual, such as Mr. Sackett, that has not been in an area for many years can help our High School District a great deal more than an individual that has lived here for many years. I feel that by being fairly fresh in a community Mr. Sackett will have fresh ideas and will not have become embroiled in a great many other organizations and operations that may tend to dull ones sense of perspective.

Possibly the one disadvantage to being fairly new in the area is that Mr. Sackett is very little known throughout the District.

He has not had the opportunity of becoming involved with many organizations or having his name associated with the High School Board.

ALTHOUGH Mr. Sackett has appeared before the High School Board (in defense of Wheeling's good name) and is a member of the High School Citizens Lay Committee he is virtually an unknown. Hence, Mr. Sackett has an up-hill fight in order to be elected to the High School Board.

Therefore, the purpose of this letter is to help "get out the vote" April 14 and to acquaint as many people as possible with Mr. Sackett. A gentleman, I feel, will do an outstanding job of representing the electors on the High School Board.

Young People 'Good Bunch'

Last night I had one of the most pleasant experiences of my life. A group of teen-agers proved what I have always felt —they are a pretty good bunch of young people.

After the variety show the cast, crew, and their dates were invited to our home for a party. I don't know how many came, but it was between 120 and 150.

EVERYONE seemed to have a good time in spite of the crowded conditions and all of them were so well-mannered that it was a pleasure to have them. They consumed pecks of popcorn, pretzels and potato chips and drank hundreds of bottles of pop. Not one bottle was broken and not one bit of damage was done. They just danced, laughed, sang and talked and enjoyed themselves. As they left, they thanked us again and again—and in spite of the really big crowd—I'm sure none of our neighbors were the least bit disturbed.

Thanks to the faculty at Prospect High School, especially Mr. Lindemann. You are doing a fine job with our youth. I, for one, am a grateful parent.

The Fence Post — Letters to the Editor

Ex-Township Tax Collector Clarifies Expense of Office

Having read your newspaper account of the 1962 Annual Township Meeting I should like to clarify a statement which would tend to reflect adversely on the efficiency and economy of the office of Wheeling Town Collector during my tenure.

Firstly, my daughter, Marjorie Annen Carter, whose term of office began Jan. 1, 1962 stated at the meeting that she received the sum of $4,000 salary as my Deputy for the year 1961. Your report states that this sum was paid to "her sister." Actually "her sister" was paid $1250.00 salary for three months of long hours (including Saturdays and Sundays) the equivalent of $2.50 per hour. I believe you, or your newspaper representatives, or any of the hundreds of people who have had the occasion to visit the tax office, or my home, will attest to the fact that because of the limited time that our local residents have to pay their taxes, it is mandatory that the collector's facilities be made available to them for as long a period each day as is necessary.

IT WAS my good fortune while holding office to have the assistance of my family in the execution of my duties, a period that saw the annual tax collections increase from $125,000 to in excess of six million dollar annual collection spread over 33,000 separate parcels of real estate and personal property. Only because I was able to utilize the experience of my personnel from year to year was I able to provide the service that the taxpayer is entitled to at a reasonable cost.

I understand that at the meeting it was stated that the cost of tax collections was 10 per cent of the excess commissions received by the Township. Don't you think a more revealing statement would be the percentage of the cost of collection to the total dollars collected? This, as you know, is only a very, very small part of one cent per dollar collected.

WE HAVE on the Township Board Representatives of the highest integrity. They are conconstantly aware of their duties and responsibilities. They will, as in the past, only approve expenditures of township funds (costs of tax collections included) after careful study and deliberation. All records relating to township expenditures are available to our residents at the Township Hall.

You, I know, have the greatest confidence in the decisions of a fully informed Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Public. Only the misinformed, or uninformed can err in judgement.

Vital Issues Face Community

This letter is in regards to the rezoning of land along Hintz Road for industrial use and the P.H.I.A. which originally was formed to represent the unincorporated town of Prospect Heights. There was one meeting held last month at the Wheeling Village Hall where this topic was discussed between the residents of Wheeling and Prospect Heights and the Wheeling Plan Commission. Notification of this meeting was printed on the Thursday previous to it in the Prospect Heights Herald. The only residents from our town that turned out were from Drake's subdivision. There was no speaker from the P.H.I.A. Another meeting was scheduled for March 28 in which the Plan Commission again would be present to take a vote on the industrial zoning issue.

My husband contacted the northeast representative of the P.H.I.A. to tell her about the 28th date and ask that some one from the P.H.I.A. be present to represent our town and back the few of us that have been trying to fight it by ourselves.

THE 28th CAME, the meeting was held, the residents of Drake's section were present again but the P.H.I.A. didn't have time to come out for such a trivial matter. As a result, the land has been rezoned to industrial use and the northern boundry of Prospect Heights will be lined with factories.

Not long ago the problem of a hamburger drive-in and a gasoline station arose. The P.H.I.A. fought it with full strength. There were meetings, newspaper articles and much squawk but they managed to hold it back. Before that, there was the matter about the erection of electrical towers through our scenic town. For this matter, the P.H.I.A. raised hundreds of dollars to hire lawyers to fight it. Within the past couple of weeks the northeast representative (that I previously mentioned) had time to come out to the Drake subdivision to take a picture of some junk that our builder has standing on a vacant piece of property. This, I presume, is more important than the factories that will be built not more than a block or two from this lot.

Where is our representation when we need it? The only time the P.H.I.A. knows we're around is when a vote comes up about some subject that concerns some one of them.

THIS LINE-UP of factories along our border line will affect more people than just the residents on the north side of town. The people of Prospect Heights want this to be a beautiful town. How do you expect to build and sell high priced homes across from or close to factories? What kind of people will move in or build homes in surrounding areas so that they may find work at one of these factories? What will their homes be like? How will truck traffic carrying materials to and from these factories affect the new high school that they want to build on Hintz Rd. and Elmhurst? What about smoke and soot — Ekco-Alcoa claims to be a clean operating factory and yet there are times when black smoke just bellows out from there. These are only a few of the things that the P.H.I.A. can now work on because no one had time for the meetings before this rezoning was voted in.

Whether a person is a member of the P.H.I.A. or not should not be the issue when the fate of our town is concerned. Remember — it doesn't take a P.H.I.A. member to vote or fight against many of the problems that arise in keeping this a clean and healthy town for all concerned. I asked the P.H.I.A. for help a few years back when we and our next door neighbor were almost drowned out by water that was forced onto us due to a builder's negligence. At that time they did absolutely nothing. That incident, which could have been prevented, cost us hundreds of dollars in loss and rebuilding but than that wasn't as important as the building of a hamburger joint close to some big shot's property.

Homes in Drake's subdivision are valued from $25,000 to $40,000 plus. I wouldn't say those could be classified as shacks, would you? But what will the resale value drop to when factories go up only blocks from our homes?

Time to Protest Taxes: Reader

As a reader of the Mount Prospect Herald, what does your paper mention about real estate tax increases? I talked to a lot of people and they are getting disgusted. I am, myself.

I moved to my present address about seven years ago. Three years ago my real estate taxes were around $300. My 1961 real estate taxes are $490. Some people got close to $100 increase in real estate taxes.

I BELIEVE these people who are guilty of raising our taxes every year, at the rate they are going, ought to watch for the red light. I tell everyone I get in contact with. There's going to be a hot time in the old town tonight.

I am going back to my boyhood days. I am 74 years of age and getting fighting mad and feel 40 years young. I tell my wife I haven't raised any money trees on my property.

You will see a big political change, and it's coming fast. Don't keep fooling the American People too long. You can't squeeze blood out of a turnip, Mr. Politician.

Pledges Broader School Program

With the forthcoming school elections that are of a vital nature to the voters of High School District 214, I would like to take this opportunity to express several definite ideas that I have and have not been publicly voiced by any of the candidates.

It is my understanding that approximately 40% of the high school graduates of this district are not prepared to enter or do not wish to enter college. This figure is not to be construed as a set back to education but rather an indication that some of our young people are smart enough to realize that all people are not needed for higher education. These youngsters that do not wish to go on to college are the backbone of our labor forces and are therefore entitled to more consideration by local school boards.

THEREFORE I sincerely propose, that if I am elected to the three year post, I will do my utmost to see to it that a larger and more comprehensive program of Diversified Education and Distributive Education are offered. This is only fair to those youngsters who want to be prepared for the business world upon graduation and not have to waste years of earning power while learning a trade or occupation.

There are two other fields of education that I feel should have a greater degree of emphasis, and they are more American History, for a better understanding of our country and what it stands for, and the field of Physical Education. The latter is neglected to too great a degree and is contrary to the wishes of our President.

THESE ARE the things I believe and trust that the voters might feel the same way.

Win, lose or draw I feel that this district has an excellent school board and deserves the most support possible by all those who live within its boundaries.

Top Showing Is Now Available

Last week, quite by accident, I was present at the first showing of a color slide and sound tape presentation made by Mr. Ronald Baptiste, a resident of our Village who, during a business trip to South America recently, made a fruitful stopover at the town of COMAS, in Peru, helping to organize a committee there which is the counterpart of the committee here.

Up to now my interest in the Arlington Heights sister suburb via a friendship program was mild and polite. After this vivid pictorial and dramatic eyewitness account, I was deeply stirred with sympathy for the people who live here. What I viewed would have been truly unbelievable through mere reading about it.

MY PURPOSE in writing is to make known to the Program Chairmen and Group Leaders of various organizations in our community, that a worthwhile audio visual presentation is available. The showing lasts one-half hour.

It can be obtained by appointment from Mr. Ronald Baptiste at 305 S. Dunton Ave., in Arlington Heights.

Contraptions Are Dangerous

Have you ever gone shopping with your child only to be pestered out of all your dimes for your child to ride rockets, stage coaches, horses, old time cars and many others? Many times I see children crawling all over these contraptions, which to me serve no purpose whatever.

Last Saturday I saw a small girl fall off a rocket ride, head first, hitting her eye on a corner of the foundation for a stage coach ride. This girl was bleeding badly and I only hope she hasn't lost her eye. How many other children have been hurt on these stupid rides?

THESE RIDES are located on curbs where the child can fall off into the street or they are blocking the entrance or exits of the stores. If some of the women don't let the child on, the child cries and the result of that is other women look upon the sensible woman as being mean to her child. I know, it has happened to me.

Three-fourths of these machines are out of operation and yet they continue to take up space in stores and on sidewalks.

I would rather spend $10 for my child to ride the merry-go-round than spend 10 cents to see my child get hurt.

SPRING IS here and Summer is on its way, so why not send these iron contraptions to the junk man and set up ice cream and cold drink stands? I'm sure small children couldn't trip over a cone and lose an eye. Besides, a cone would last much longer than a few jerks up and down on some broken down, paint peeling machine.

God has only loaned these children to us, and it is up to us to take care of them or he will take them away from us.

Funeral Home Has Ambulance

The excellent article on funerals and funeral costs in last week's issue of the Paddock Publications contained one rather serious error which I hope you will help us to correct.

The article stated that the Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home has discontinued its ambulance service. This is not the case.

AS THE ARTICLE rightly pointed out, ambulance service for funeral homes, is a financial liability, but ever since Walter Oehler took over our firm in 1917, we have considered it as a service to the community that we have every intention of continuing to render.

Actually, our two Cadillac ambulances are the only ones in this area that are equipped and devoted exclusively to ambulance purposes.

Will you kindly see that these facts are brought properly to the attention of your many readers.

Time For A Change

Many struggle along without the power to live the kind of life they want to. If you long for a change from your old life, why not come to God? If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new. II Corinthians 5.17

These Lonely Rooms

A Report on the Aged of Illinois

They sit in lonely rooms, the aged, like broken furniture in an attic no one visits. This is the story of the final years, when memory is pain, regret, and old desire, and when the ghosts of half-remembered faces and ancient loves enter these lonely rooms . . .

by Charles E. Hayes • Photographs by Larry Cameron

(First in a Series. Copyright 1962 by Charles E. Hayes and Larry Cameron.)

I toured the state looking for the aged cast aside by younger generations.

I poked into worked-out mining communities, into farming hamlets, into the big cities and suburbs of Illinois.

And I found them, armies of them, stuffed into crowded nursing homes, packed into hospitals, jammed into mental institutions, isolated and forgotten in rooming houses and ramshackle dwellings.

Photographer Larry Cameron and I were in a fire trap near Rockford. Originally constructed in 1883 as a county poor farm, it was converted five years ago into a nursing home for 203 aged patients. The ancient structure was honeycombed with tiny rooms, narrow hallways, steep stairways, inadequate and dangerous fire escapes. It was loaded with elderly or paralyzed patients who couldn't escape if fire should break out.

In one six-bed ward, a 77-year-old widow sat on the edge of her cot and looked out the window at the barnyard, barely visible through the light rain, 400 yards away. A nurse told us the woman, a Mrs. Murphy, had suffered a series of small strokes over the past two years.

"Death takes little bites of me," Mrs. Murphy said. "I've no home, no family. I know no one any more. I am alone."

Mrs. Murphy is one of more than a million persons over 65 in Illinois, only half of whom receive Social Security benefits. And she is one of 75 per cent of the aged, classified as needy, who receive no such federal grant.

There are a lot of Mrs. Murphys. Nearly one out of every 10 persons in the state has reached 65 years of age. And there are more to come — many more.

"The aged problem has come upon us without our realizing it," reports Gov. Otto Kerner. "But the 1960 Census woke us up to the population explosion among the elderly."

I found many homes and institutions for the aged to be drab, desolate boneyards where the old are dumped to wait for death. Even these places are cho[illegible] with elderly, stuffed away by [illegible]eir adult offspring grown weary of the burden of ailing and aged parents.

In the state mental hospital at Elgin, we found a white-haired patient shunted aside by a daughter who won't bother with her anymore. The elderly woman smiled at the doctor: "Do you think we'll ever go home?"

She is one of 12,000 aged inmates of the state's 13 mental institutions. Most of them are there simply because they are old, alone, helpless, and have no place else to go.

The aged present a problem for their children who, in trying to care for them, find themselves devoting a great deal of time and money to the aged.

Adequate care for one elderly person will cost $40 to $50 a week — a major slice out of the budget of a man whose take-home pay is $110. Despaired the young son from Wheeling: "My mother's nursing home bills take every penny I have."

A 70-year-old widow is living with her married daughter in Arlington Heights. "I feel that I'm a burden on my son-in-law, but what can I do? I have nowhere to go. What is my place?"

She has applied for admission to a home for the aged. She will wait at least three years for a vacancy.

A frail old lady rocked in her room at a Belleville boarding house. Since her husband's death last fall, she hasn't set foot outside the house.

She asked me: "It's all just a bad dream, isn't it?"

I discovered that most elderly citizens, like Edith M, 76, of Oak Park, have no sense of security. She is one of 20,000 old people in Cook County who lives in an institution or nursing home. She sat beside the window of her bare room, her courage gone. Gnarled, palsied hands lay useless in her lap.

She asked, "What's the use of living? I'm of no use. I'm old. Life is behind me."

I drove through the towns of Illinois and was struck by the illness of loneliness, despair. I saw our aged visited by weakness, depression, rejection.

In Scott County, a 95-year-old retired farmer confessed, "I get so lonesome sometimes I could fly."

An ex-coal miner, 80, was in a cell-like room in a private nursing home in St. Clair County. He was dressed in grey smock and wrinkled trousers. He stared hopelessly at a vacant wall.

I asked him, "Are you happy here?"

Tears filled his eyes. He didn't answer.

"He never speaks," said the practical nurse. "He just sits and whimpers like a puppy."

Poverty is commonplace for the aged of Illinois; 60 per cent of the aged have less than $1,000 a year income.

Miss S, 83, is alone and destitute in her shabby two-room frame house. The house is sparsely furnished . . . she has sold most of her belongings in order to live. Her income is a small old age assistance check from the state.

She put a wrinkled hand to her lined face and wiped away a tear as she said in a soft voice: "I'm what they call a pauper, and that's what makes it so bad."

I found the constant dread of chronic illness and the fear of medical expenses gnawing at the aged.

A 69-year-old woman in the hamlet of Naples is a cardiac patient. She supplements her monthly Social Security check of $37.50 by selling hybrid fishing worms and weaving rugs.

"I'd be on public aid if it weren't for my weaving," she explained. "I don't want to go on aid."

She may be forced to, however, because of her medical expenses; hospital and drug bills are overwhelming her. "It just keeps me a-workin' for my condition. I have to find some work, I just have to."

I found that inadequate income and employment rivals poor health as the major dreads of old age.

I talked with an unemployed draftsman, 60, who has been job-hunting for 13 months. "I'd rather do anything than beg, but who wants you when you're my age?" He has nearly exhausted his life savings, is headed for the relief rolls.

By the time a man is 50, he is barred from employment with more than 40 per cent of Illinois firms. More than 300,000 men and women over 65 are unemployed in metropolitan Chicago. Fifteen per cent of these men and half of the women have no personal income whatsoever.

I saw that unemployment is literally starving older residents into a corner of despair.

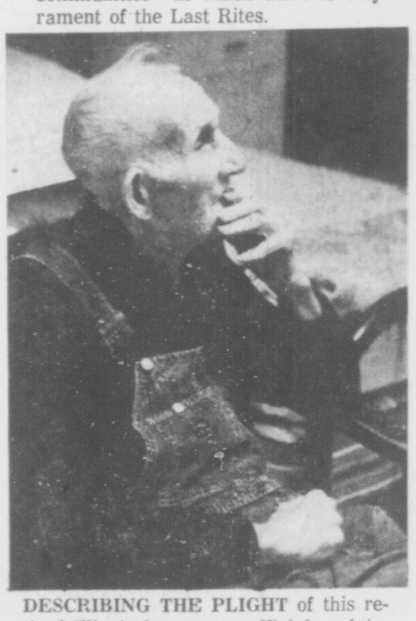
"The study of aging is the study of time and its toll," declares Dr. Theodore G. Klumpp, an expert on aging and president of Winthrop Laboratories. "We are defeated before we begin because nothing can stop time nor deny its ultimate victory. But much can be done to loosen the hold of time upon us. We can expose the subtle ways in which it assails us. We can still win every battle except the last one and in accomplishing this, the final defeat is no defeat at all."

LONELINESS IS the saddest affliction of age. This Illinois senior citizen, 83, is on the relief rolls. "I think it's terrible to get old. When I was 30 or 40, I cried I worried so about it. I thought, surely I wouldn't get old."

NURSING HOMES and mental hospitals are often "dumping grounds" for the aged of Illinois who end up here simply because they are old, alone, and have nowhere else to go.

ALTHOUGH $500 MILLION will be spent on Illinois' aged this year, the state as a whole is largely unacquainted with the needs of the elderly, many of whom are poor, ill equipped with life's necessities, barred physically and financially from its amenities.

ONE MILLION OLD PEOPLE in Illinois are rapidly being isolated into "separate communities" in which there is only one Sacrament instead of seven — the Sacrament of the Last Rites.



DESCRIBING THE PLIGHT of this retired Illinois farmer, an official explained: "We are prone to permit the older person to have endless idle days during which his senses are dulled with drab monotony until death itself is hardly another step."

SIXTY PER CENT of persons over 65 have yearly incomes of less than $1,000 or no money income at all. This Illinois resident, 69, lives alone on a gross annual income of $890, including $421.50 earned from the sale of 99 rugs weaved on her loom.

CONFINED BY CIRCUMSTANCE to a county home, this aged Illinois citizen finds time hangs heavy on his hands. He has too little to do, too many hours of loneliness, and nowhere to go.
